

Information Head Draws Army Duty

A lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve, Jim Lindsey of A&M has been ordered to serve two weeks this summer in the Pentagon at Washington, D. C.

The director of college information and publications at A&M will be assigned to the Office of the Chief of Information, Department of the Army, starting August 12.

In the Informational Services Branch, Col. Lindsey will act as a judge in the semi-annual competition for Army Newspaper Awards. He will review the current Department of the Army directive setting up standards for judging Army newspapers.

The Informational Services Branch is a part of the Troop Information Division of the Chief of Information's office and supervises all Army newspapers.

Lindsey assumed the A&M position last August after 25 years on Texas daily newspapers. He came to the college from Midland where he served 10 years as managing editor of the Reporter-Telegram.

Water Line Project Begins

Laying of a 12-inch water line on the A&M campus is in an early stage with completion scheduled not later than Aug. 30. Goolsby Engineering Co. of Temple holds a $39,727 contract for the project. The line will extend from the Entomology Greenhouse located west of the railroad tracks to the street intersection southeast of the Memorial Student Center.

"The purpose of the improvement is to back feed the existing system and increase capacity of water supply lines from the water reservoir to the campus distribution system," Howard Badgett, College manager of physical plant, said.
