

Government Posts Available For Students This Summer

Most of the Federal government agencies have available summer openings for college students, but applications should be completed the earliest possible time. This is the advice of W. R. Horsley, director of the Placement and Special Services Office.

"Since the processing of applications for federal employment frequently takes more time than others, and some nominations must be submitted by Jan. 15, interested students should visit the office as soon as is convenient," Horsley said.

Most of the government agencies have summer openings for college students as "vacation relief" for regular employees, or intern programs for those who seriously plan careers in public or foreign affairs, or in the special area of interest for which an agency may be responsible.

Road Construction Schools Announced

Instructors of the Texas Engineering Extension Service will conduct seven county road construction and maintenance training schools during January.

tion and adjustment of mechanisms; preventive maintenance; and costs of equipment and repairs and safety.

The five-day school will be presented to county road construction workers in six counties during this period.

Instruction for the schools is provided by two men, Alvin W. Jones and James L. Wallace.

The program was established by the service to instruct county workers on the proper use of heavy equipment and its maintenance and to reduce construction costs throughout the county.

The starting date, county, city and instructor for each school are: Jan. 7, Chambers County, Anahuac, Wallace; Jan. 14, Cameron County, Brownsville, Jones; Jan. 14, Jefferson County, Port Arthur, Wallace; Jan. 21, Panola County, Carthage, Wallace; Jan. 21, Washington County, Brenham, Jones; Jan. 28, McLennan County, Waco, Wallace; and Jan. 28, Jefferson County, Beaumont, Jones.

Subjects to be presented during the school are the history and development of diesel engines; engine fundamentals; care, lubrication and adjustment of mechanisms; preventive maintenance; and costs of equipment and repairs and safety.

Rubin Fuller, 49, janitor of Milner Hall since 1949, died Thursday in a Bryan hospital.

Please accept my sincere thanks for letting me serve you.

Funeral arrangements were handled by Peoples Funeral Home in Bryan.

Too often in the rush of business life, we fail to say "THANKS" loud enough for others to hear it. But you can be sure I never take your patronage for granted. To serve you is a real privilege and I am deeply grateful for your confidence in me.

MSC Art Exhibit Features Work Of Two Professors

An art exhibit featuring the works of two Southwestern University professors is now being displayed in the Memorial Student Center.

Antonio. His contribution to the Center was a seven-foot, three-ton sculpture in Austin cream limestone depicting three children clinging to a big figure which could represent a parent.

Media exhibited include oils, drawings, prints (four-color lithographs), sculpture and furniture. The public is invited to view these works on display until Jan. 31.

His sculpture and paintings have been included in numerous shows throughout the country.

The artists are Robert L. Lancaster, head of the art department, and Neal T. Putnam, assistant professor.

Putnam's work has won the M. Grumbacher prize for graphic arts at the eighth annual Audubon Artists Exhibition in New York in 1950 and the grand award in the 1951 New Mexico State Fair.

Many of Lancaster's works are included in private collections. His special areas are sculpture and design. He has been commissioned to do sculpture for various institutions and individuals.

A former commercial artist, Putnam's major areas are painting and graphic arts. His works also have been widely displayed throughout the nation.

Lancaster was one of several artists to help decorate the $2-million Golden Age Center in San

The exhibit is sponsored by the MSC Creative Arts Committee.

Turkey Federation Due Report From Dr. Couch

Dr. J. R. Couch of the Department of Poultry Science will present a paper on Vitamin A requirements of growing turkeys at the National Turkey Federation now meeting in Denver, Colo.

ods of taking and interpreting data related to chemical kinetics which were presented at the annual December meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers in Chicago.

written by Charles Pinnell, assistant research engineer, Texas Transportation Institute at A&M. The article in the official publication of the Institute of Traffic Engineers describes research findings with the signalized intersection which is considered the essential element of the diamond exchange. Title is "The Value of Signal Phase Overlap in Signalized Intersection Capacity."

The scientist also will report on turkey nutrition to the Federation and confer with turkey producers, breeders and feed manufacturers on current nutrition problems.

Associate Professor Nicholas A. Pontieux is the new secretary of the basic instruction division of the College Physical Education Association.

Pinnell has been appointed head of the Highway Design and Traffic Engineering Section of TTI. Charles J. Keese, executive officer of the Institute, announced the appointment.

Other A&M personnel participating in the meeting are Dr. J. H. Quisenberry, head of the Department of Poultry Science, and George Draper, supervisor of the National Turkey Improvement Plan in Texas.

He attended the 66th annual meeting of the national association recently in San Francisco.

Dr. M. T. Harrington, chancellor of the A&M System, has been appointed to the Executive Committee of the Southern Regional Education Board for 1963.

A former Fulbright professor here is the 1962 recipient of the Hokkaido Prefectural Governor's prize for science and technology in Japan.

Dr. Earl Logan, Jr., assistant professor of mechanical engineering, will address engineering students at the University of Puerto Rico in Mayaguez Jan. 28.

His appointment was made by North Carolina's Governor Terry Sanford, chairman of the SREB. The organization is composed of top educators and public figures from 16 Southern states who operate as a compact to promote cooperation in the achievement of higher educational goals.

Dr. Chuzo Itakura, professor of highway engineering at the University of Hokkaido was at A&M in 1957 and 1958 working in asphalt materials and technology in the Texas Transportation Institute.

He will discuss the goals and techniques of turbulent flow research he is conducting at A&M through the Texas Engineering Experiment Station.

The SREB has been effective in upgrading the overall educational standards of the entire area, Harrington said.

Itakura was honored for the success of the Chitose-Sapporo highway in Japan made from a combination of asphalt and calcium chloride to cut down the hazards resulting from snow and ice.

Du Pont Awards Engineering Grant

A&M has been awarded a $1,800 chemical engineering summer research grant by the Du Pont Company, President Earl Rudder has announced.

Purpose of the grant, Rudder said, is to give younger staff members opportunities to advance their scholarly development through research or other appropriate work during the summer.

The issue was devoted to meth-
