

Coed Core Invades New Dorms

Female ROTC Units Formed

There will be a new division in the Kiddie Core next year, the Quadran has announced. For the fall semester, a Maggie Army Core and Maggie Air Farce will be formed. The Quadran said they expect an initial enrollment of 3,000 for the 1964-65 school year, which should boost total Core strength to over 6,000, with even greater numbers to appear in the months to follow.

Col. Butcher made it very clear that the Maggies are to be housed in the new air-conditioned dorms now under construction, although if the enrollment warrants it there may be a squadron or company of the "women warriors" assigned to dorms 10 or 12. There will be separate day duck outfits set up, and the administration said permits to live off campus will be issued liberally.

Col. Beechnut expressed hope that a number of the Maggies would volunteer for the band, and said the top floor of the band dorm would be remodeled to facilitate them. Whether they are to play instruments or be used as majorettes was not made clear.

The MAFs will drill with the rest of the Air Farce Kadets and the MACs with the beetle-crushers. There was some mention that the ladies may be used as the aggressors in the play-war exercises of the ground pounders.

The main reason the MAF/MACs are being formed is the great interest shown by the co-eds of other Texas schools. It was also felt that the morale of the core would be helped by the move. The male half of the core awaits with interest the sight of a co-ed junior being thrown into the quadrangle early in the morning by the fishettes, as well as 3,000 Maggies marching to chow, their brass and hairpins shining in the sun.

TWU Girls Jump For Joy As Aggie Breaks Tradition

By JACK DANIELS
Squadron Gossip Getter

What kind of a boy would want to break the sex barrier at Texas Woman's University and Old Maid's Training College in Denton?

This is the question that many loyal Tessie Ex's have been asking themselves ever since Hermann Glotz, a junior homemaking major at A&M from Armadillo Run, Texas, sent in his transfer transcript and was accepted last week.

"This is terrible," said Mrs. Lonly Wantaman, registrar of the state's only sex-restricted university—until last week—in a special interview to the Squadron.

"I just don't think that our girls are ready to cope with the problems of a coed college. They come here to get away from males and they deserve the chance to do just that," continued Mrs. Wantaman.

The interview was momentarily interrupted by a mass of screaming, clawing and fighting Tessies clamoring at the front of the Administration Building to know if the rumor was true. Mrs. Wantaman raised her window and shouted that it was true. In the ensuing demonstration of ecstasy the entire campus was reduced to rubble.

The registrar said that the mistake had resulted from carelessness in the processing of admission cards. Glotz's card was inserted in TWU's Mark II computer and by the time it is finished being processed, it will be too late to tell Glotz no.

TWU officials have been in constant communication with Glotz trying to get him to change his mind. Housing seems to be one of the main problems. Glotz was accidentally given a room with Miss Melinda Smerdly in Glepps Hall.

Miss Smerdly, 6'2", 245 lb. physical education major from Long Mott, was delighted at the prospect.

"All I have to do is convince two people that we are married and by the time we're seniors I'll have the grounds for a common-law marriage. This is just too good to be true. I may not have to be an old maid after all," said Miss Smerdly.

When Glotz was asked why he had done it, he replied, "I was tired of A&M getting all the kidding and decided to transfer the point

12th Man To Sit At Games; Mouselow Changes Tradition

From now on the Twelfth Man will sit during football games instead of standing as they have in past years.

Mighty Mouselow, head cheer leader, said he made the decision on the spur-of-the-moment and that it could not be changed.

"I made the decision on the spur-of-the-moment and it cannot be changed," Mouselow said.

"My reason for making this change is to give former students something else to gripe about," noted Mouselow.

The Great Leader of the Cheer—all 4'9" of him—told members of the press at his weakly press conference that it is not as bad as it sounds.

"It is not as bad as it sounds," Mouselow told the newsmen. "There are several pleasing aspects of the decision, but I can't remember any of them right now," the tiny giant with the little big mouth admitted.

"Oh, yes," Mouselow recalled, "now I recall one. Since we now have Maggies, their dresses would blow on a windy day if they stood, and the announcers in the press box would drop their microphones and the newspapermen would spill beer all over their typewriters. The cheer leaders wouldn't be able to concentrate on leading cheer with all those dresses blowing around, of interest somewhere else. The food can't be that much worse either."

"Also, what kind of a future has a male homemaking major got at A&M. I am going to go somewhere where I am appreciated," concluded Glotz.

It is an understatement to say that Glotz will be appreciated.

Women To Get No. 16, 20, 22

Three of the new dorms have been set aside for co-eds, J. P. (Handy) Gan, Dean of Students, said tomorrow.

(Handy) Gan said the dorms which will house the girls are dorm 16, which will be between dorm 15 and 17; dorm 20, which will be surrounded by dorms 18, 19, and 21; and dorm 22, which will be next to Walton Hall.

The Deenie said this arrangement will help the male students considerably as they will not need field glasses to gaze upon the beauty of the campus. Also, he added, the Saturday panty raid will be in the area where both sexes live and this will keep the Kampus Kops from bothering the activities.

(Handy) Gan said the Saturday PW (the Core's abbreviation of play war) will be changed to PR, or panty raid.

The dorms will be conspicuously marked with the new numbers until the male students get used to them.

Since friction may arise between the Core and non-regs, (Handy) Gan said non-Core students will occupy dorm 15, 21 and Walton. This will leave dorms 17 and 18 for the Army and Air Farce cadettes.

Other features of the area will be lounges where all-night parties will be held. He said this will be laid out in the new articles of the Kiddie Core. The frustrated dean added that beer and pretzels will be furnished by the Young Mens Un-christian Society every night except Friday and Saturday.

(Handy) Gan said he expects a rush of co-eds to live in the area unless the local manufacturers of over-wear up the prices on them during the panty raid season between September and August. He added that if the price is upped, someone may be embarrassed if the wrong things are thrown out.

Another feature of the new area will be a telescope placed on top of Walton Hall and dorm 17, said Mrs. Patty, secretary for the Deenie. She said this would enable the school to pay off the debts incurred the next fifty years with the one cent cost for observing the stars. She added that the co-eds have asked for transparent shades to let the moonlight in during the early hours of night.
