The College Station Post Office at the North Gate reopened Wednesday after being closed over a year for extensive repairs and remodeling.

Postmaster Ernest Gregg said employes would be busy the next few days with moving details and no formal opening would be staged.

The new post office's opening came simultaneously with the closing of the temporary headquarters at 311 Church Street.

Remodeling included extensive enlarging, complete remodeling of the inside and many outside repairs.

200 Freshmen Get College Life Hints At Annual Camp

More than 200 members of the freshman class attended the ninth annual Freshman Camp, sponsored by the YMCA this past weekend on the Lakeview Assembly grounds near Palestine.

Freshmen are selected for the camp on the basis of high school records, J. Gordon Gay, executive secretary of the YMCA said. The camp is planned to help the entering freshman make the transition to college life.

Upperclassmen, college officials, faculty and staff, as well as many people outside the system, helped make the camp "another success," Gay reported.

Leadership for the camp was classified by Gay as excellent and an important factor in the success of the camp.

Upperclassmen, college officials, faculty and staff, as well as many people outside the system, helped make the camp "another success," Gay reported.

Gay cited as the outstanding phase of the camp the enthusiastic participation in the entire camp by all present and their genuine interest as displayed in the discussion groups.

Leadership for the camp was classified by Gay as excellent and an important factor in the success of the camp.

New Programs Announced In History, Government

Details of an expanded program and the appointment of six new staff members to the Department of History and Government have been announced by Dr. J. M. Nance, head of the department.

Three new faculty positions have been created in order to take care of the expanded teaching load. There are more than 150 majors in history, plus more than 20 students who have a teaching major in the subject.

The program in government has more than doubled in the last four years, and this semester, for the first time, the department will have five faculty members whose professional field of study is government. Three of these men have their doctorate in government and the others are working toward the Ph.D. degree in political science at the University of California, Berkeley.

The new courses are the History of Europe, from the fall of Napoleon to the end of World War I; History of South America, Introduction to Public Administration, Public Personnel Administration, Local Government in the United States, International Politics and International and Regional Organization.

Joining the staff to teach American history is Dr. A. Ray Stephens, a native of Vernon. He completed his B.A. (1954) and M.A. (1957) degrees at the University of Oklahoma and in June received the Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Texas. Stephens held a graduate fellowship and then served as teaching assistant while at the university in Austin. He is the author of an article in the Southwestern Historical Quarterly and has had an article accepted by the Texas Folklore Society.

Also joining the staff is another Texas historian, Dr. Odie B. Faulk, B.S. in education (1958), M.A. (1960), and Ph.D. (1962) in Latin American history from Texas Tech. Faulk has taught in the Lubbock public schools and as a teaching fellow at Texas Tech.

Faulk has several book reviews and translations to his credit, two of his articles have been accepted for publication and a lengthy biography entitled "Major General Tom Green of Texas" has been prepared for publication in the San Angelo Standard Times.

Joseph T. MacPherson, B.S. George Peabody College, 1950, and M.A., Vanderbilt University, 1958, is another new instructor. He is nearing completion of the doctorate at Vanderbilt and his major field is American history. He has held a fellowship at Vanderbilt, served as a U. S. Education Foundation teacher in Tel Aviv, Israel,

State-Wide Food Show Set Sept. 22

The second annual state-wide 4-H Favorite Food Show will be held here Sept. 22. It will attract 48 state finalists, all top winners in district elimination contests held recently in the 12 districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Contestants will set up their favorite food exhibits in the Ballroom of Memorial Student Center. The girls, who will prepare their food entries after reaching here, will exhibit in one of the following food groups: milk, meat, fruit and vegetable, or bread and cereal.

Each contestant will include as part of her exhibit a table service for one set correctly for the particular food exhibited, along with appropriate table decorations, according to Maeona Cox, Extension Service foods and nutrition specialist and superintendent for the 4-H awards program.

"There will be a complete day's menu and the recipe of the favorite food. Each 4-H contestant also will explain to the judges how her favorite food was prepared, why it was prepared in that manner, and describe the importance of food and good nutrition," Miss Cox said.

Food show contestants have all kept record books, and the records will count half of the total score, Miss Cox announced. Winners will be named in the four food groups, and the girl with the highest score will receive an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago later this fall. Ribbons will be presented to contestants scoring in the blue, red and white award categories.

Contestants will be honored at a dinner the evening of Sept. 21. Girls taking part in the state finals previously have competed in county and district contests.

To be eligible for the 4-H Favorite Food Show, girls had to be 14 years old before last Jan. 1 but not over 21, and had to be enrolled in a 4-H foods and nutrition subject matter group during the current year. Donors for the show are General Foods Corp. and the Texas 4-H Recognition Committee.

and The Hague, Netherlands in 1960-62 taught at Stevens University College, New York.

The department's new course in the History of Europe, will be taught by Athan Theoharis, a native of Greece. He holds the A.B. (1956) in science and the humanities (1957, in political science and economic history), and the M.A. in modern European history from the University of Chicago, is now pursuing the doctorate at the university. He has received University of Texas scholarships. Besides a knowledge of French, he reads and speaks Greek.

One of the new instructors is Clifton T. son, a native of Frederick, Md. He holds a B.S. (1947) from the University of Wisconsin, M.A. (1954) from the University of California, Berkeley, and is nearing completion of his doctorate. He is the recipient of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation Fellowship (1940), first place winner in the William F. O'Connell Contest (1947) and a fellowship for graduate study for Adult Education in the district.

Clifton has served with the can Press, Beirut, Lebanon, staff of the Houston Chamber of Commerce and as a research assistant at the University of California.

Also joining the staff as instructor is William A. Harrison, a native of Austin and a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin, M.A. in political science from the University of California, Berkeley. He is the recipient of a Foundation Scholarship. He has served as a research analyst for the Research League in Austin.

The new instructors are members of various honor societies and professional organizations.

Conduct Code For Cadets Now Effective

A&M's new Corps Conduct will be off the press a few days and will become effective this semester.

The code will be used in addition to the Aggie Honor and Articles of the Corps and will primarily supplement the Aggie Honor and Articles of the Corps practices and policies for civilians, but is still in a preliminary stage and will be ready for use this semester.

John H. Meyer, '63 from served as chairman of the committee that compiled the code into the new code. The heading committees were: George A. Wiederseiner, Ed Sartain, Blackard, public gathering campus; Bill Duncan, civilian clothes; Burt Terrell, and George Stokes, ing secretary.
