Sooners Get Nod In Trojan Clash

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Bud Wilkinson is a big-moment coach and Oklahoma is a big-moment team—the kind that comes up for dramatic situations. Such a situation arises Saturday when the Sooners play Southern California with the No. 1 national rating at stake.
This is also bounce back week for such red-faced teams as Washington and Mississippi as well as for this crystal ball-gazer, whose opening mark was 30-13 for .697.
A new day—a fresh guess:
OKLAHOMA 18, Southern California 10: Neither team played at best last week. The quick, lean Sooners should stop Pete Beathard and his mates in a rugged game.
WISCONSIN 24, Notre Dame 14: The fighting Irish show more fight than usual under interim coach Hugh Devore but the Badgers hammer away at their weak tackles.

MICHIGAN 19, Southern Methodist 14: Home field advantage; if it were in Dallas, we'd take SMU.
RICE 8, Louisiana State 3: The Owls are always tough for the Tigers from Jim Corbett's bayou land.
WASHINGTON 15, Pittsburgh 13: The Huskies atone for last week's letdown; the powerful Panthers seem to play better on the road.
ARKANSAS 14, Missouri 7: Billy Gray's Houdini ball-handling does the job for the Porkers.
TEXAS 25, Texas Tech 0; Tommy Ford should be good for two or three touchdowns.

Ready For Buckeyes
James Craig, second heaviest starter on the line, is exceeded only by Ray Kuhn of the A&M line, is prepared for the expected running attack of Ohio State. Craig's 230-

Dear Mama,
As you know, the team flew down to Baton Rouge last Saturday to beat the Louisiana State University Tigers. I was happy when I found out that I wasn't the only one who had never been on an airplane before. There were four other guys and we all sat together clutching our little white paper sacks. The stewardesses helped a lot. One of them was real cute. She slinked down the aisle saying, "Coffee, tea or me?"
When we got to Baton Rouge we had a police escort out to the stadium. A lady driver in front of us got kind of shook and pulled up clear over the curb onto somebody's lawn.
After we worked out Friday afternoon, we flew to New Orleans. Boy, what a town! They had girls what were girls. And the liquor. Mama, you wouldn't believe it! There was more liquor there than Saturday Evening Post has lawsuits. They even had a street named Bourbon.
Saturday morning it was back to Baton Rouge and a short rest. We got out to the stadium two hours before game time and there were already people in the stands. When we ran out on the field to warm up it was loaded. They said there were 68,000 people there and I'll bet 60,000 were yelling for the Tigers.
I won't go into detail on the game, Mama, since you probably read about it in the paper. I'll tell you this though, we're going to do a lot better against Ohio State this weekend. The team has a real good attitude and we all feel we can win. We're going to have trouble with the Buckeye backfield though. Their three running backs are faster than Texas jackrabbits. But we have a few shotgun shells for them.
That's all for now, Mama.
Your loving son,
Beast

Current Bowling Tournament Open To Upperclassmen, Fish

Bowling activities for the new year will be highlighted by the current University-wide tournament sponsored by the Bowling Committee.
The tournament has two divisions, the upperclass division for students who have previously attended A&M and the newcomer division for freshmen. The full cost of entering either division is $9.50 which pays for 15 lines of bowling. Each entrant has until October 10 to bowl the 15 lines or he can bowl them all in one day. Five of those dollars will be put in the prize fund.
A bowling ball drilled to the winner's order will be offered as top prize in each division with other prizes distributed to second and third place victors. Free games will go to the first, second, and third high 3-game series in each division.
Mike Sheehan, a freshman from Longview is currently leading the newcomer bracket averaging over 190 for 12 games. Jim Murray, a student from Houma, Louisiana tops the upperclassmen with a total score of 3141 which includes his handicap of 450 pins. The upperclassmen are handicapped while the newcomer division is scratch.
