

'Howzat' Will Echo Across Campus As A&M Plays TU Saturday Morning

Aggies Saturday will see an unusual sporting event. The A&M Cricket Club hosts the University of Texas club in an exhibition match scheduled at 10:45 a.m. on the main drill field in front of the Memorial Student Center.

Cricket fans clap instead of yelling over play by the 11-man teams.

"Oh, well fielded, sir," is the proper thing to say if a fielder plays well.

"SPECIAL information sheets are ready for distribution to all who come out to see the match," Coach John Griffiths said. The A&M faculty member and devoted cricket fan also will announce and explain the game over a public address system. Two innings will be played and the game will end sometime Saturday afternoon.

"I will invite people to ask questions which I'll answer over the public address system," Griffiths said.

Playing captain of the A&M team is H. R. (Bob) Hesketh, a graduate student in poultry science from England. The vice captain is M. V. Kudchadker, a graduate student in chemistry from India.

THE LONGHORNS defeated the Aggies in a "reasonably close," match played in Austin Feb. 8.

"The whole nature of the game can change in five minutes," Griffiths said.

"We're playing more like a team and less like individuals," the coach said Thursday.

Cricket essentially is a contest between the bowler or pitcher and the batsman or batter.

"A batsman can be out in six different ways," Griffiths explained.

Prof Invited To Nuclear Confab

Dr. Robert G. Cochran, head of the A&M Nuclear Engineering Department, is one of 20 university professors from the United States invited to attend the first Astronuclear Engineering Conference at Purdue University, April 13-15.

Ag Band Director Will Judge Contest

A&M University's Band director, Lt. Col. E. V. Adams, will judge marching and playing contests in Texas and Louisiana this month.

Colonel Adams will serve as a concert judge at the Interscholastic League's regional contest at Galena Park April 10 and 11.

On April 25, he will be one of two band evaluators at the Holiday in Dixie parade in Shreveport.

Director of A&M's band for 18 seasons, Colonel Adams has traveled across the nation to judge band competitions.

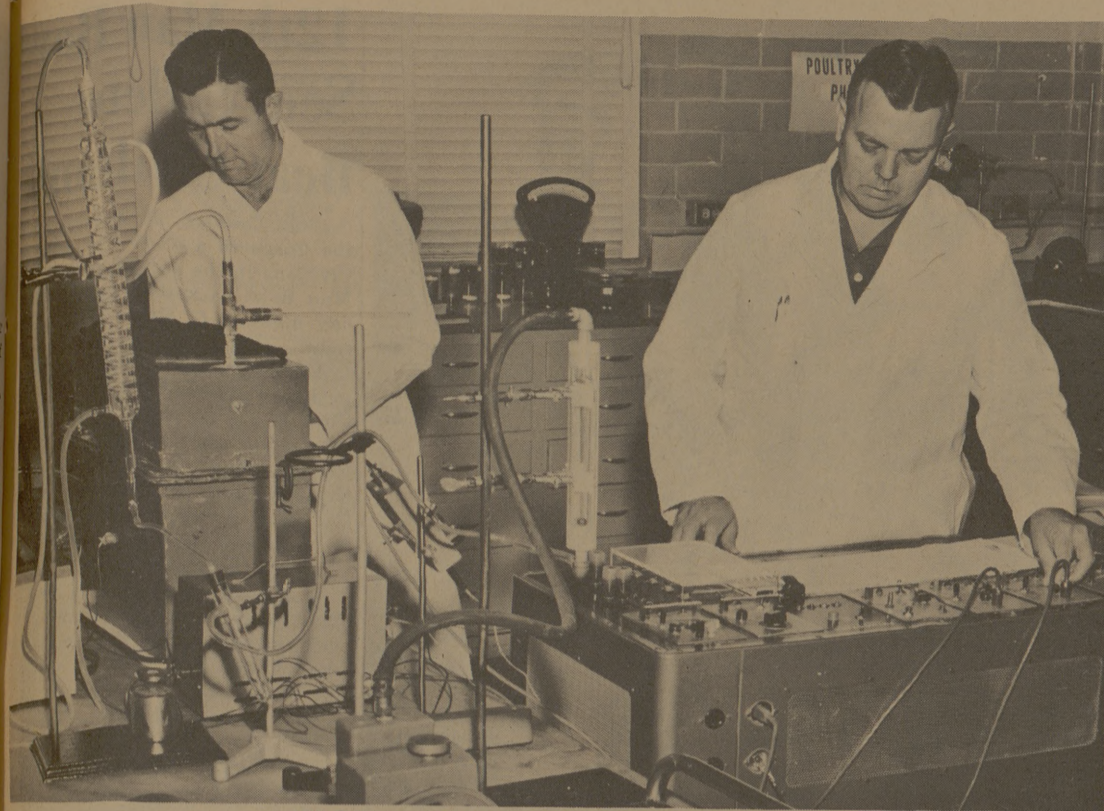

7 Counselors Elected

Faculty members of the A&M University College of Arts and Sciences have elected seven fellow professors to the new Faculty Advisory Council.

