Here's How Lynn Parks Was Chosen Your Sweetheart

Picking a sweetheart for eight thousand Aggies can pose a rather difficult problem as the official Aggie delegation to Texas Woman's University found out this weekend.

Before choosing Miss Lynn Parks, a sophomore from St. Joseph, La., fourteen finalists were officially introduced by student body social activities chairman Lynn Gresham.

A picnic, scheduled in Lowery Woods at noon, had to be called off because of rain, but the event was moved to the basement of the SUB, where the afternoon was spent playing ping pong, shooting pool and dancing.

A dinner was scheduled for the group early Saturday evening, then the girls changed into formals for the dance at 8 p.m. in Rayor Hall. The dance lasted until after midnight, with each girl being required to dance with each member of the delegation so that she could be observed by all.

Three caucuses were held by the Aggies during the course of the weekend so the delegation could exchange opinions about the girls.

Sunday morning the group went to chapel, and a breakfast was held in the Commodore Motor Hotel where the final caucus was held and the winner announced.

The Sweetheart, Miss Parks, is a sophomore household arts and sciences major. Last year she was a Redbud princess, the Texas Make-it-Yourself With-Wool contest winner and dorm social chairman.
