

Ag Economists, Sociologists Back At School

Three A&M University Agricultural Economics and Sociology staff members and their wives are enrolled in a two-month orientation course to prepare themselves for two years of service in Argentina.

Their stay in that country is in connection with a $344,000 technical service contract recently negotiated between A&M and the National Institute of Technical Agriculture. A&M and the NITA will cooperate in establishment of an Institute of Agricultural Economics.

The university personnel are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Harston, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Magee.

Bates is a long-time Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialist in farm and ranch management. Magee is a professor of agricultural economics. Harston is an agricultural economics professor at Montana State College but is on leave to prepare for the trip at A&M.

Their orientation program involves eight hours of study a day. Five of those hours are instruction in Spanish under leadership of Dr. J. A. Dabbs of the Department of Modern Languages.

Another hour goes to study of institution building and staff functional roles, taught by Henry Ross of the International Programs Office. Economic development in underdeveloped areas, taught by Dr. I. O. Linger, Department of Economics absorbs an hour.

The eighth hour is utilized in a culture and social customs study led by D. R. Davis of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology. Dr. V. W. Edmondson of the same department, co-ordinator of the project, also is enrolled with the group in the Spanish course.

Kerley To Discuss Grad Record Exam

Dr. S. Auston Kerley, director of the Counseling and Testing Center will speak Tuesday on the Graduate Record Examination at the Industrial Education Society meeting.

All members of the society and other interested students are invited to attend the meeting which will be held in Room 107 of the Mechanical Education Shop at 7:30.

AMONG THE PROFS

Nursing School Hosts Hackney

B. M. Hackney will participate in the 16th annual workshop for Instructors of Vocational Nursing in Austin, March 2-13.

Hackney, a teacher trainer with the Engineering Extension Service, will teach classes in instruction methods, analysis and course making.

He will also conduct similar classes at a state-wide program for vocational nurses in New Mexico, July 13-18, at Highland University.

Dr. John Q. Anderson, head of the Department of English, and two Houstonians will present a program of traditional American songs and ballads at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Jewish Community Center in Houston.

Area 7 high school vocational agriculture teachers will hear a program Tuesday at San Marcos by Dr. C. B. Ryan, associate professor in the Department of Poultry Science.

The speaker will discuss "Training Poultry Teams" at 4 p.m. at Southwest Texas State College.

Dr. M. A. Brown, associate professor in the Department of Dairy Science, will be official judge Saturday for the Houston Livestock Show's 4-H and FFA Dairy Cattle Judging Contest.

Dr. W. F. Krueger, professor in the Department of Poultry Science, will speak to Area 8 high school vocational agriculture teachers Tuesday in Belton.

The poultry scientist will discuss "Training an FFA Poultry Judging Team."

Unified Gift Plan Will Benefit All

A unified plan of giving to youth, welfare and other agencies benefits the individual, the community and the agencies, A&M Dean of Instruction W. J. Graff said Thursday as president of the College Station United Chest.

Dean Graff was among the speakers in Dallas as the Texas United Fund Inc., held its annual meeting.

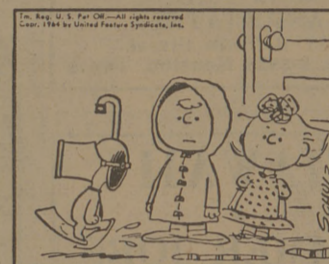

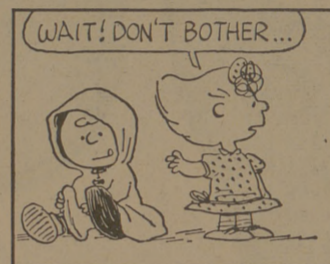

"What the United Fund Means to A Medium-Sized Community" was the dean's topic.

In his speech he traced briefly the history of the College Station United Chest and said "the desire to insure perpetual community service of a higher order brought about our present organization."

The major purposes of the community group were listed as "To bring together in a united appeal the campaigns of community accepted charities, health, welfare and recreational agencies; plan for, provide for, and distribute to the agencies according to a prior publicly determined schedule; and to create and to cultivate a general incense in the community, and to strengthen acceptance of the United Fund approach."

PEANUTS

16 Wardens Train

Sixteen warden trainees for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department are currently enrolled in A&M's Game Warden Training School. This special school is the only one providing for the training of game wardens in the state and is a very important phase of their intense training.

"These 16 men began their warden training last Sept. 1 with a week of indoctrination at Camp Bullis, near San Antonio," said Ed Henry, practical law instructor for the school. "At Camp Bullis they were briefed on keeping records and reports, general game laws and the departmental structure of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said Henry. "Upon leaving Camp Bullis, the warden trainees went directly into the field, working mainly with game census until last November," said Henry. "Then they served as apprentice wardens, each working with a regular game warden doing law enforcement work until the last of December."

The 16 future wardens worked with the Coastal and Island Fisheries biologists through most of January, then came to A&M to attend a Civil Defense course offered at the State Civil Defense School here from Jan. 27-31, according to Henry.

The good thing about the seasons is that all we have to do is wait. We may not like the weather we have now, but something different will come soon. We experience a great variety of weather in a dozen months.

It's a great consolation to have this mighty spectacle of spring and autumn, sun and rain, day and night continually unfold around us.

It's the dependable rhythm of nature, the ebb and flow of seasons, the beauty of earth and sky, which give our lives a firm ground tone.

But Christianity is not a nature religion. It finds the revelation of God in nature alone but even more in human personality — our own, as the children of God, and supremely in Jesus as the Son of God.

That is why it is necessary for us to become an important part of His Church.

We can get in the mood to understand the presence of God when we experience the quietness of the woodlands or hear waves breaking against the cliffs, or look heavenward at the billowing clouds. But, it is not enough to get in a mood. We must join in the communion and fellowship of other believers in order to obtain our purpose and faith.

Come, let us go into the House of the Lord. . . .
