

Nelson, Roberts Lead Track Effort

Sophomore Ted Nelson and junior Danny Roberts led the Aggie track efforts in the north for second weekend in a row Friday night, with Nelson winning another special 500-yard run and Roberts logging a 57-0 first-place shot put.

At 59 flat Nelson was one second off the time he had in Fort Worth week before last. He again bested Olympians Eddie Southern and Chris Cushman.

The big surprise was a second-place effort by Rice's freshman speedster, Jimmy Ellington.

The Dallas Invitational Indoor Track Meet added another record, as it did last year, when he set the record at 55-3/4. Second-place in the shot went to Houston's Robert Marlo, who tossed the steel ball 54-9. Baylor's Jim Lancaster was third at 53-3/4.

Other Aggies to score in the meet were freshmen Gene Westmoreland and Don Kooser.

Westmoreland took second behind Socrates Bagiackas of East Texas State in the 600-yard run. The winning time was 1:15.2.

Kooser ran unattached in the 60-yard hurdles and copped a fourth place with 0:07.7.

SMU's John Roderick, a flashy freshman, was first in the 60-yard hurdles and the 60-yard dash, where he set a record with a 6.2 effort.

Fish Use Old-Fashioned Stall To Outlast Cardinals, 60-55

Although their usual point-production seemed to be on the rusty side, Shelby Metcalf's Fish basketballers put on the old-fashioned stall Saturday night and carved out a 60-55 win over Henderson County Junior College in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

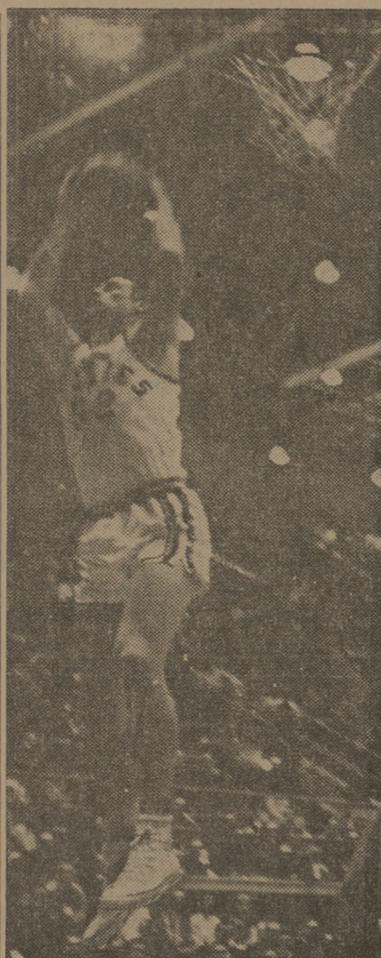

After leading by as much as 16 points more than once in the first half, the Fish seemed to cool down considerable. Henderson County, sparked by Terry Priest, closed the gap to five points near the end but the Cardinals couldn't break through the effective stall for further success.

The Fish missed John Reynolds, consistent rebounder, who was resting up from an ankle injury suffered in Fort Worth last week. John Beasley was off his usual form and had only seven points.

Joe Roberts, Dicky Stringfellow and Billy Atkinson did most of the offensive chores for A&M, hitting 14, 12 and 10, respectively. Priest was leading scorer for the Cards with 15. His teammate, Eddie Tinney, followed with 10.

The Fish out rebounded Henderson County, 45-38. Stringfellow took 12 off the boards to be at least three ahead of anyone on either squad.

Lenox Ties Record, Hits 37 As Ags Win

Don't look now, but Carroll Broussard has company in the A&M record book.

The all-time Aggie cager's record of 37 points in one ball game was matched by junior Bennie Lenox Saturday night as the Cadets won a thriller from the Arkansas Razorbacks, 80-78.

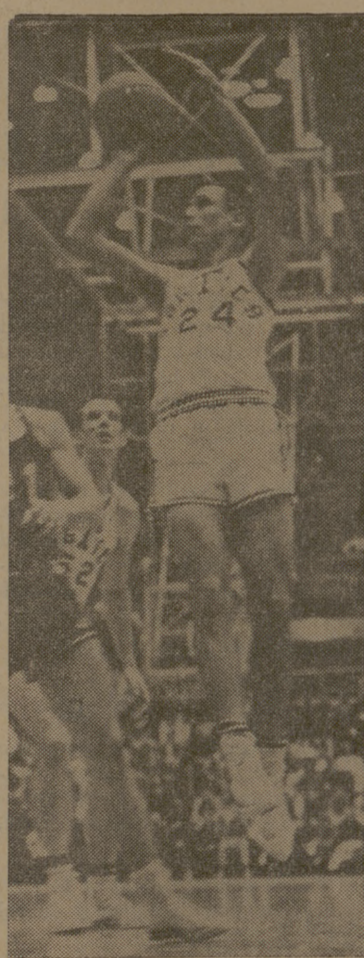

Broussard set the record against the same team in 1961 and equaled it against Texas later in the season.