The new council will "serve as a deliberative and advisory body to develop ideas and to recommend programs for the improvement and development of the College of Arts and Sciences," Dean Frank Hubert said.

Professor Sam Hoyle, chairman of the election committee, reported the winners in the runoff election: George Martin Krise, representative for the natural sciences; John Q. Hays, humanities; Walter A. Varvel, social sciences; and Edwin Doran, Jr., Joe S. Ham and A. F. Isbell, representatives at large.

William A. Luker, representative for business administration, completes the council membership.

Chicken Respiration Apparatus

Texas A&M poultry scientists operate a complex apparatus designed to determine amount of moisture given off when a chicken breathes. John Bradley, left, stands behind a sealed chamber containing a hen. Dr. Tom Ferguson mans a physiograph, a device that records the bird's heart and breathing rates.

Distant Relative Of Kennedy Was British Captain In '76

Dr. Neil R. Stout of the A&M University history faculty is author of "Captain Kennedy and the Stamp Act," a study of a Royal Navy captain whose ancestral clan and castle involves in some degree

Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy.

"Captain Archibald Kennedy's career in the Royal Navy was endangered in 1766 when the British government sought to make him the scapegoat for the failure of the Stamp Act in New York," Dr. Stout said.

KENNEDY successfully defended himself against the charge of "lack of zeal for His Majesty's service," and later became commander of the British naval forces in North America.

Kennedy, a native American, was arrested for British sympathies during the American Revolution. After the war he moved to England, where he became eleventh earl of Cassilis in 1792.

The historical family seat of the Kennedy clan, Culzean Castle in Scotland, contains a 16-room apartment given to General Eisenhower by the Scottish people after V-E Day.

Dr. Stout's article, published in the quarterly "New York History," is based on Captain Kennedy's papers discovered while doing research in the British Public Record Office, London.

Trustee Meet Slated Here

School officials from 18 counties will lead group meetings at the April 13 school trustee workshop at A&M University.

The workshop is sponsored by the Texas Association of School Boards and A&M.

"Local Leadership for Public Education" is the general theme, followed by group meetings to discuss common problems.

Mrs. Will Miller of Corsicana, a member of the State Board of Education, will be among the speakers.

Workshop director is J. B. (Dick) Hervey, executive secretary of the A&M Association of Former Students, and a member of the Association School Board's executive committee. Professor Grady Parker of A&M's Department of Education and Psychology is workshop coordinator.

Local leaders for the group meeting include Supt. Alton O. Bowen, Trustee Charles D. Hart, and Business Manager Leon Hayes of the Bryan schools;

Supt. W. Taylor Reidel, Trustee John B. Longley and Tax Assessor-Collector William R. Miller of the A&M Consolidated Schools;

Bat Research Starts June 1

A three-man research team from A&M University will begin another phase of an extensive free-tailed bat study June 1.

They will drive from College Station to Central American countries to continue a three-year search for free-tailed bats as part of a project sponsored by the National Institutes of Health.

Dr. Dillard Carter of the A&M Wildlife Management Department, Robert W. Adams of College Station and Donald R. Patten of Bryan, students, will visit Panama, Columbia, Ecuador and Peru during the summer months.

FOR MORE than two years now, members of the wildlife department have studied habits and collected specimen throughout Latin America in an attempt to learn more about the kinds, distribution and habits of the free-tailed bats.

A species of bats found in East Texas supposedly travels south in the late spring, although the A&M research team has been unable to locate them in Mexico or other Latin American countries.

"JUST recently," Dr. Carter said, "American military personnel collected free-tailed bats in Panama that are supposed to be the same as those in this area."

"Our first stop next June," added, "will be to visit the Panama area where these bats have been found."

Wildlife Students Slate Reptile Meet

At least 20 graduate and undergraduate wildlife management students will be participating in the annual Texas Herpetological Society meeting April 18-20 to be held ten miles north of Orange.

A&M students will be competing with students from Texas, Texas Tech, Baylor and Southwest Texas State for the greatest number and variety of reptiles and amphibians that they can catch Friday and Saturday. Various high schools and other amateur herpetologists will be competing also.

Sunday morning each groups collection will be judged and certificates will be awarded to the winners. A&M will be trying for a repeat performance of last year when they captured first place.

Residents of the Orange area will be invited to view the display of reptiles Sunday morning.

has the church SERVED ITS PURPOSE?

Depressing sight, isn't it? And what is it we say when something old, familiar, once-cherished, once-useful has succumbed to the ravages of time? It served its purpose!

Could all the churches in our town someday look like this? They could! Maybe they will... if they have served their purpose... if we don't need them anymore!

Even if you haven't been getting to church of late, I think you'll protest that we DO need our churches. We need the truth they teach — the faith they instill — the hope they inspire — the God-given strength with which they undergird our life. This is the very point: We ALL need our churches.

And to bring ALL of us to realize and fulfill our need... That is their purpose!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
