

Sigma Tau Delta Plans Initiations

Initiation ceremonies for the newly organized A & M Sigma Tau Delta Chapter, a national English honorary fraternity, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Room 3-B of the Memorial Student Center.

Dr. Frank W. R. Hubert, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, will be the featured speaker. Dr. P. Abbott, distinguished professor of English, will induct members.

Dr. John Q. Anderson, Department of English head said the chapter indicates the growing role of English studies at A & M. This semester, there are 95 students majoring in English, and about 100 are invited to membership in Sigma Tau Delta.

ma Tau Delta is based primarily upon superior academic achievement, but character, initiative and leadership ability also are considered, Dr. Roy Cain, the chapter's faculty advisor, said.

Five graduate students, seven seniors, nine juniors and three sophomores are among charter members. A & M last summer granted its first Master of Arts degree for studies in English.

Rifle Club Slates Training Course

The Twin City Junior Rifle Club will conduct a one-day Hunter Safety Training Course Saturday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. at the Army Reserve Training Center in Bryan.

The instruction is under the direction of certified National Rifle Association instructors. Participants will be instructed and tested in all phases of hunting.

Subjects to be covered include game laws, safe and proper clothing, game identification, proper gun handling, ammunition, hunter-landowner relations, home gun safety and fundamentals of marksmanship.

There is a $1 service charge for individuals, and $2 for family groups. Boy Scout and Girl Scout units in uniform attending as units under their adult leaders will be charged 50 cents per scout and leader.

A sack lunch should be brought and drinks will be available at the armory.

Interested persons are asked to contact Sidney L. Loveless, or go by the You-Tomorrow Schools at 3811 Old College Road in Bryan.

Dean Hall To Act As NSF Consultant In Biology Study

Dr. Wayne C. Hall will serve as a consultant on the National Science Foundation's Panel for Metabolic Biology, it was announced today.

The dean of graduate studies was invited by Dr. Alan T. Waterman, foundation director, to join the panel of the Division of Biological and Medical Sciences, beginning Wednesday.

Duties of a consultant and a member of the advisory panel include reviewing proposals for research grants in the field of metabolic biology, sitting on the national panel, which meets quarterly in Washington, D. C., to recommend awards for research grants, and undertaking studies and making recommendations as directed by the foundation head.

Food Supplements Are No Necessity

Americans spend more than $500 million annually on unnecessary food supplements, according to Dr. William J. McGanity of Galveston.

"We have progressed from the snake medicine peddler at the county fair to the modern food fad peddler on television, who uses Madison Avenue techniques," McGanity, Canadian-born physician who is chairman of the department of obstetrics at the University of Texas Medical Branch, told nutritionists at a public meeting on the campus.

Speaking on the use and misuse of food supplements, McGanity said many Americans subscribe to the concept that vitamin pills — or two or three food supplement pills — a day are a necessary way of life.

Agronomists Select Top Student

Kindrid Caskey was named outstanding junior agronomy student at the A & M Agronomy Society's annual barbecue at Hensel Park Tuesday night.

Caskey received the Luther Jones Award of $200. Hailing from Westwood, he has compiled an overall grade point ratio of 2.3.

J. F. Mills, coach of the soil judging team, presented his group which left for Lubbock Wednesday to compete in the National Soil Judging Contest against 13 other schools.

Members of the team are Jimmy Alston, Bobby Ray Heine, James Bartek, Doug Deshotels and Ed Newland.

Five persons were presented gift certificates for outstanding service to the society. Recipients were Mrs. W. O. Trogdon, Mrs. Merle Buchanan, Mrs. Florence Hall, Charles Horne and Dr. T. E. McElrea.

AMONG THE PROFS

Engineering Graphics Prof Named To Magazine Board

An A & M professor of engineering graphics has been named to a three-year term on the editorial board of Traffic Safety Research Review, a magazine published by the National Safety Council. He is B. F. K. Mullins, who, with Charles J. Keese, executive officer of the Texas Transportation Institute, in 1962 won the council's award of merit for a freeway traffic accident analysis and safety study conducted in five major cities of Texas.

