

Looking Back . . . At This Week

Crisis Holds Campus Interest

The sudden U. S. blockade of Communist Cuba held almost undivided interest on campus this week, especially among ROTC students who face near-future military service and the many faculty-staff members in reserve military components.

Near-unanimous backing of President Kennedy's toughened stand was voiced, but concern prevailed all week — especially over the initial encounter of Russian ships and U. S. barricaders. When this roadblock was apparently surpassed, attention turned to the UN Security Council, where efforts are being made to arrange negotiations between Russia and the U. S.

Commission Asks Boost In Tuition

The State Commission on Higher Education agreed Tuesday to seek a 100 per cent increase in tuition fees for all state colleges and universities.

Such an increase would increase tuition from $50 to $100 per semester. The proposal first must be passed by the next session of the state legislature, which convenes in January.

The commission also: 1. Approved $162 million in budgets for the 20 schools — $4 million above what was previously recommended.

2. Raised salaries of all the schools' presidents.

3. Added $800,000 in appropriations for medical schools.

4. Ordered a study to eliminate high school-type courses from college programs.

Senate Opens Sweetheart Study

The Student Senate's student life committee opened a study this week of selection measures used in naming each year's Aggie Sweetheart.

The committee will work specifically on a criteria for the sweetheart and the formation of a student selection committee to name finalists.

Texas Woman's University students will use the new criteria in electing semifinalists.

No changes are planned in the make-up of the final sweetheart selection committee. This student group selects the sweetheart from the finalists.

General disapproval of present methods brought about the present study. TWU students have complained they have no idea what type sweetheart A&M really wants, and Aggies have voiced disapproval because a group of MSC staff members has been selecting the finalists.

Editor,

The Battalion:

Maybe I have my duties as a yell leader all wrong. If I do I stand corrected by "Name Withheld" in the Oct. 24 Battalion. I feel when I can get the 12th Man to yell loud enough so that the opposing team has to ask for quiet, I'm doing my job, and the 12th Man is doing his.

I believe this not to be discourteous to the other team, but an expression of the faith, confidence and loyalty that the 12th Man has in that Fightin' Texas Aggie team.

If our friend, who so conveniently withheld his name, had looked at the yell leaders, he would have seen us give the troops "rest" as the Tech team broke its huddle and seen us maintain this "rest" until the play started.

I quote from the letter: "I became thoroughly disgusted with the 12th Man and the so-called 'yell leaders.'" All I can say to this is that no one asked "Name Withheld" to "sit" in the Aggie section, and if he doesn't want to yell, I'm sure he'll be welcome in the Arkansas section, because come Nov. 3, if I have something to say about it, that 12th Man is going to make that Tech game sound like a church service.
