Grodeo Slated On Friday By Daring Thicks

The annual Aggie Grodeo, sponsored by Spartan Vending Co., will get underway Friday morning and go through late Sunday night, announced Coach Blank Foldup and his staff of athletic supporters.

Foldup said the slate of events will be elbow-bending, armpit smelling, moose riding and nose roping. The three-days of repulsion will begin Friday morning at the Hitching Post with the elbow-bending and armpit smelling contests. From there the Grodeo will move to the Clay Pits for the remainder of the program.

Entered in elbow bending are Chugalug Reagan, Sudsy Carpenter and Censored Latham. The event will be judged by Brownie Bourbon. Sickly Whitley, Jim Killenburp and Vodka Collins, coached by Tonic Handler, will be in the armpit smelling.

All of the Aggies have qualified for the moose riding event in other meets, and enough mooses will be on hand for each one.

One of the most hotly contested events should be the nose roping event. Snorky Moore, Crude McLane and Nostrils Nilson will fight for the nose title. Juell Crawford will be the honorary judge.

A special game, the camel dogging, will be played between the Persian Institute of Social Studies and the Siberian Higher Institute of Technology. Joe Smith of the Ubanga Territory is the Persian star and teammate Harry Jones is noted as the nation's top camel mounter.

Koaches officiating the Grodeo are Scappy Mitclaps, Charlie Horse, Elmer Fudd, Jack Censored and Dick Joshin.

Cadets To Snark With Bailiff Bares

The Aggies hitch hike to the Baptist Bastian of Waco Wednesday to challenge the Bailiff Bares in a Southwest Clique snarking match.

Coach Tonic Handler feels his squad isn't ready for the contest but doesn't have much choice. "Our water boy is suffering from a torn muscle in his wrist and our batboy has leprosy but I guess they'll both play. Of course we'll be praying for rain as usual."

Project Chump Takes Gas

"Chump" is in the process of being flushed. The project, organized by The Squadron to buy rabbitball coach Scappy Mitclaps an oceanliner, has been revised.

Due to a diminishing number of donations, the fund has been re-targeted to aim for a go-kart. Few contributions have been received thus far.

Under these circumstances the project will fail.

Contributors will be listed in The Squadron. Coach Mitclaps sure needs an oceanliner.

Scappy has done a great job and is specially well-liked by the press.

His press conference comments are guaranteed to bring laughs.

In Dallas he explained how A&M finances its rabbitball program—with close games and pay toilets.

The "Chump" project doesn't deserve any support at all. But you know how those things are. Once it's started we really look bad when it falls flat on its derriere. So come on and put out so we won't be put out.

Aggie Hunters Win Annual Easter Tilt With Exciting Close

A&M's cellar-dwelling Hunt Club pulled the upset of the season Sunday beating the Texas (pronounced Tay-hoss) Bigmouths 17-16 in their nationally televised Easter Egg Hunt.

In a dramatic finish, the Aggies found two striped eggs in the closing 10 seconds to pull out the victory.

High scorer for the Maroon was Hew Heffer who gathered in seven eggs and three bunnies. The defense was led by Twinkle Toes Ruballa who squashed four Teasip eggs and filched five more.

Wonder Wart Hare, TU All-American egg finder and custard chunker, broke his bifocals and was ejected for fighting with the referee's seeing eye dog.

Cadet Coach Phil "Bugs" Bryant was elated at the win and twitched his ears rapidly as he complimented the squad.

"Boy, oh boy. Just wait till next year. Our boys hunted their hearts out. This is without a doubt the greatest litter I have had the privilege to coach."

Exciting things are happening everywhere at Ford Motor Company!

After Ford's spectacular debut in last year's Indianapolis 500-mile race, many people wondered what we would come up with next. Well it's here! Ford Motor Company engineers have developed a brand-new V-8 especially for this year's competition at Indy. Although it's the same size as the 1963 version, this racing engine is a much "livelier" performer because of four overhead gear-driven camshafts and other refinements. Overall results of these revolutionary changes: an increase of at least 44 horses, delivering 420 hp or more at 8,000 rpm.

Ford engineers met many challenges in developing this engine. But this is just typical of the challenges being accepted every day by our employees . . . that's what makes Ford Motor Company such an exciting place to work. And not only in engineering. Exciting opportunities exist in manufacturing, finance, sales, marketing, industrial relations, purchasing, traffic, product planning, styling and research. All types of career opportunities for all types of graduates. If you're looking for an interesting career—look to Ford Motor Company. A growing company in a growing industry.
