

Memorial Day Services

Corps Staff held Memorial Day services at noon Monday at the West Gate Memorial, which honors the Aggie dead in the first World War. Colonel of the Corps Paul Dresser placed a wreath on the granite monument as taps played over the Memorial Student Center public address system.

Cafeteria-Style Service Now Offered All Civilians

Civilian students, beginning with the boarding period commencing Nov. 20, will have an option of eating in Sbis Hall at the same price under either the cafeteria or the family-style plan, Frank Nugent, food service director, announced Tuesday.

A special line for students using the new plan will be established in the cafeteria opened earlier this fall in the Sbis Hall ground floor. Regular cafeteria service will continue to be open.

Students will pay the same fee either for cafeteria or family-style meals.

"At the time their identification card is embossed to show payment of the fee, the student must decide which dining hall style he will use," Nugent said.

"THE CARD WILL be embossed according to the student's choice, and he must eat for the entire boarding period at the same place."

The fee for the next boarding period is payable by Nov. 19 and the period commences Nov. 20 and extends to Jan. 8.

In the cafeteria-style serving line, the student will have a choice of two meats, two or more desserts, two or more salads and the same choices of beverages as is given under the family-style plan. Also, hot soup will be served with the evening meal.

NUGENT SAID the servings for those taking the cafeteria-style option "will be generous." "The beverage service in the cafeteria will be the same as upstairs," Nugent said. This means a student may have a glass of milk and, or coffee for breakfast, a choice of juices at noon and two glasses of milk and, or coffee at supper.

THE HOURS for the civilian students eating cafeteria style will

A&M Receives 2 Grants By NSF For Teacher Aid

A discussion of overseas employment through Operation Crossroads will be held at 7:30 Tuesday in the Social Room of the Memorial Student Center.

It will be an opportunity for students and faculty members to explore the possibilities of participating in Experiment in International Living, said James Ray of the MSC Travel Committee. Following the discussion, there will be a film series shown on Operation Crossroads work in Uganda.

Operations Crossroads is a project to develop person to person relationships between U. S. and Canadian college students and the people of Africa through a Peace Corps type work project during the summer.

Donkey, Elephant To Get Second Try

The student political organizations of A&M University will have another chance at official recognition by the Executive Committee, announced Robert Eubank, president of the Young Republicans at their meeting Monday night.

A committee composed of students from the Young Republicans and Young Democrats will take their arguments for official recognition as campus organizations to the University Executive Committee within the very near future, continued Eubank.

Fallen Jet Engine Found In Pasture

HOUSTON (AP) — The two-ton engine that fell Saturday from an Eastern Airlines passenger jet was found Monday in a pasture 40 miles southwest of here. Federal Aviation Agency investigators said they found the engine buried in a field between Damon and Newgulf, near the Wharton-Fort Bend County line.

The search centered there after Clarence Rose, 41, a farmer who lives outside Damon, said he saw the engine fall from the plane.

THE DATE for the review of recognition was tentatively set for Nov. 25 after Eubank talked to James P. Hannigan, Dean of Students.

Hannigan denied responsibility for the failure of the two clubs to obtain recognition and was instrumental in obtaining the review for the clubs.

THE TWO CLUBS had been denied official recognition by the Executive Committee in a letter that stated that the committee believed that off campus organizations provided enough room for political experimentation by students and the University regulations stated that A&M property should not be the scene of any partisan politics.

The club's guest speaker was George Bush, republican candidate for Ralph Yarborough's senate seat.

Bush spoke on the failure of Democrats to fill the Jeffersonian image that they cast themselves in.

"I am sure that they (The University Executive Committee) have good reasons for their actions, but I hate to see Universities afraid of free thought. I hope you win your fight," concluded Bush.

be 7 to 8:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m., and 5 to 6:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. On Saturday the breakfast hours will be the same, the noon hours will be 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and the evening hours will be 5 to 6 p.m. On Sunday the cafeteria line will be open from 8 to 9 a.m., 11:30 to 1 p.m. and 5 to 6 p.m.

The university cafeteria line, open to all who wish to pay according to foods desired, will be open at the hours listed above.

Safety Flicks Set As Bonfire Nears

SAFETY! Bonfire time is getting close again and preparations have already started to reduce accidents. Three films emphasizing this point will be shown before work gets under way.