Lenox finally nailed the lid on it with a pair of charity tosses, his 16th and 17th in as many tries, with nine seconds left.

Walker scored 18 points before fouling out with a little over seven minutes left and Jerry Windham pulled down 14 rebounds to contribute to the win.

Boyer scored 27 to lead the Hogs. Jimmy Wilson netted 13 for runner-up honors.

Do-or-Die Game Is Here; Cadets Face Horns Tonight

The do-or-die game of the year for the Aggies, both conference-wise and tradition-wise, comes Tuesday night in Austin as the Texas Longhorns entertain the Cadets in Gregory Gym.

A&M's victory over Arkansas

Saturday night, coupled with Rice's loss to SMU, moved the Aggies into second place tie with the Owls, three games behind Texas.

The Steers have yet to play Rice in Houston and SMU in Dallas, so a win by the Farmers could pave the way for a tie with Texas for the conference title.

Coach Bob Rogers takes the SWC's leading scorer point-wise, Bennie Lenox, and the conference's second leading rebounder, Jerry Windham, to Austin in an attempt to upset the Longhorns.

Lenox is averaging 21.9 points per game for the season and 22.3 in conference play. Windham has grabbed off 10.7 rebounds per game to lead the Cadets in that department.

Windham will be starting at a forward position and Lenox will be at a guard slot. Rounding out the starting five will be Paul Timmins at guard, Gerald Woodard at forward and Lee Walker at center.

Texas will probably go with the same five that started against the Aggies here—Jimmy Gilbert and Jimmy Puryear at guards, Larry Franks and Joe Fisher at forwards and Mike Humphrey at center.

Tip-off time is slated for 8 p.m. The A&M Fish will play the Short-horns in the 6 p.m. prelim.

Winter Sports Banquet Honors Gridders, Cross Countrymen

A & M's Athletic Department treated a capacity crowd in Sbis dining hall Friday night. It was the annual winter sports banquet, held in honor of the SWC champion cross-country squad and the 1962 varsity and freshmen football teams.

Seven awards were given to outstanding gridders. One of these, a surprise, was given to Mike Clark, dead-eye place kicker—his shoe in bronze.

The Bert Pfaff Award for the best blocker went to co-captain Jerry Hopkins. Big Ray Kubala, his running mate at center, won the A. M. Waldrop Award for best defensive lineman. Odessa tackle Melvin Simmons, the soph who started every game last fall, was given the W. T. Doherty Rookie Player Award.

Quarterback Jim Keller won the O. T. Hotchkiss Senior Player award for the highest academic average. Ken Kipp was given the Herb Smith Award for outstanding little man. A new award, given by the Bryan-College Station Quarterback Club for the most improved player of the year, went to defensive end Guy Dillon.

The Rev. Bob Richards, former Olympic champion, was the main speaker at the fete. Guests were also entertained by the Singing Cadets, inch-thick steaks and a skit by the senior gridders.

Netters Drop Pair During Weekend

A&M's tennis team came up with a disappointing first weekend. Their travels took them to Houston on Friday, where they dropped a 5-2 match to the U. of H. In Beaumont on Saturday, the Lamar Tech Cardinals dealt out a similar 5-2 defeat.

At Houston, the Ags won two and lost three singles matches. They lost both doubles matches. A Fish, Robert Nichols, won the only frosh match of the day over Houston's Richard Nesmith.

Hapless Ricky Williams lost both days for the Ags, but the rest all got at least a taste of singles victory as Doug Sassman and Ray Salazar were winners on Saturday and Richard Barker and Carrol Kell beat their Friday opponents.

Assignment: gear up for more "go" in low!

Result: All 3-speed manual transmissions in Ford-built cars with V-8's now are fully synchronized in each forward gear

To get more "go" in low, Ford engineers were asked to upgrade the conventional 3-speed transmission to give drivers more control in all three forward gears—to make "low" a driving gear—and they tackled the problem imaginatively.

Their achievement, another Ford First, is the only U.S. 3-speed manual transmission with all three forward gears fully synchronized! No need now to come to a complete stop when you shift into low—and no clashing gears! It lets you keep more torque on tap for negotiating sharp turns and steep grades. It makes driving more flexible, more pleasurable.

Another assignment completed and another example of how engineering leadership at Ford provides fresh ideas for the American Road.

BERNIE LEMMONS, JR.
says INSURABILITY is your ASSET. Here's how to protect it.

At some time between age 18 and the average man crosses the line of insurability. Today he does not know the exact moment when he crosses the line; if he did, he would buy insurance. When it is too late, the doors of life have been closed to him. He asks him for insurance to protect it—and he can't give it. He asks him for insurance to protect them—and he can't give it. He asks him for insurance to protect his life and family solvency.
