

Librarians Meet

The Texas Chapter of the Special Library Association tied its quarterly meeting into the recent Space Fiesta with the theme "Special Libraries in the Space Program." Frank Wagner, right, is association president and librarian for the Celanese Corporation at Corpus Christi. Capt. Farrel Robinson, left, A&M veterinarian, spoke on veterinary medicine in aerospace research, and Dr. R. D. Turk, center, another A&M veterinarian, discussed growth of a special library. About 75 association members attended an open house, sponsored by the Brazos Valley Library Association, in the A&M Veterinary Library.

Indian Students To Celebrate Republic Day

Some 500 Bryan-College Station residents have been invited by the Indian Students' Association to join in their celebration Saturday of India's Fourteenth Republic Day.

A talk by a U. S. State Department official, a dance drama and colored movies of India are on the program set at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom. Dr. James M. Blume will be the featured speaker. He is director of the Office of Technical Support, Near East and South Asia, in the State Department. Blume did graduate study at Purdue University and the University of California. Staging of the dance drama "Shyama," written by Indian poet Tagore, will follow the talk.

The dance will be directed by Reena Banerjee, wife of an A&M graduate student, who has the title role. Others participating will be Shanti Kudchadkar, Ruth Allen Calhoun and Trude Congdon.

Debabrata Ghosh, a graduate student from Calcutta, is president of the 27-member Indian Students' Association.

Senate Votes Padre Island As Third National Seashore

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas moved one step closer Wednesday to getting the nation's third national seashore area.

The Texas Senate took just a few minutes to vote a 28-1 approval of a measure to permit the national government to establish a seashore area on Padre Island.

THE BILL, which now goes to the House, provides for creation of an 82-mile long park which includes 134,000 acres on the 110-mile island.

Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio failed 16-11 to amend the bill to permit a majority of the State Land Board to convey state-owned land on the island to the national government.

As passed, Spears said, one member of the board—the land commissioner, governor or attorney general—could block the land transfer. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has opposed creation of a national seashore area on the island.

SADLER SAID after the bill passed that "it is a good bill. When they reserved the minerals for Texas, they cured my objections."

The state-owned land involved—all submerged—would go to the federal government free. However, private owners would be paid for land condemned by the government for inclusion in the area.

Congress already has passed a bill providing for creation of the seashore area.

EARLIER, the Senate gave unanimous approval to a proposed constitutional amendment which would prohibit future 1 per cent annual transfers of money from the permanent to the available school fund.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, sponsor of the proposal, said previous transfers have cost the permanent fund $21 million. The amendment now goes to the House.

The House refused debate on a bill insuring the public's right to attend government agency meetings.

House Speaker Byron Tunnell sustained a point of order that the bill had not been placed on members' desks 24 hours in advance of consideration.

THE MEASURE can be brought up again Thursday.

The proposal would insure that when governmental bodies considering public matters public could not be denied the right to attend the meeting.

The Senate also voted to back to committee a bill which would require tax assessments by banks on the basis of the book value. The measure has been advanced to final reading.

Sen. Jack Strong of Laredo told the Senate the bill meant that the stocks would be assessed on book value up to per cent less than actual values.

A Senate subcommittee is scheduled to report Thursday on a controversial loan shark regulation bill.

No One Laughs At Marines Now

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (AP)—President Kennedy has his answers. From the general on down—and despite blisters, sweat and jeers—the Marines are physically fit.

They laughed when Brig. Gen. Rathvon McClure Tompkins, carrying a walking stick and swinging along with his strange gait, the result of a sharp wound, set off to prove that he, too, could trudge 50 miles.

But the laughs soon faded. Gen. Tompkins, 50, began walking at 8 a.m. Tuesday and strutted across the finish line at 11:30 Wednesday.

With time out for rest, his walking time was 15 hours and 32 minutes. But more amazing still, he finished ninth in a class of 34.

All 34 seemed likely to complete this endurance test.

MORE THAN half the officers finished in around day's time or less, even under the rules they have days to complete the march.

A few stragglers may take full time allotted.

Fastest time belonged to Marty Shimek, long-distance runner from Hazen, Ark., who moved on these flat lands after galloping around in the Ozarks. Using his rest judiciously, and by half-and-half-walking, Shimek did 50 miles in 9 hours and 53 minutes. First man in was Lt. Don Bernath of Wauseon, Ohio, who didn't bother much with rest whose total elapsed time was 12 hours and 47 minutes.

President Kennedy would today's Marines were just the Marines proved that they
