Fish Host To Baylor

By MARVIN SCHULTZ

A&M's Fish footballers will try to get into the victory column tonight as they host the Cubs of Baylor University. The game will not only be a league contest but one that will benefit the Crippled Children's program. Sponsoring the game and program are the Shriners who are headed by Tom King, chairman.

Suffering a 10-0 defeat to TCU in their first outing, the Fish will seek to balance off the record with a victory over the Cubs who disposed of the Texas Shorthorns 21-17 in their first game.

BAYLOR squeaked out a close 107 score last year and the Fish squad will also consider that point when they take the field.

Expected to take the helm for the second game will be John Worst, a 160-pounder from Sun Ray who led the Frosh in rushing yardage against the Wogs, racking up 22 yards in four carries. Loyd Curington will be at the left half post while his running mate at the right half slot will be Dan Westerfield. Curington gained 15 yards in three attempts in his debut. Westerfield, a 170-pounder from Crawford will be seeing activity for the first time. Joe Weiss, the hefty fullback will round out the backfield machine.

FOUR CHANGES have been made in the line as the Fish await the Cub invasion. The left tackle and right tackle posts will see new faces as Henry Coomes and Jim Wickerham start at the respective posts. Spring Branch's Bob Barnett will take over at left guard while Emil Farr will man the right guard position.

Ken Lamkin will be back at center while the end positions go to John Poss (left) and James Wallace (right). Wallace nabbed a pass for a 15-yard gainer in the opener against TCU.

BAYLOR'S attack will center around Terry Southall, the 175-pounder who passed and ran the Shorthorns out of Waco in the Cub opener. One player to watch on the squad will be their towering left end, Jack Eisenhart, the giant from San Antonio Jeff who grabbed one pass in the end zone against Texas and ignited several scoring drives with his pass receiving.

Baylor's starting line will average 202 to 198 for A&M. The Cub backfield will be eight pounds heavier, 183-175.

In the singles Rojas upset Knox, seeded number three, 6-4, 7-9 and 6-2.

Spirited Workouts As Ags Prepare To Invade Fort Worth

The Aggies wound up contact work for the week with another spirited workout Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's football battle with TCU in Fort Worth.

Only Aggie on the doubtful list is halfback Travis Reagan who is recuperating from a shoulder injury received in the Texas Tech game two weeks ago. He'll be in uniform and available for duty but Budgie Ford will start at the left half slot.

Ford and Tommy Meeks, both juniors, have the starting halfback positions for the second straight week. Seniors Jim Keller and Jerry Rogers will open at quarterback and fullback, respectively.

Bowlers In Fourth After First Meeting Of College League

A&M's bowling team returned from Waco this weekend in fourth place after the first round of play in the Texas Intercollegiate Bowling Association.

The Cadet keglers won five games and dropped seven. Arlington State, currently in first place with an 11-1 record, opened play by taking all four games from the Aggies.

The second match found the Farmers reversing their field and sweeping four from San Antonio College. The last match with TCU ended with A&M winning one and losing three.

The next round will be Nov. 16 in San Antonio.
