Invite A Neighbor Over

Approximately 100 students will not go home during the Christmas holidays. They will stay on campus.

Ordinarily a university campus would be a lonely place to spend a two week holiday, but the Texas A&M University Hospitality Committee intends to make the time an eventful two weeks for the 100 foreign students — thousands of miles from home — who will stay here during the holidays.

The group is urging citizens in the Bryan-College Station area to invite these students to visit in their homes during the vacation. We would like to join the Hospitality Committee in urging residents to participate in the program. Not only will this be a wonderful opportunity to extend a warm hand to some of our own fellow world citizens, but it will add much to the Christmas spirit within your home to have such interesting guest.

The Hospitality Committee has already made arrangements for the students to spend New Year's day in the traditional American way — by taking life easy and watching bowl games on TV. The committee will host the students in the YMCA Building during the day.

However, because the Hospitality Committee is just a service group, they once again will call on the citizens of Bryan-College Station to assist them in their project. Part of the American customs of New Year's Day includes stuffing one's self with foods that have been left over from Christmas. You're right — the committee would like to have individuals volunteer to help feed these students on January 1 in an American way. Of course this want take much. They're only 100 fellows that will be sitting around watching TV. And all housewives know how little they eat.

Throw out the "Welcome" mat for a couple of weeks, citizens of Bryan-College Station, and get to know your neighbors — they only live across an ocean, and that's not far today.

By the way, while you've got the "Welcome" mat out, you might just as well leave it out for the year.

Want to meet a neighbor? Well, just call for Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Bill Echols, Mrs. Dorsey McCrory or Mrs. Bookman Peters at VI 6-8808 any afternoon next week. If you can't reach them at that number, just call them at home.

Job Training Bill Passed By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to increase job training opportunities for school dropouts and illiterates was passed by voice vote by the House Thursday but at a lower spending level than proposed.

The measure was requested by President John F. Kennedy, who made it part of the civil rights program he urged Congress to pass last June.

A slightly different version has cleared the Senate and the two measures will have to be reconciled before final action is taken.

The House bill called for a four-year authorization in new funds of $803 million, but under attack from economy-minded members was cut to $527 million for three years.

The cut was backed by Chairman Adam C. Powell, D-N. Y., of the Education and Labor Committee, to head off a proposed cut by Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio. In actual dollars, Taft's amendment was $10 million less than the one adopted, but it would have been spread over the four years of the program.

The committee's amendment accomplished its reduction mainly by eliminating the fourth year of the program and making minor cuts in the other years. It carried by a 161-126 standing vote.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A major education bill that would pump $1.56 billion into three programs was passed by the House Thursday and sent to the Senate where action is expected Friday.

Passage came after a Republican-backed motion to trim two items was defeated 193-180.

The roll call on final passage was 300-65.

The bill, a compromise between different versions passed earlier by the House and Senate, continues or expands three existing programs — vocational education, the impacted school areas program, and the national Defense Education Act.

Besides authorizing $731 million for federal support of vocational education for a four-year period, the bill overhauls the longstanding program to make it more suitable to the job needs of an automated economy.

At present vocational education training programs are limited largely to home economics and farm operations. The new bill calls for the construction of five residential schools to provide supervision and job-training for school dropouts and youngsters living in undesirable environments.

The bill continues for two years the program under which federal grants are made to public school districts crowded because of federal installations. A two-year total of $527 million is provided for hundreds of schools in more than 300 congressional districts.

The third program continued in the bill is the Defense Education Act enacted in 1958. All its provisions would be extended for one year, at a cost of $304 million.

The only major change made in the act would increase the funds in the college student loan program. These go from $90 million to $125 million in the current fiscal year and $135 million in fiscal 1965.

Funds will have to be provided in later appropriation bills.

Taft Would Run On Senate '64 Ticket With Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Thursday he would be "happy to run for the Senate on the same ticket" with Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Taft announced his candidacy for the Republican senatorial nomination last Friday in Cleveland. He was quoted at the time as having said a national GOP ticket headed by Goldwater "would make it difficult" for Taft's senatorial campaign in Ohio.
