Campus Chest Drive Looks On Road Toward Success

Another Campus Chest drive was kicked-off Monday and it was encouraging to see three campus organizations immediately reach or pass the campus-wide goal of $1 per student.

We feel sure even more groups have reached their own goals by now, with the bulk of reports still to come later in the week.

Monday the First Brigade and First Battle Group staffs in the Corps of Cadets turned in 100 per cent donations. Then the Civilian Student Council announced that each of its members had donated $1.50.

These amounts, plus money collected from tubs at the two Kyle Field football games, have placed the Chest in good position to reach its $8,000 goal.

And reports have yet to be received from corps units or civilian dormitories. In the past the bulk collections has come from these sources.

Most encouraging to us was the 150 per cent CSC contribution. We hope this shows that the drive will receive more support than ever from civilians. Ever since elections last spring civilian interest in campus activities has been on the increase, and in no other place would a continued upsurge be more pleasantly felt. And without almost unanimous civilian support, the drive has no hope of even nearing its goal. Corps contributions, the main brunt of past drives, shouldn't really be expected to carry over 50 per cent of the final total.

Without a doubt, the drive is off to a good start. But now is not the time to sit back and reflect on its apparent success. Campaign workers will devote almost all their spare time this week on the job—the least each individual student can do is see that his contribution, no matter how small or large, is counted in the final goal. This will assure success.

Editor, The Battalion:
While at Baylor for the game Saturday, we noticed in their school paper, the Baylor Lariat, the usual articles deriding our spirit. Among them was one entitled, "Aggies Are Never Beaten, But They Do Get Outscoored." We would like to quote a few statements from that article that should be of interest to every real Aggie.
"There are lots of guys wanting to go," said fish Larry Martin. "It seems like it will be a very interesting game. I don't know exactly why everyone wants to go—maybe it's because Waco is so close. I don't really know who will win, but if I were talking to an upperclassman, I'd say A&M."

As junior Dwain Bryant said, "There's always the possibility that A&M might lose. Most of the guys are really disgusted with the team and don't think they can do anything. We thought they might beat the University of Houston, but they blew it."
Statements such as these are enough to make a real Aggie fighting mad. We've stuck with our team through three years of good times and bad. They need our support, and we have a duty to make them know that we're behind them all the way.

There are some people attending this college who pay their fees and call themselves Aggies, slander the name of Texas A&M and make a mockery of its traditions. To these people we say, "Highway 6 runs both ways."

Editor, The Battalion:
The Aggie Campus Chest drive has begun this week and it's time for us to start digging down into our pockets for contributions.
I am addressing primarily the civilian students here at A&M, who in the past have been represented by a very unimpressive portion of our school's total contributions. After having talked with the dormitory presidents I know that they, along with their dormitory councils, will give this collection drive their full effort.
Every student will be contacted by a representative from his housing unit. The rest is up to us students. No one can say this isn't a worthy cause we're being asked to contribute to; over two-thirds of the fund remains on our campus for the benefit of us students.
Let's all give a dollar in support of this drive; it's a sound investment. It might prove to help you during a time of need this next year, and it will surely help out some fellow-Aggie.
Keep your eye on the bar graph in the MSC and let's make it grow. After all, what's just "a dollar from an Aggie?"

Civilian Student Council

EAT, SLEEP, AND MATRICULATE

The trouble with early morning classes is that you're too sleepy. At late morning classes you're too hungry. At early afternoon classes you're too logy. At late afternoon classes you're too hungry again. The fact is—and we might as well face it—there is no good time of day to take a class.
What shall we do then? Abandon our colleges to the ivy? I say no! I say America did not become the hope of mankind and the world's largest producer of butterfats and tallow by running away from a fight!
If you're always too hungry or too sleepy for class, then let's hold classes when you're not too hungry or sleepy; namely, when you're eating or sleeping.
Classes while eating are a simple matter. Just have a lecturer lecture while the eaters eat. But watch out for noisy food. I mean you can hear a lecturer lecture when everybody is crunching celery or matzo or like that? Serve quiet stuff—like anchovy paste on a doughnut, or steaming bowls of lamb fat.
And kindly observe silence while lighting your post-prandial Marlboro Cigarette. Don't be striking kitchen matches on your
