Overdue ID Cards Delayed Again; Registrar Says 'One More Week'

New student identification cards have been delayed for about another week due to manufacturing difficulties, according to H. L. Heaton, registrar. Some cards have arrived on campus.

Arrangements have not yet been made as to when and where students can obtain them. This information will not be released until all the cards have been returned from the manufacturer, Heaton said.

The maroon and white cards are embossed with each student's name, identification number and address.

The cards contain a photograph of the student and are similar in appearance to credit cards.

United Chest At 50 Per Cent; Week To Go

By KENT JOHNSON
Battalion Staff Writer
The College Station United Chest campaign Wednesday completed the first week of its two-week drive, collecting over half of the money needed to meet its goal of $17,000.

Campaign workers were "highly" satisfied with the United Chest's progress Wednesday after signs of "lagging interest" were shown earlier in the drive.

"We are now exactly half way through the campaign. It appears that if we can depend on the contributions coming in at this rate, we will meet our goal," said Dr. W. J. Graff, campaign chairman.

Graff, dean of instruction at A&M, reported that 56 percent, or $9,543, had been accounted for by 5 p.m. Wednesday.

SOME $552 in post-dated checks and pledges have been given to United Chest representatives. "We encourage this. Some people want to pay later, but we urge them to participate now," the dean said.

Many groups have reported high percentage donations, but no more than 100 per cent donations have been made. Presently four agencies have made a full effort. They are: Campus Cleaners; Burgess, Cashion & Haddox, Feed and Fertilizer Control Service; and the Office of the Dean of Arts and Sciences. Graff said:

"We wish people would not hold back and wait to make their contributions. We urge them to volunteer their gifts now."

"There is a representative in every department or agency office at A&M and for every business in College Station."

Graff asked everyone who has not been contacted by a drive representative to find one and contribute a day's pay.

"We have contacted all our workers and asked that they give everyone a chance to make a donation."

"It is extremely important that we support this one campaign,"

Graff said, emphasizing that the money raised will support 17 different charities.

If the $17,000 goal is not reached, the separate charities will have to stage individual campaigns throughout the year.

"This is considered unsatisfactory," the chairman said. "I think some people overlook the fact that the sum we are asking for, a day's wage, usually from $15 to $30, will be given to 17 charities so that they will not have to come to our doors asking for donations all through the year."

"After all, the United Chest is everyone's responsibility. Most of us enjoy good health and a high standard of living. We should expect our citizens to help others who are less fortunate."

Squadron I Wins Campus Chest Bronze Plaque

Squadron I was designated winner of the Campus Chest bronze plaque award Wednesday, according to Ken Stanton, chairman of the Student Senate welfare committee.

