

Norman Anderson Plans To Retire From Church Post

By HAM McQUEEN

The Rev. Norman Anderson, who first came to College Station in 1928, will retire from his position as pastor of the A&M Presbyterian Church Dec. 31.

Anderson, a man who says that he doesn't like to talk about himself, has a story of interest to many Aggies, especially many of those who have attended the YMCA Fish camp. "One of my greatest experiences has been my participation at the freshman camp," he said.

Following his retirement, Anderson plans to take it easy about three months then go into counseling. He is interested in marital counseling, but says his primary interest is "just people in trouble."

His service to the college and students has merited him the honor of being the only person to receive a 25-year service pin from the College and yet not be on the payroll.

Anderson has served as head of the Department of Religious Education since 1930. He also served as chairman of the chapel building committee for the college and is a charter member of the College Station Kiwanis Club.

The Anderson Room of the YMCA Building and Anderson St., which passes by A&M Consolidated Schools, are both named for him.

He and his wife, the former Mary Dunlap, live at 208 Timber. They have a daughter, Tenny Wilhelm, and two sons Noeman J. and Fred G. The Andersons also have four granddaughters.

Anderson's interest in children is shown by the many things he does for them. Children in his neighborhood have taken over the swings, slides and other play things he built for his children when they were young.

Son, Mother Reunited

Five-year-old David Collins clings to his mother, Mrs. Catherine Collins, as he sees her for the first time in more than six months. The youngster was left in a Los Angeles bar Nov. 13 by his father, who had taken him from his St. Petersburg, Fla., home six months earlier. (AP Wirephoto)

State Courthouses Viewed By Book

(Special To The Battalion) BROWNWOOD — "Courthouses of Texas," a 260-page book showing photographs of the courthouses in the 254 counties of the state has just been published here.

Photographs of all the courthouses were made over a five-year period by Clark Coursey, former Brownwood newspaper publisher, who has been editor of the monthly magazine, "County Progress," for the past 20 years. The magazine is the official publication of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas.

Coursey did not keep a record of the miles traveled to snap pictures of the 254 courthouses, but said it totaled many thousands. Of the book itself, Coursey said: "It won't be rated as a work of art, but it could be classified as a feat of perseverance."

Romanticism-Code Duello Set For Graduate Lecture

"Southern Romanticism and the Code Duello" is the topic of a Graduate Lecture scheduled at 8 p.m. Monday in the Biological Sciences Lecture Room. The lecturer will be Dr. Albert D. Kirwan, graduate dean and professor of history at the University of Kentucky.

The public has been invited to attend, Graduate Dean Wayne C. Hall said.

Kirwan will visit a son, Albert D. (Denny) Kirwan, while on campus. Denny is in his third year of graduate studies in oceanography and seeks the PhD degree. Another son is a graduate student at Rutgers University.

Kirwan is a native of Louisville and received his AB degree from the University of Kentucky in 1926. While at the university, he was a football player and also was named to Phi Beta Kappa. He earned all-conference honors in football.

He was employed as a teacher and coach in the Louisville high schools from 1927 until he joined the University of Kentucky staff as football coach in 1938. Later he became associate professor and dean of students.

In 1944 he received the MA degree from the University of Louisville and in 1947 the PhD degree from Duke University.

Some of Kirwan's publications include "Revolt of the Red Necks," (1951), "Johnny Green of the Orphan Brigade," (1956), "The Confederacy," (1959), and "John J. Crittenden — The Struggle for the Union." (1962).

OVER WEEKEND

Three Professors, Student Take Part In Range Meet

Three faculty members and an agriculture student will be on the program at the 12th annual meeting of the Texas Section of the American Society of Range Management in San Angelo this weekend.

Dr. Donald L. Huss, assistant professor of range and forestry will speak on "A Lesson in Ecology From Mexico;" Jack M. Inglis, instructor of wildlife management, will explain the "History of Development of Dense Stands of Brush on the Rio Grande Plains;" and Richard B. Davis, associate professor of wildlife management, will speak on "Getting Action on Research."

and senior range management students from A&M, Texas Tech and Abilene Christian College will be presented at the meeting.

Membership in the society is open to persons who are interested in grazing land management or grazing livestock problems.

Ranchers, teachers, range and pasture specialists, grassland research workers, wildlife and big game technicians, administrators and business executives are among the members.

Society members get together to discuss facts and new ideas dealing with grassland and livestock management, in small groups (sections), in society-sponsored tours and at national meetings.

U. S. Study Group Sets Session Here During December

The American Studies Association of Texas will hold its 1963 meeting here this month.

The decision to meet here and the election of Dr. John Q. Anderson, head of the Department of English, as vice president and association program chairman came at the 1962 meeting on the University of Texas campus.

Attending from the local English faculty were Dr. John Q. Hays, who served on the Resolutions Committee; Dr. Harrison E. Hierth, and Anderson. Also attending was Dr. J. M. Nance.

The American Studies Association studies American civilization and American culture. Members represent various academic disciplines, such as economics, history, architecture history and literature.

"Individualism in Twentieth-Century America" was the topic of the meeting at Austin. Five professors from different fields of study and representing major universities were heard by 400 persons.

24 Army ROTC Students Honored For .22 Caliber Rifle Proficiency

"Each of these top marksmen deserves recognition," Col. Elder said in releasing their names.

Winners were Charles F. Wetherbee, Fred C. Haynes, Howell E. Lloyd, Donald J. Stevenson, Myles P. Monroe, Ronald M. York, James B. Vine, Benny Lee Riddle, George W. Staples Jr.,

All Army freshmen students participated in the marksmanship program. They fired .22 caliber rifles on the range under the Kyle Field bleachers to complete the program.

The top 24 cadets each fired a score of 85 points or more out of a possible 100 points. Such scores mean they qualify for expert rating. Cadets scoring from 80 to 100 points receive expert marksmanship classification.

James A. Sullivan, Kirby J. Warren, William R. Belcher Jr., Karl A. Caillouet, Anthony D. Hayes, Robert D. Nichols, Pete W. Jacoby Jr., Glynn S. Lindsey, Hector Diaz, Clifton C. Noonan, James E. Marshall, Johnny D. Salter, Donald A. Sweeney, Chester M. Lipiec and Thomas A. Varner.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: PRESLEY SHEPPARD, JR.

Presley Sheppard, Jr. (B.S.E.E., 1958), is responsible for the performance of 285 telephone people. Presley is assistant District Traffic Superintendent with Southwestern Bell in Dallas.

Even on his first assignment, Presley had considerable responsibility. He was put in charge of much of the training for a Chief Operators Group. He also scheduled the work of nearly 600 people in the district. And from there he moved to the staff of the General Traffic Manager, the last step before his latest promotion.

Presley Sheppard, Jr., and other young engineers like him in Bell Telephone Companies across the country help bring the finest communications service in the world to the homes and businesses of a growing America.
