

Rural Ministers Honored

Bud Fichte, left, assistant editor of the Progressive Farmer Magazine, congratulates Texas' outstanding rural ministers of the year during the annual Town and Country Church Conference. Top honors went to the Rev. W. R. Parmer, center, pastor of the San Gabriel Baptist Church in Milam County. Runner-up was W. H. Wieting, right, pastor of the Grapeland Methodist Church in Houston County.

Church Conference Panel Members

These are members of a panel at the Town and Country Church Conference that pointed criticism to homelife and the clergy for juvenile delinquency. Panel members, left to right, were Charles O. Betts, judge of the 98th District Court; Mrs. Maxine Burlingham, superintendent of the Gainesville State School for Girls; Dr. George J. Beto, director of the Texas Department of Corrections; and Clinton Kersey, director of parole for the Texas Youth Council.

Traffic Engineers Reach New Level

Eighteen graduate students are doing advanced study and research in highway design and traffic engineering here this year. "Graduate student participation in the program is at its highest level since it was instituted," Charles J. Keese, director of the Texas Transportation Institute, has announced. Keese, who directs the Highway Design and Traffic Engineering program in the Department of Civil Engineering, said six of the graduate students are studying toward PhD degrees. Twelve more are candidates for masters' degrees. They are selected from a number of top engineering student applicants who want to do advanced study in highway and traffic engineering, he said. The A&M program in this special field of civil engineering was expanded in 1960 to broaden the education of engineers to help solve current and future problems

A&M Convocation Invitations Ready

Invitations and brochures for the Nov. 16 A&M Convocation are now available in the Memorial Student Center, MSC Director J. Wayne Stark announced Thursday. Morning sessions of the event include an open house and speakers in the schools of engineering, agriculture, arts and sciences and veterinary medicine. The afternoon program includes the main convocation, at which James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will be the principal speaker. A Corps of Cadets review at 4 p.m. will end the day's activities. The convocation will honor members of the Century Council, former students and other guests. It will mark the beginning of A&M's 86th year as the oldest state-supported institution of higher education in Texas.

Iron Curtain Travel Grants Available Now

An announcement from the Inter-University Committee on Travel Grants concerning opportunities for long-term study and research in the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Hungary has been received by the Graduate School. Private agreements reached last summer opened the way for the program to begin in September, 1963. Applications from advanced graduate students and scholars in all fields of study will be considered. Persons over 40 are not eligible for study in the Soviet Union. Interested persons may contact Dr. Wayne C. Hall, dean of graduate studies, for details.

Math Club Plans Hensel Steak Fry

The Math Club will sponsor a steak fry at 6 p.m. Tuesday in Hensel Park, according to President Charles Seagraves. Members of the club who need rides to the picnic area can meet in front of the Academic Building at 5:45 p.m. for transportation. Admission will be $1.25 per person. Reservations may be made in the math office of the Academic Building before 8:30 a.m. Monday.

Soil Judging Team Selected For Meet

Members of the soil judging team have been selected for a five-state regional contest next Friday at Mississippi State College. They are James Hoffman, Edinburg; Wallace Menn, Franklin; Bobby Heine, Thorndale; and Jim Alston, Temple. Jim Frank Mills, assistant professor of agronomy and coach of the team, made the announcement Thursday. Other schools competing are Panhandle A&M of Oklahoma, Texas Tech, Oklahoma State University, University of Arkansas, Louisiana Tech, Louisiana State University and Mississippi State College. The top winners at the regional level will be eligible to participate in the national contest at Texas Tech next May.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Almost every frightening step of childhood is marked by a singular emblem of trust. A child's trembling fingers grope upward. A parent's warm grasp is felt. And youth steps forward into new paths, fear melting into confidence.

God must count on parental hands to lead His little ones to Him. For religious training is part of the vast unknown until Mother and Dad begin to lead their child each week to Church.

Yes! God counts heavily on our hands. There is no one else into whose palm our child's fingers slip so readily. No others can teach the early lessons of faith and prayer so simply, nor illustrate them so vividly at home.

Indeed, that loving hand of trust which leads a child to Church seems in turn to be clasped by the hand of God.
