A&M, UT Student Leaders Hope For Peaceful Contest

Regional TV Game Set For Saturday

By GLENN DROMGOOLE
Members of the Student Senate discussed possible precautions that may be taken Saturday in an effort to prevent an incident similar to the one that occurred after last year's A&M-University of Texas basketball game at Austin. The Senators expressed their desire to prevent such action in their regular meeting held in the Memorial Student Center Thursday night.

STUDENT LEADERS from UT have likewise stated their intentions to avoid any extra-curricular activities after Saturday's regionally televised cage game, A&M Student Senate President Harlan Roberts reported.

At a recent meeting of the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Committee, representatives from the league's eight schools also stated their desire for a peaceful contest between the two universities, Roberts said.

THE INFAMOUS INCIDENT, which gained bad publicity for both A&M and UT last year, was the primary topic of discussion at the committee's conference held in Dallas prior to the Cotton Bowl football game.

Roberts noted that the group offered several solutions, none of which were acceptable to the two schools concerned. The student representatives suggested that A&M leave their yell leaders at home, but that met with the A&M veto.

A&M LEADERS proposed that a special block section be reserved for the Aggies. Students attending the meeting from UT, however, claimed that such a section could not be reserved, so that idea fell by the wayside.

The Longhorn supporters present at the conference said if such action occurred after this year's game as happened after last year's, that next year's Aggie-Longhorn clash in Austin would be viewed by only the respective basketball teams.

A&M DEAN OF STUDENTS James P. Hannigan said Thursday in reference to the shouts of "Poor Aggies" that have fallen on A&M ears in the past, "This is going to happen from time to time and we're going to have to act like grown-ups and ignore it."

The eyes of Texas will actually be on the A&M-UT game Saturday, as regional television brings the spirited contest into homes throughout the state.

What From Hubby Asks Grad Wives

This will be the topic of a panel discussion Tuesday during the regular meeting of the Association of Graduate Student Wives, at 8 p.m. on the second floor of the Richard Coke Building. The discussion will be moderated by Dr. Christiansen, on sabbatical leave from Brigham Young University.

While at A&M he is associated with the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, and is doing educational research.

AVMA To Host Vice-President Of National Organization Here

Mrs. Horace G. Balock, vice-president of the American Veterinary Medical Association will visit the student chapter on the A&M campus on Jan. 13-14.

She will be a guest at the AVMA Awards Banquet Monday night at 6:30 in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom, and will present the AVMA Auxiliary Award to the vet student who has done the most to promote veterinary medicine on the campus.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Balock will be a guest at a Dutch Luncheon

No Fights Please, Senators Urge

An Open Letter To The Students of Texas A&M:

A traditional sports event of long standing will take place in Austin this Saturday. Both schools are anticipating this event with keen athletic enthusiasm. The outcome will have a marked effect on the Southwest Conference basketball championship. In addition, this game will be regionally televised with millions of fellow Texans observing the actions of their two greatest state-supported schools.

WE ALSO KNOW, however, that in the past events have often detracted from the true intentions of the A&M-UT basketball game. Last year's after-game fight was the most recent in a long line of such undesirable occurrences in Austin. The whole Southwest Conference is deeply concerned by this continued misuse of school loyalty, as witnessed by everyone's concern expressed recently at the SWC Sportsmanship Meeting.

It has been decided that if any such happenings as last year's brawl repeats itself, the only people allowed to see next year's game will be the basketball teams themselves.

WITH THE POSSIBLE elimination of all spectators at such an exciting and important athletic event as this game, we of the Student Senate feel that this is too great a price to pay for the immature venting of emotion such a fight would characterize. Let us all this Saturday present a mature picture of A&M's student body, not a picture of a student body that is easily badgered into belittling squabbles. Let us both enjoy and control ourselves this Saturday in Austin.

Activity Fee Refund Set

Graduating seniors who paid the student activity fee and will not be in school the spring semester may obtain a refund on the spring portion by making application at the Housing Office.

Students must present their student activity cards in order to be eligible for refund. Dormitory refunds must turn in their mattress covers before claiming any refund.

Graduating seniors who live in dormitories may obtain a refund of the last week of dormitory fees by reporting to the Fiscal Office beginning Tuesday.

Students other than graduating seniors, who will not be in school during the spring semester, may make arrangements for their student activity fee refunds when they turn in their clearances prior to leaving campus.

Midnight Oil Burns Brightly

Students began the inevitable final exam studying Thursday night as evidenced by this late night photograph of an old area dorm. These are the last finals to be studied for in these dorms for some time, as renovation begins in early February. Construction material lays nearby to be used for the dorms under construction.

FOR SOUTH-CENTRAL TEXAS

Group To Study Possibility Of University TV Station

The feasibility of establishing educational television in South-Central Texas to serve education and community groups will be discussed Jan. 17 on campus.

School officials and civic leaders from 16 counties have been invited to join A&M administrators and faculty for the conference, Dean of Instruction W. J. Graff said. He is chairman for the conference which is expected to attract about 200 persons from elementary and secondary schools, the university and civic leaders.

"An educational television facility on the A&M campus could serve a scholastic population of 36,000 elementary and secondary pupils, a general population of 168,000 persons and many college and university students within a radius of 50 miles," Graff said.

The studies also could serve as a center for closed circuit television on campus, the dean said.

THE KEYNOTE ADDRESS will be delivered by Dr. Lee Dreyfus, general manager of Station WHAT-TV of the University of Wisconsin. He will speak on "Educational Television in the United States."

"Educational Television in Texas" will be discussed by Robert F. Schenkkan, director of radio and television at the University of Texas.

A demonstration of educational television in the classrooms also will be given by Schenkkan before the participants attend group meetings.