These films will be shown by the First Aid and Safety Committee of the Industrial Education Society. This committee, which is headed by Clyde Grimsinger and James M. Adams, will work in conjunction with the Bonfire Safety and Traffic Committee headed by Herman Bate of Corps Staff.

THE FIRST showing of these films will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 107 of the ME Shops Building and will be primarily for the First Aid and Safety Committee. However, anyone who is interested has been invited, said Dr. E. R. Glazener, head of the Industrial Education Society.

The second showing will be held the Monday night after the Rice game and will be for those men who will be doing cutting this year. C.O.'s and first sergeants are especially urged to attend, said Glazener. All civilian students who will be doing any cutting are also urged to attend.

THE FINAL showing will be held the Friday night before full-time work on the bonfire gets under way. Safety instruction will be given to sophomores and freshmen during this showing.

Huntsville Rodeo Termed Success

HOUSTON (AP) — The prison rodeo at Huntsville last month was the most successful in years, the State Board of Corrections said Monday.

"We cleared close to $30,000 more than we have in the last three or four years," H. H. Coffield of Rockdale, chairman of the board, said.

Figures furnished by Dr. George Beto, director of the prison system, showed profits from the show rose from $72,271 in 1962 to $117,651 this year.

The money goes into a health, education and recreation fund for the system's 12,000 prisoners.

37 Students Chosen To Who's Who List

Campus Leaders Head Selections

Thirty-seven A&M University students have been selected to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities.

Named to the group were Craig Stephens Abbott, Leslie Garry Adams, David Carl Anderson, Thomas Michael Ashby, Scott Williams Beckwith, Robert Clyde Burk.

Joe Vurn Chapman, Juan Gerardo Dominguez, Paul Alton Dresser Jr., Ernest Levi Ener Jr., John Murray Fitts, Richard Lee Forgason, Lawrence Newton Garrett Jr., Lelve Garland Gayle, Jeffrey Claude Harp, Howard Martin Head, Frank Richard Kiobassa, Royce Malcolm Knox.

MICHAEL DON MCGOWN, Charles Joseph McGuire,

Michael McLernon Marlow, Noe Raul Marmolejo, Ralph Howard Mitchell Jr., Richard Moore, Kenneth Albert Radde, Richard Louis Railston, Harlan Earl Roberts.

William Clayton Robinette Jr., James Eugene Schnabel, Gerald Wayne Siegelin, William Kenneth Stanton, Frank William Stark Jr., Edward Lee Walker and John Charles Holliman.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for listing in Who's Who, students must be classified as a senior academically, have an overall grade point ratio of 1.5 or better, be active in campus activities and show qualities of leadership as indicated by positions held in student organizations.

The A&M selections were made by a nine-man committee consisting of faculty and staff members and students.

Dean W. J. Graff, Dean Frank Hubert, Col. Denzil Baker and Bennie A. Zinn represented the faculty and staff on the group.

STUDENTS AIDING in the selections were Paul Dresser, Corps Commander; Harlan Roberts, Student Senate President; Howard Head, MSC Council President; Richard Moore, Civilian Student President, and Jeff Harp, Civilian Student vice president.

Dean of Students James P. Hannigan said Monday, "I feel we have a very fine group this year. The selection committee worked very hard to select this group. In fact, this committee stayed up past 1 p.m. one night making the final selection."

STUDENTS NAMED to Who's Who will be honored in a special national publication honoring outstanding students from colleges and universities in all parts of the United States.

"It is a tremendous job to decide on just 37 students from as large a student body as we have," Hannigan added.

Of all the qualifications, scholastic achievement is perhaps the most stressed.

The series ends Nov. 20.

SCONA IX T.K. Kim To Aid Roundtable Talks

By RONNIE FANN
Battalion Managing Editor

Thomas K. Kim, of the Department of Economics and Business Administration at Baker University in Baldwin, Kan., will be one of 17 roundtable co-chairmen in the fields of business and education to attend the ninth annual Student Conference on National Affairs, Dec. 11-14 in the Memorial Student Center.

Kim, a native of Shanghai, China, is a naturalized citizen of the United States. He received his elementary and secondary education in China from 1935 to 1946. He received his BA degree from Berea College in 1952, his MBA from Indiana University in 1954 and his Ph. D. from Tulane University in 1961.

THE PROFESSOR was a correspondent for The Seoul Times from 1946-47, the executive assistant to the director of the National Land Administration for the U. S. Military Government in Korea from 1947-48, and an instructor of economics in Berea College from 1955-58.