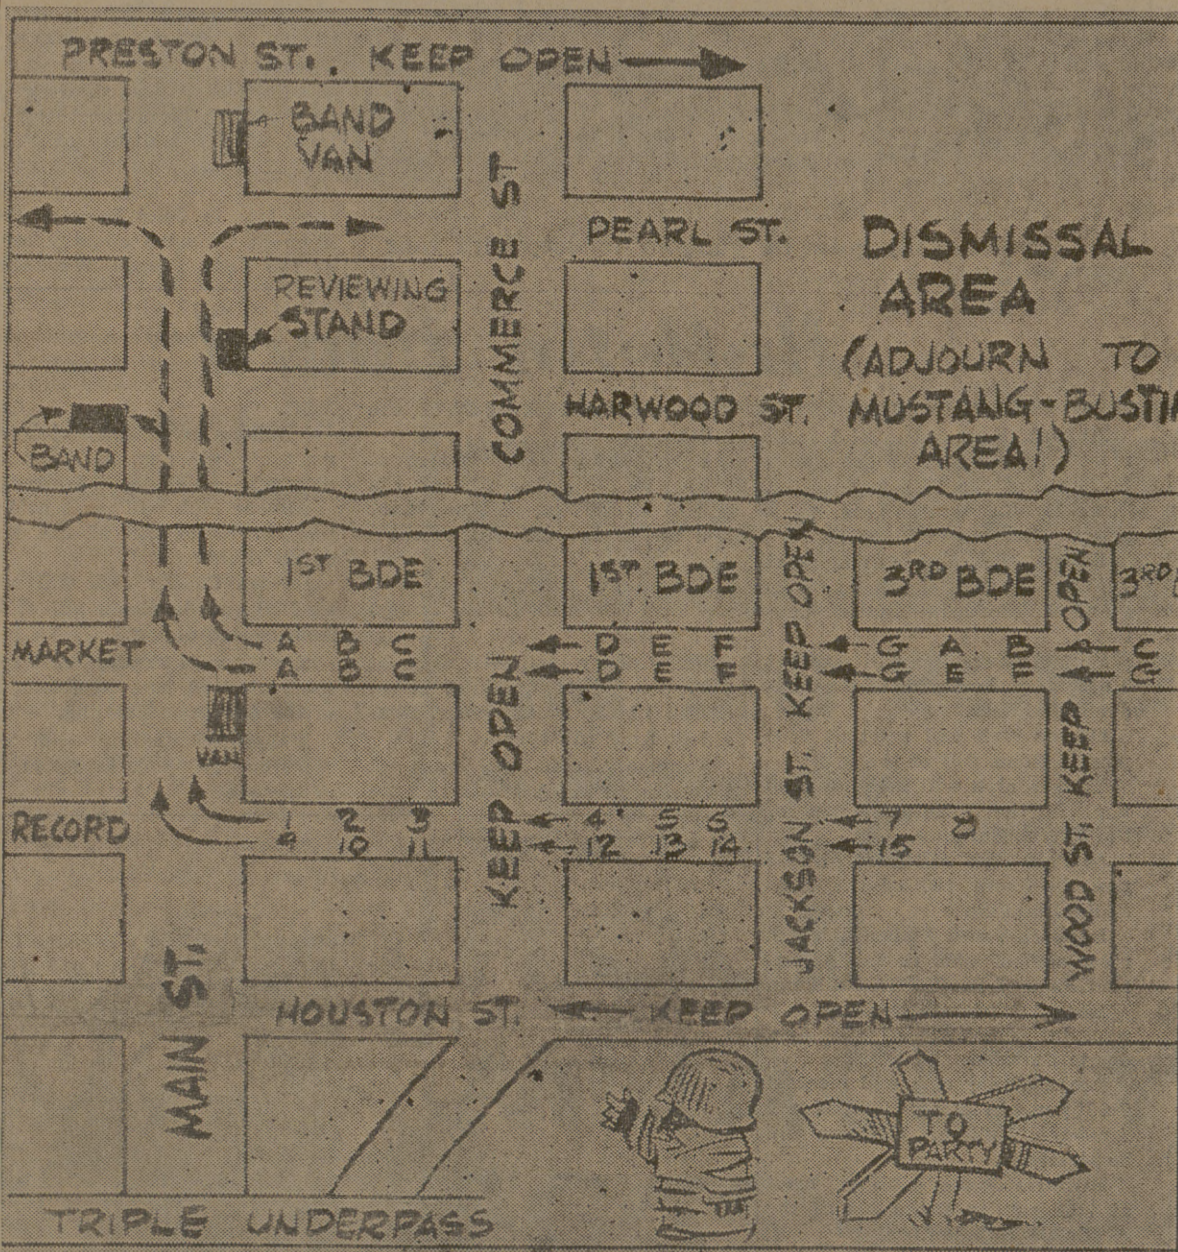

Plans originally called for awarding the plaque to the corps unit or civilian dormitory which contributed the most money per man.

Instead, the award was made to Squadron 1 on the basis that it was the first resident organization to make a 100 per cent contribution to the drive, Stanton said.

Last Friday's deadline has been put off, Stanton added. The drive will be extended as long as donations are continued to be made.

Stanton said he was told that several units still have more money to be turned in. Contributions may be deposited under account Number 160 at the student finance office in the Memorial Student Center.

Ford Foundation Official To Address Convocation

A veteran educator and official of the Ford Foundation will be one of the top speakers at the Century Study Convocation next Friday.