The magazine is a quarterly journal supported in part by the Bureau of Public Roads and Automotive Safety Foundation. Its articles relate to the driver, the vehicle, the highway, interaction between these elements, accident prevention research methodology, and relevant discussions.

Welson Duller, associate professor in the Department of Physics will attend the spring meeting of the Argonne Accelerator Users Group, Friday and Saturday at the Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago.

The meeting will attract scientists interested in high-energy nuclear physics and elementary particles. The program will be devoted to technical and scientific matters related to the new Zero-Gradient Synchrotron which will be put into operation next year at the Argonne National Laboratory.

Several foreign countries and major universities in the United States will be represented at the meeting.

A & M will hold its annual Poultry Conference, June 19-20. Dr. J. H. Quisenberry, head of the Department of Poultry Science, said the meeting will be of special interest to hatcherymen, breeders, hatchery and feed servicemen, related poultry industry personnel, and commercial producers of eggs and broilers.

Dr. F. A. Gardner of the Department of Poultry Science will participate in the Institute of American Poultry Industry Research Council's spring meeting May 22-24 at Ames, Iowa.

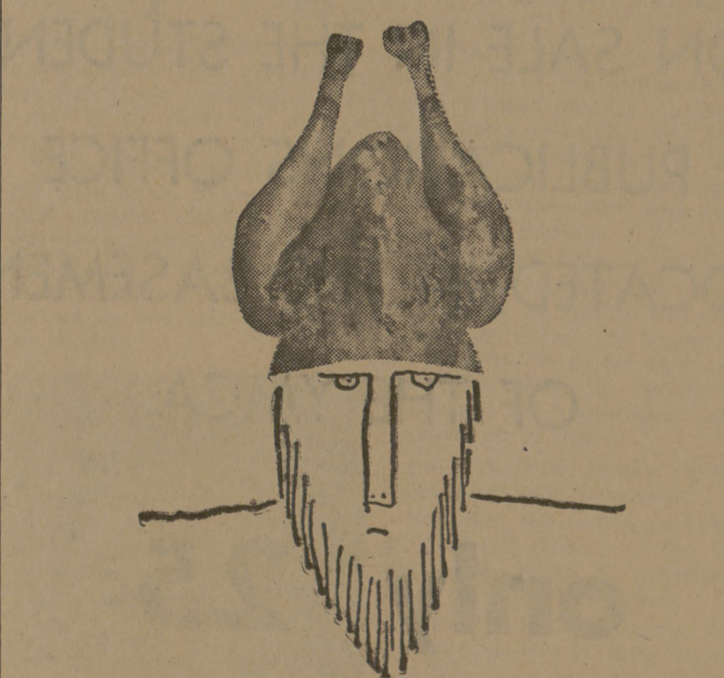

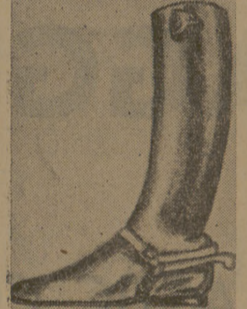

Gardner also will review research work in poultry products at Iowa State University and discuss with other research workers the current problems confronting poultry products industries.

A paper by four members of the Department of Nuclear Engineering will be presented at the ninth annual meeting of the American Nuclear Society in Salt Lake City, June 17-19.

Title of the paper is "An Absolute Thermal Neutron Flux Standard." Coauthors are Dr. R. G. Cochran, D. E. Feltz, J. D. Randall and J. V. Walker.

Memories in the Making

A picture... a frame... to treasure always. So she believes!

The fleeting baby smile, the outgrown pair of baby shoes—these she'll always treasure.

But in later years not every mother can point with pride to her son's baby picture. Memories sometimes become tarnished with remorse.

So much depends on us.

If we hope always to treasure our glimpse of yesterday... we must carve with spiritual tools our vision of tomorrow.
