

Scholarship Winners To Be Announced

A&M winners of 1962-63 Sears Foundation Scholarships will be honored at a dinner at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Memorial Student Center.

Dr. R. C. Potts, assistant director of agricultural instruction, said the Sears Foundation program honors several freshmen and sophomore each year who are outstanding students in the School of Agriculture.

J. P. Plain of Dallas, regional director of the Sears Foundation, will attend the dinner.

THE SAFE WAY to stay alert without harmful stimulants

NoDoz keeps you mentally alert with the same safe re-fresher found in coffee and tea. Yet NoDoz is faster, handier, more reliable. Absolutely not habit-forming.

Next time monotony makes you feel drowsy while driving, working or studying, do as millions do... perk up with safe, effective NoDoz tablets. Another fine product of Grove Laboratories.

This Beats Studying

Sleeping in class is frowned upon at most schools, but not at San Vincenzo's, a Roman Catholic boarding school in Bergamo, Italy, where a system of "learning through hypnosis" is being tried. Mario Bellini, a Milan hypnotist, checks on students in the experimental class. Teachers say the boys are learning the lessons better than students in regular-type class sessions. (AP Wirephoto)

Russians, U.S. Plan Weather Satellite Pact

ROME (AP) — U. S. and Soviet scientists signed an accord Wednesday for a joint weather satellite program, then called for broader American-Russian cooperation to include probes to other planets. They also agreed on the launching of the U. S. Echo II satellite for joint communications tests. The agreements were reached in 10 days of negotiations here.

Both agreements were reached under a space cooperation accord signed by the two countries last June. They were announced at a joint news conference by Hugh L. Dryden of the U. S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Anatoly A. Blagonravov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. Dryden and Blagonravov led the teams of negotiators.

UNDER THE weather satellite program each country will launch a satellite on a different orbit to take cloud and other weather pictures and collect meteorological data. Each country will launch many satellites as necessary to keep the program going on a more or less permanent basis.

A 24-hour cable and radio communication network will be established between the two countries for the exchange of weather information and pictures. The data so will be made public through the world.

THE FIRST launchings probably be in 1964. Each country will pay for its own satellite. Echo II — 140 feet in diameter and larger and stronger than Echo I — will be used in a separate program for experiments that will eventually lead to a global communications network, including exchange of radio and television programs.

Jodrel Bank and possibly other British ground stations will act as relay points between the Soviet Union and the United States. Signals bounced off Echo II were launched in about two months.

of no upcoming board action, Heldenfels added, "If we do do it, it will likely be on a day-to-day basis like the summer policy."

Heldenfels and Thompson were the only directors who would reveal a personal preference.

"I certainly wouldn't be opposed to it," Heldenfels said. Thompson related, "If it can be worked on the day student basis, it's that."

Beutel, one of the three directors, disclosed that he had been discussed at Senate hearings but that all three new members said they didn't know all the facts.

Another freshman, Gardnermonds of Houston, joined Beutel in saying he needed to study the question further.