He is Dr. F. Champion Ward, director of the Near East and Africa Program for the Ford Foundation in New York City.

His topic, "New Missions for Americans," will be heard at 10:30 a.m. in G. Rollie White Coliseum during the School of Arts and Sciences portion of the overall convocation program.

The convocation will honor former students and members of the Century Council.

WARD was born in 1910 in New Jersey. He is a graduate of Oberlin College, with a PhD from Yale University where he was a Sterling Fellow in Philosophy.

The speaker taught for 20 years at Denison University and Chicago University. He also served as Dean of the College at Chicago from 1947 to 1954.

Each department of the School of Arts and Sciences will have registration and a reception for former students and special guests at 9 a.m.

Dr. Frank W. R. Hubert, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, said all faculty members, students and guests are invited to attend.

Arrangements committee members for the School of Arts and Sciences program include Dr. Dale Leipper, chairman; Dr. J. J. Sperry, Dr. R. D. Whealy, D. F. Simons, Dr. C. D. Laverty, Dr. C. H. Hall and Dr. John Merrill.

MORNING sessions of the convocation also include open house and speakers in the schools of engineering, agriculture and veterinary medicine.

The afternoon program includes the main convocation at which James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will be the principal speaker.

CSC To Discuss Bonfire Planning, Convocation Work

Bonfire progress and convocation arrangements will be the two main topics of discussion at tonight's Civilian Student Council meeting.

The council will sponsor one or more information booths, probably in the Memorial Student Center, for directing visitors during the convocation, Nov. 16.

Bill Brashears, head yell leader, and Gene Anderson, civilian yell leader, are scheduled to discuss bonfire organization and planning.

A report will be made by Jeff Harp, president of the council, on tentative arrangement for hose-equipped student car wash stations which are to be located at three points on campus.

Tessies Schedule Open House Friday

The first Aggies left campus this afternoon initiating the mass migration to the Fort Worth-Dallas area for a weekend of fun highlighted by the Aggie-SMU grid battle.

This year's first Corps Trip will feature a dance and reception Friday night at Texas Women's University in Denton, a parade through downtown Dallas Saturday morning, a free barbecue at the State Fair grounds preceding the 2 p. m. football clash in the Cotton Bowl and numerous parties Saturday night, including an all-college dance in Dallas's Municipal Auditorium.

Weekend activities will kick-off with a yell practice on the front lawn of Hubbard Hall on the TWU campus to begin at 7 p. m.

EACH TWU dormitory will hold an open house starting at 8 p. m., according to Lynn Parks, 1962-63 Aggie Sweetheart. Dress for the yell practice and open houses will be casual, Miss Parks said.

A senior reception sponsored by the TWU Class of '63 will be held at Mary Jones Gibbs Hall beginning at 8 p. m.

Highlighting events Friday evening will be the annual A&M-TWC dance. The semi-formal dance will begin at 9 p. m. in the TWU Student Union Building.

Saturday morning the Corps of Cadets will form up at 8:30 a.m. for the parade through downtown Dallas. The procession will march east on Main St. from Market St. to Pearl St. The reviewing stand will be located in front of the city hall at the intersection of Main and Harwood Streets.

THE DALLAS A&M Club will sponsor a free barbecue for A&M students and their wives or dates in the Womens Building on the Texas State Fair grounds at the west end of the Cotton Bowl. Serving of food will begin at 11 a.m. and continue until gametime.

All former students and other guests of students who wish to attend may do so with the payment of a 75 cent charge. Students not in uniform must present their student identification card for admittance.

CLIMAXING the day's activities will be the Cotton Bowl game between the Aggies and SMU Mustangs. The game is scheduled at 2 p. m.

Saturday night, the Dallas Hometown Club will sponsor a dance in the Dallas Municipal Auditorium from 9 p.m.-2 a.m. Tickets for the dance are $6 per couple and may be purchased from any Dallas Hometown Club member.

Headquarters for the Dallas Corps Trip will be at the Southland Hotel. Capt. Charles F. Hornstein Jr., and Capt. Calvin Reese representing the Commandant's office, can be located at the hotel by students needing assistance.
