

Cadet Footballers Face Baylor Bears

Coach Hank Foldberg's Cadet gridders will travel to Waco Saturday to play the Baylor Bears at 8 p.m. before a homecoming crowd. The seven-point underdog Ags will be out to spoil the ceremonies.

Both teams have won but a single game each and the victories were at the expense of hapless Texas Tech. The Farmers edged the Raiders 7-3 three weeks ago and the Bears handled them 28-6 last weekend.

The other common opponent for the two squads was Houston, which managed a 19-0 shutout over the Bears and barely got past A&M, 6-3.

IT LOOKS LIKE the defensive secondary of the Ags will never get any rest—certainly not Saturday. In Baylor quarterback Don Trull, they face the SWC's leading passer. Trull has made good 48 to 88 for 620 yards. He adds 40 more on 40 tries for a 5.4-yard per play average that is second in the league.

Baylor coach John Bridgers was far from satisfied with the team he will field Saturday night. "The Aggies probably offer more problems to our defense than any team we have played this season," he said Tuesday. "They look like a team that has suddenly jelled, begun to learn its offense and is ready to start beating people," he added.

BRIDGERS WAS referring to A&M's showing against the TCU Horned Frogs last weekend. Foldberg's ball control tactics nearly produced an upset and opened more than one eye around the SWC.

Ags Will Miss Jerry Rogers
Junior fullback Jerry Rogers will be out for the rest of the '62 football season. Rogers hurt his right knee in the Houston game and re-injured it last Saturday against TCU. The knee was operated on this week. Although A&M will miss his hard running on offense and his red-dogging linebacker play, the strong fullback corps of Sam Byer, Budgie Ford and Mike Kohlman will still maintain one of the deepest positions on the lineup.

Fish Start Even, End Even, Tie Kittens on Kyle, 14-14

By JIM BUTLER
Battalion Ass't Sports Editor
In a football game that showed more flip-flop ball carrying than flip-flop offense, the A&M Fish and the U. of H. Kittens struggled to a 14-14 tie on Kyle Field Thursday night.

A&M drew first blood late in the first quarter when guard Joe Wellborn recovered a Houston fumble on the Kitten 33.

Eight plays later, halfback Jim Stabler skirted right end for five yards and the touchdown. Bob Lee converted and the Fish led 7-0.

Facing a fourth-and-four on the Aggie 25, Cooper passed to end Mickey Thompson who was hit immediately on the 11. Thompson fumbled and Kitten Allen Cecil covered the ball on the 4.

Following a five-yard offside penalty against Houston, Cooper passed to Thompson in the zone. A high pass from center foiled the conversion attempt and the Fish still led 7-6.

With three minutes left in the first half, Wellborn again got into the act and blocked a Kitten punt on the Houston 28. Center Jerry Crow picked up the loose ball and sprinted 23 yards for the six-pointer.

Lee added the point after and the Fish led at halftime 14-6.

After a halftime break for strategy planning, inspiration or whatever coaches do during this ten minutes, both teams returned to play a completely different brand of football.

The Fish received the kickoff and ran 16 plays, reaching the Kitten 13 before their half quarter ran out.

Houston took over and used the other half of the quarter for 14 plays which moved the ball to the Fish 13.

The music stopped, the ball changed partners, and the Fish took over for 18 plays ending up on the Houston 35.

The Aggies had run 24 plays the half, so the Kittens figured they had 20 plays coming to them. They took 21 plays and the game play made the difference.

Halfback Bill Garrison on right tackle and the goal line 1:34 showing on the clock. Co. passed to end Carl Cummins for two points and the game was over four plays later.
