

Ag Sophomore Baseball Star Signs Pact With Baltimore

Llano's baseball future took a significant beating at 3 a.m. Saturday when the All-Southwest Conference announced that David Johnson inked a professional contract with the Baltimore Orioles of the American League.

Johnson, one of the standouts in the sector of the country as a sophomore this season, signed immediately after the completion of the spring semester.

Earlier in the week the Associated Press reported that the baseball player had signed a "modest bonus." A&M baseball coach Tom Chandler later announced that the salary was $25,000.

During Johnson's first varsity season, he registered a .288 batting average while slugging three home runs, three doubles and 12 singles for 27 total bases. Over the entire year he hit .309.

He also starred in the field and completed the conference slate of games with a .859 fielding average.

The versatile star, while playing exclusively shortstop this past season, can also play second and third base.

Five Schoolboy Track Stars Coming To A&M

Within the past week, five schoolboy track stars, one of them a blue-chipper, have signed preliminary scholarship agreements with A&M's track coach Charlie Westmoreland of Lamesa.

Standout of the five, won the AAA state 880 in 1:54.0 in the forest and 1:52.8 this spring. He paced the Lamesa one-mile team to second place at the meet with a blazing 47.6.

The other four signees include Schworgenschach of Big Spring, Jacobsen of Conroe, Dan Meares of Corpus Christi Carroll, and John Steffek of Brazosport.

Broyles Wants 11 Grid Games

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas advocates an 11-game football season and the schools that will agree with him.

That actually would mean a 12-game season for the teams that will win a lot because they get the bowl spots.

It's nothing new but it has been some time since there were seasons like that. The NCAA clamped down and set a limit of 10. It is doubtful that the NCAA will heed the request for a return to the 11-game situation because it is concerned with charges of overemphasis. That was the reason the season was limited in the first place.

However, it would appear that the football coaches have a legitimate request. Football season lasts only 2½ months—11 weeks. There is no reason why a game shouldn't be played every week and there is no need for each school having to take off one week per season.

Baseball extends for 11 weeks and the schools play two or three games every week. Basketball runs 14 weeks and the schools usually play about two games per week. Track gets in 11 weeks with a meet or two every week. Why should they make an exception of football, the sport that provides most of the revenue for operating the athletic departments.

Of course, a school that loses most of its games wouldn't care about adding a game. Say Hardin-

Simmons, which hasn't won one in two years, or Southern Methodist, which is doing well to win two. Adding a game would just mean losing more money.

Back in the thirties there were 12-game seasons in the Southwest Conference. In 1935 Southern Methodist and Texas Christian each played 12 in the regular season. SMU also played in the Rose Bowl and Texas Christian in the Sugar Bowl.

Texas A&M had a 12-game season in 1936. Rice had them in 1930 and 1936. Southern Methodist had four, Texas Christian five, Texas Tech one.

Texas Tech played as many as 11 games until 1954.

Baylor had an 11-game season in 1922 that it lived to regret. Trouble was that one of its games was an affair between the second team and Phillips University.

Baylor had a mixup in its schedule that season, finding that it had two games in a single week, one with Arkansas and the other with Phillips. Arkansas was a conference game and Phillips wouldn't let Baylor out of the contract so both had to be played.

Ted Lyons, who was noted for his baseball (he went from the campus to the big leagues) was put in charge of the second team and told to play Phillips. The Baylor first team beat Arkansas 61-13 but Lyons' team wasn't as fortunate—it took a 47-0 drubbing.

June Bride

In a moment, the organist will strike a chord. There will be a sudden hush in the church, then the strains of the wedding march will peal forth and she will take her father's arm and start up the aisle, her measured steps symbolic of the very real hesitation she will be feeling.

She would not be human if she did not hesitate. These steps she is about to take are the most important steps of her life. She is poised on the threshold of another existence in which the pronoun she uses will be "We" and not "I." Soon she will learn to think of another before she thinks of herself. Presently, she will come to know fully the meaning of the word "share."

As she moves forward, she falters for just a second. Then her step becomes sure, her lips curve in a smile. The church through which she walks is dear and beloved to her—and so is the man who stands waiting for her beside the altar. Her marriage, blessed by faith, is beginning where all marriages should begin—in the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
