

Directors Allocate Funds For On-Campus Activities

More than $2.5 million in transactions was initiated last Wednesday when the A&M System Board of Directors met in Austin.

The actions included the awarding of $2,368,966 in contracts for construction projects throughout the System; the accepting of $139,951.37 in grants-in-aid, gifts, scholarships, fellowships and awards; and the allocating of $28,400 from the net profits of the Exchange Store during the past fiscal year.

The Exchange Store Advisory Board recommended, and the directors concurred, that the following student activities be benefited:

Students activities club aid, $8,350; bonfire, Student Senate, all-college calendar, yell leaders, Who's Who committee, $800; religious life program, $2,000; Hensel Park improvements, $500; civilian student government, $500; dormitory athletic equipment, $1,000; band awards and trips, $2,100; R. V. and Freshman drill teams, $1,800;

Aggie Players, $1,500; rodeo club and quarter horse show, $2,000; P. E. recreational clubs equipment and travel, $3,000; Singing Cadets, $1,600; A&M Review for competition prizes, $100; and Cadet Corps awards and trophies, $800.

In other action the board approved the establishment of a set of fees to be charged by the School of Veterinary Medicine and the Department of Veterinary Pathology for services performed for either other parts of the system or for outside clients.

Dr. Alvin A. Price, dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, pointed out that the ever-increasing demands for these services have been interfering with teaching and research programs.

Viceroy Contest Winners Named

Winners of the third Viceroy college football contest were announced Monday by Robert Hill, college sales supervisor for Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp.

Kenneth West, '64 from Kurten, won the first prize of $100 for the best prediction record. The second prize of $25 was won by Gene Adams, '63 from College Station.

Ten students were also named to receive runner-up prizes of $10 each. They were Charles L. Anderson, education major from South Bend, Wash.; Carlos A. Bedooya, senior electrical engineering major; John S. Brainger, junior personnel major; Luis A. Estrada, senior agricultural engineering major; and Mike Feighny, sophomore history major.

Also Earl Henderson, fifth year aeronautical engineering major; James R. Jones, freshman from Sanderson; M. L. Lewis; William A. Shaw, fifth year veterinary medicine major; and Billy Ward, senior veterinary medicine major.

Winners are scheduled to receive their contest prizes between 1 and 3 p.m. Thursday in the Exchange Store.

Credit School For Bankers Now Underway

More than 150 persons are attending the 11th annual Texas Farm and Ranch credit school for Commercial bankers in the Memorial Student Center.

Featured speaker will be Carroll Bottum, assistant chief of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Purdue University. His topic, "How Voluntary Can Our Farm Program Be In The 1960's?" will be presented Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Bankers, business leaders, agricultural economists and commodity marketing specialists are being featured on the program.

The program also includes reports of progress in solving problems with which bankers are concerned.

A new feature of this year's credit school is three "Bull Whipper Sessions," which permit commercial bankers in small discussion groups to explore more completely special situations and problems relating to lending and providing one-stop service for credit requirements of farmers and ranchers.

Pioneer In Health Physics Will Speak Thursday Night

One of the men who established and developed the science of health physics will speak here Thursday night.

Dr. Karl Ziegler Morgan this year was a co-winner of the first gold medal for meritorious work in radiation protection awarded by the Swedish Royal Academy of Science. Morgan will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday on "Maximum Permissible Exposure to Ionizing Radiation," in another of the Graduate Lecture Series. He will be heard in the lecture room of the Biological Sciences Building.

Review Period Set Wednesday For EIT Exam

The first of four reviewing sessions for the Engineering-In-Training examination is scheduled Wednesday night under the sponsorship of Tau Beta Pi.

A review in mathematics will be given Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Room 224 of the Academic Building by Dr. W. S. McCulley.

The EIT exams are administered to all seniors in engineering and are scheduled Dec. 8.

Other reviews are scheduled in fluid mechanics, thermodynamics, dynamics, statics, strength of materials and electricity.

The other review sessions: Dynamics, statics and strength of materials will be reviewed by Dr. J. G. H. Thompson in Room 303 of the Mechanical Engineering Building on Dec. 4.

The subjects of thermodynamics and fluid mechanics will be reviewed by W. I. Truettner in Room 303 of the Mechanical Engineering Building on Dec. 6.

Elementary electricity will be reviewed by J. S. Denison in Room 209 of the Electrical Engineering Building on Dec. 5.

Longhorn Singers In Guion Tuesday

The University of Texas Longhorn Singers will appear in a performance of popular music at Guion Hall, Tuesday at 8:00 p.m., according to Jack Cline, chairman of the Memorial Student Center's music committee.

The Longhorn Singers, directed by D. Royce Boyer, will include musical selections from Broadway and Hollywood, as well as folk and patriotic songs on their program. Feature solo numbers by Don Higginbotham, Waco folk singer, and Diane Tobola, soprano from Houston will also be presented.

One of six active choral organizations on the University of Texas campus, the Longhorn Singers is composed of 65 men and women.