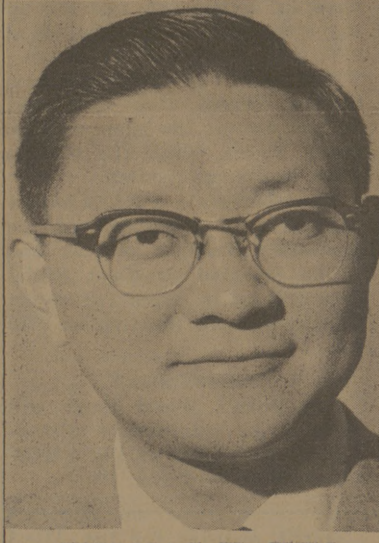

THEME of this year's conference is "U. S. Monetary and Fiscal Policy: A Taxpayer's View." SCONA IX will host five nationally known keynote speakers, in addition to the 17 prominent roundtable co-chairmen and about 150 student delegates from about 80 schools from throughout the United States, Mexico and Canada.

Two of the five keynote speakers will be Edwin P. Neilan, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Phillip S. Hughes, assistant director for Legislative Reference of the Bureau of the Budget.

ALSO ACCEPTING INVITATIONS to serve as roundtable are Dr. Howard A. Cutler, University of Alaska vice president; Dr. Frank W. R. Hubert, dean of Arts and Sciences at A&M; Dr. Rocco M. Paone, United States Naval Academy; Robert E. Cochran, Houston Chronicle associate editor; William S. Livingston, University of Texas government professor.

Others include, V. J. McCoy of Houston, manager of public relations for Shell Oil Co., F. H. H. King, University of Kansas economics professor; Dr. Alfred F. Chalk, head of the Department of Economics at A&M, and Bruce W. Nelan of New York, director of public information and education for Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Ripon Beats A&M In Last 40 Seconds

By JAY FERGUSON
Special Writer

After nearly six hours of unexpected, nerve-racking practice sessions and dress rehearsals, the A&M "College Bowl" team Sunday was defeated 155-150 by Ripon College in the last 20 seconds of their match on NBC's "General Electric College Bowl."

According to Dr. Harry P. Kroitor, associate professor of English and coach of the Aggies, the A&M team, composed of Calvin C. Simper, Lawrence Kelminson, John A. Schmidt and Bobby L. Limmer, showed an obvious superiority over the Ripon team in all of the practice sessions and dress rehearsals.

In one of the dress rehearsals, said Kroitor, the A&M team won by more than 400 points.

"The people in the studio and the audience were amazed and gasping at the Texans' brilliance," said Kroitor.

"There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that our boys were considerably superior to the Ripon team," said Kroitor.

After arriving in New York City by jet from Houston Friday night, the Aggies "bedded down" at their hotel, the Savoy Hilton. Saturday after breakfast, the team took in some sight-seeing before they met Kroitor for dinner. After dinner, Kroitor and the team attended Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" at the Billy Rose Theater. The play, which was the winner of the New York Drama Critics Award as Best Play of the 1962-63 season, was a shocker, satirizing our inability to face realities.

The drilling of the two teams began at approximately noon Sunday and continued almost without interruption until showtime. The live television show was composed of two nine-minute periods in which the clock never stopped.

The A&M team jumped off to an early lead and was never topped until the final question was asked. At that time, the Aggies were leading 150-145. The last question was worth 10 points and spelled defeat for the Aggies.

For their appearance on the show, A&M received a $500 scholarship for the school.

Numerous telephone calls and telegrams from all the United States have been received congratulating the team on their effort, Kroitor said.

NASA Postpones IMP Launch Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration postponed indefinitely Monday the launching of the IMP — an interplanetary Explorer satellite on a radiation charting flight three-fourths of the way to the moon.

The agency said ground tests of the third stage of the Delta launch vehicle indicated that rocket exhaust, after burnout, might cause a spacecraft contamination problem.

"Changes in the separation sequence will be made to eliminate this possibility," NASA said.

Monotonous But Necessary Work

Allan Linton, B&U Department, is only one of many employees working towards completion of the name changing job on over 350 University vehicles. The process, involving the tying up of needed vehicles, is slow since old paint has to be removed before application of the new decal. All departments still lacking the new decal on their vehicles are urged to make arrangements with B&U to assure final completion of the task.