Wesley K. Summers, director of instruction of the Bryan public schools, will chair a group discussing "Television in Elementary and Secondary Schools." The consultant will be Bob Fox, in-school coordinator of Station KLRN-TV, Austin.

CHAIRING THE DISCUSSION of "Television in College and Universities" will be Dr. Frank W. R. Hubert, dean of Arts and Sciences. The consultant will be Schenkkan.

B. H. Dewey Jr., of Bryan, who is a member of the Southern Regional Educational Board, will be chairman of the "Television as a Community Cultural Resource" group. The consultant will be Harvey Herbst, manager of Station KLRN-TV.

Radiological Men Install Equipment

The installation of two major pieces of automated equipment for radiation detection and analysis was completed this week for the Radiological Safety Office, John E. Simek announced Thursday.

The health physicist said the two systems, valued at $28,000, will increase services of the office and may be utilized in proposed research in the radiation field. One item is a Radiation Counter Laboratory Multichannel Analyzer for gamma ray analysis. The other is a Sharp Laboratory Low-Beta II System for the detection of low activity alpha or beta emitting radioisotopes.

"TEXAS A&M is one of the few institutions which has been delegated authority by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control of the State of Texas to control, direct, and develop their radioisotope program," Simek said.

The program here is governed by the Radiological Safety Committee whose members are specialists and experienced in the radiation field.

CSC Discusses Weekend Plans

BY JOHN WRIGHT
Asst. News Editor

Discussion concerning the arrangements of the Civilian Weekend dominated Thursday night's meeting of the Civilian Student Council in the Memorial Student Center.

After much opinion was expressed over the selection of a band, and whether or not to hold the dance off campus, a decision was made to appoint both the Executive Committee and a committee of four, under the chairmanship of Gandmer Parker, to finalize details of the dance.

ALTHOUGH NO FORMAL decision was made, a show of hands indicated that the majority of council members favored an off-campus dance with a band that would play a variety of dance music.

Parker's committee of four will be comprised of Ken Scott, Travis Voelkel, Jim Benson and John Ferguson. The committee will report on its selection of band and dance location, at the next scheduled meeting of the council.

Earlier in the meeting Charles Shook presented the treasurer's report and announced that the Council had $1245 in the bank. Shook emphasized that this amount did not include the allotted $600 from the Exchange Store profits, which will be forthcoming.

Other old business discussed at the meeting included the results of the Needy Family project. Paul Oliver, chairman of the Needy Family Committee, announced that a total of $50.55 was spent on the selected family, mostly on clothes for the seven children.

NEW BUSINESS TOPICS raised at the meeting revolved around the subjects of an auto safety-belt campaign and the Council banquet.

Richard Moore, president of the Civilian Student Council, named a committee to be formed under the chairmanship of Allan Lee, to examine the feasibility of offering for quick sale to the student body, at no profit to the council, top quality safety-belts. Moore expressed the opinion that perhaps such a campaign could help alleviate the high number of Aggie lives lost in traffic accidents.

The Civilian Student Council Banquet, which has been scheduled for the early part of May, will honor deserving civilians in connection with campus activities.

MOORE APPOINTED a committee under the joint chairmanship of Don Bell and Jeff Harp to nominate outstanding civilians.

Dean Hannigan dropped by and asked the council to pass on to the civilian students the necessity of avoiding any provoking activity at the University of Texas basketball game.

Squadron 1 Sports New Uniform Hood

Something new may be added to the Class "B" winter uniform of the Cadet Corps. The addition that is being considered is a hood that will be worn over the field jackets to protect the head and ears from the weather.

Pat Nance, member of the Corps uniform committee, said that 74 hoods were purchased in Houston from an army surplus store for 75 cents. He stated that at present only Squadron 1 has the hoods as they will first be used on a trial basis. A report will be made to the uniform committee and, if approved, hoods will become a part of the uniform.

Lt. Col. Roger W. Garrison, associate professor of air science, is chairman of the uniform committee.

Connally Makes Bid For New Tenure

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally announced for re-election Thursday and predicted Texas will be solidly Democratic in the November national election.

"What's wrong with right now?" the 46-year-old governor replied to a newsman's question of when he would announce.

His right arm still in a sling from a wound he received in President Kennedy's assassination, Connally answered newsmen's questions on political matters for the first time since before the Nov. 22 assassination.

THE FORMER NAVY secretary and close friend of President Johnson said his bid for re-election has been his own concern in politics. He told questioners he has not talked with Johnson about a job in the new administration.

"I've been there before," Connally said of Washington.

In answer to other questions, Connally said:

Texas will vote Democratic in national contests in November, probably by a 3-2 margin.

Any peacemaking between President Johnson and U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough does not influence him. "How ever you interpret their actions, you shouldn't include me. I'm not taking it upon myself to interfere in anybody else's business."

PANAMA — Thousands of Panamanian students stormed the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone Thursday night on a flag-carrying raid and were repulsed by gunfire.

Two students were reported killed and 26 or more persons injured in the bloodshed stemming from rival attempts to fly the U.S. and Panamanian flags. The zone is Panamanian territory but under unending lease to the United States.

Panama quickly recalled its ambassador, Augusto Arango, from Washington.

MOSCOW — Moscow Radio on Thursday night welcomed President Johnson's proposal for a cut-back in American military spending.

But it said: "One cannot assert that this is the beginning of the end of the arms drive. It is more a freezing of it."

The commentary, broadcast on the radio's home service, was the first official public reaction in the Soviet Union to the President's State of the Union message.

NEW YORK — Richard M. Nixon says that as soon as he decides who the Republicans' strongest presidential candidate is, he personally "will make any sacrifice" to see that that man is nominated.

The former vice president would not say outright that this could mean he would accept the nomination, but it was his clearest indication to date that his repeated stand that he is not a candidate might be subject to change.
