Yankee Pitcher Shot In Leg, Out For Month

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) Marshall Bridges, 31, a southpaw ace of the New York Yankees' relief pitching corps last season, will be lost to the world champions for a month to six weeks because of a bullet wound in his left leg, a surgeon said Thursday.

Bridges, married and the father of three children, was shot four inches below the left knee Wednesday night at a Negro club known as the Pride of Fort Lauderdale Elks Lodge. The Yankee pitcher is a Negro as is Carrie Lee Raysor, 21, who, police said, fired a single .25 caliber pistol at Bridges as they sat next to each other at the bar.

Dr. George Rahilly, a surgeon and bone specialist, said the slug damaged a calf muscle and broke a bone. He estimated Bridges' recovery period at four to six weeks and said there would be no surgery.

THAT WAS good news for the Yankees, who open spring training Monday. At first it was feared the big left-hander from Jackson, Miss., would be out of action for two months.

"We're counting on Bridges," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk. "He was a very effective pitcher for us, especially in the first half of last season."

Bridges, who pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds, before coming to New York appeared in 52 games last season for a 8-4 won-lost record and an earned run average of 3.17. He picked up much of the relief slack when Luis Arroyo was sidelined by an arm injury.

Miss Raysor was charged with aggravated assault. Police quoted her as saying, "He put his arm around me and pulled me over and I didn't like that kind of mugging."

Windham Shoots

Jerry Windham of the Aggies lets fly for a two-pointer against SMU in A&M's 76-70 victory Tuesday night. Looking on for the Mustangs are Gene Elmore (11), James Thompson (32) and Jim Brockman (23).

Swimmers Try UT Saturday In Dual Meet At Gregory Gym

Rebuilding A & M swimming teams test Texas in a dual meet in Gregory Gymnasium in Austin Saturday.

The schools' varsity contestants are scheduled for a 7:30 p.m. start preceded by a 4 p.m. dual between the freshmen.

Coach Art Adamson's Aggies have had one outing, losing to SMU at Dallas, 27-67. Mustang swimmers won all eleven events.

The A&M Fish fared better, winning three races while dropping the team match to the SMU freshmen, 41-54.

Fish individual victories included the 100-yard breaststroke by Mike Offner in 1:07.8; the 200-yard medley relay by Bill Harriman, Offner, Bob Climie and David Trifon in 1:56.0; and the 200-yard freestyle relay by Paul Ouellette, George Staples, Climie and Trifon in 1:37.2.

Hank Chapman's Longhorn varsity has lost only one dual (to Oklahoma, 45-50) while winning over Baylor, 83-10, Eastern New Mexico University, 63-32, and Texas Tech, 56-38. Texas finished second to SMU in the annual Southwest Conference Relays at Dallas last December.

The Texas 400-yard freestyle relay team of Andy Smith, John Crawford, George Spear and Jim Graves set a school record of 3:22.5 in the Oklahoma dual. The old record was 3:26.8.

FISH PLAY PRELIM

Cadets Duel Razorbacks In Get-Even Tilt Saturday

In the second revenge match of the week, A&M will be calling the shots on its own stomping grounds as it hosts the Arkansas Razorbacks Saturday night in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

Tuesday night, the Aggies avenged an earlier loss to SMU and are now out to get the Hogs for a demoralizing 66-55 loss in Fayetteville.

Arkansas takes a 4-4 conference record into the contest and stands 9-9 for the season.

The Cadets are 5-3 in conference play and have a 12-6 season slate.

Chief feature of the game appears to be a duel between A&M's hot-shooting Bennie Lenox and Razorback ace Tommy Boyer. Lenox is averaging 21.5 points per game while Boyer leads the Hogs in scoring.

Starting for the Aggies will be Lenox and Paul Timmins at guards, Gerald Woodard and Jerry Windham at forwards and Lee Walker at center. Windham paces the Ags in rebounding, averaging better than 10 per game.

Arkansas hasn't beaten the Aggies in College Station since a 73-65 decision in 1957.

Following the Arkansas contest, the Farmers have five games remaining - Texas at Austin, TCU here, Baylor at Waco, Texas Tech here and Rice in Houston.

A clean sweep would give the Aggies a chance to tie Rice and Texas for the conference title provided the Longhorns lost to Rice in Houston and possible SMU in Dallas.

The Aggie Fish, whose record stands at 5-2 for the season, host Henderson County Junior College in a 6 p.m. preliminary to the Hog-Aggie clash.

The Fish had a five game winning string broken last Saturday in Ft. Worth when they dropped a 79-73 decision to the TCU Wogs.

Probable starters for the Fish will be John Beasley at center, Billy Atkinson and Joe Roberts at guard and John Reynolds and Dickie Stringfellow at forwards.
