

Human Nutrition Workshop Set For Campus May 4-8

Prominent speakers from research biochemistry and nutrition, health, medicine, dental science and family living will be featured in the third Human Nutrition Workshop May 4-8 at A&M University.

County home demonstration agents from throughout Texas' 12 Extension Service districts have registered for the workshop, to be held in Memorial Student Center A&M and the Extension Service are sponsoring the educational event.

"Nutrition Over the Life Span" will be the program theme. Dr. J. B. Maxfield, M.D., of Dallas will deliver a lecture to veterinary radiology students at 11 a.m., May 6.

The doctor will discuss radiation therapy, his special field of research and practice. All Military Science III students interested in the Army Aviation Flight Training Program next year should plan to take the Flight Aptitude Test to be given here May 9, Maj. W. T. Gordon, aviation officer of the Army ROTC unit, has announced.

No makeup examination will be given for the test scheduled at 8:30 a.m. May 9 in Room 205 of the Military Science Annex, he said.

Physics teachers from colleges in 14 states across the nation will come to A&M June 1-Aug 21 for the second of a proposed three-summer program in physics.

The National Science Foundation sponsors the program to be attended this year by 31 persons Dr. James G. Potter, Department of Physics and program head, said. The junior college and college teachers will study higher mathematics and advanced physics.

About 1,200 high school Future Farmers of America members will compete at A&M Saturday in the final State FFA Judging Contest. The youngsters are members of 400 teams representing 300 high school vocational agriculture departments. Contests include judging of livestock, dairy cattle, dairy products, poultry and meats.

John Holcomb, associate professor in the A&M Agricultural Education Department and contest chairman, said the teams are winners of recent area judging contests.

Some 40 members of the Graduate Education Club recently toured the Ferguson Unit for Youthful Offenders of the Texas Department of Corrections in Madison County.

The field trip headed by club president Jack Singley of Stillwater, Okla., was made at the invitation of Warden Jack Kyle of the Ferguson Unit.

Dr. Paul Hensarling, head of the Department of Education and Psychology, is club advisor.

Sixteen persons from four states are currently enrolled in a heavy construction equipment operator's school conducted by A&M University's Engineering Extension Service.

The students will learn to use various road building and other machinery during classes which last from four to 16 weeks, Al Jones, an instructor, pointed out. Organized in 1957, the school has produced more than 700 graduates.

Oceanography Pro Tours Washington

Expected to return Wednesday from Washington and the annual conference (air-sea interaction) of the National Research Council is Dr. Guy A. Franceschini of the Department of Oceanography and Meteorology.

Dr. Franceschini went to Washington Friday after visiting the Lamar State College of Technology campus as a part of the visiting scientist program of the Sigma Xi society.

Six members of the A&M faculty attended the Texas State Historical Association annual meeting in Austin. They were professors H. H. Lang, Allan C. Ashcraft, Thomas L. Miller, A. Ray Stephens, Victor H. Treat and J. M. Nance.

Dr. Nance is a member of the association's executive council.

Dr. James G. Potter, head of Department of Physics, will attend a meeting of Regional Counselors of the American Association of Physics Teachers-American Institute of Physics program to aid to physics instruction May 9.

Potter is one of 47 unpaid volunteers from 45 states, Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. who serve as counselors for high school physics programs.

The group is concerned with education, recruitment and steps of competent physics teachers. They will discuss the appropriate of enrollment in high school physics courses.

Treated Dust Mats Cut Cleaning Bills

Floor mats treated to remove dust from shoes have been placed at entrances to nine A&M University buildings to test this method of lowering maintenance costs.

Buildings and Utilities Supt. Walter H. Parsons said the idea is one picked up visiting maintenance supervisors on other campuses.

"It cost $475 to remove one pound of dirt from a building," he said. "If we reduce the waxing cycle by one time each year, it will pay for these mats, plus keep floors better looking.

The mats have been placed in University Services, Veterinary Science, System Administration, Petroleum Engineering, Biological Science, Academic and Animal Industries Buildings and Fermier and Francis Halls.

Pinky Lists Total

A total of 48,471 visitors were on the A&M campus in the months of June, July, August, September, October, November and December, 1963, and January, February, March and April 1964, reports P. L. Downs, official greeter of the university.

The university had 901,153 visitors on the campus for scheduled meetings and other activities for the 14-year period eleven months from June 1949, to May 1, 1964, Downs pointed out.

Mother's Day Activities Set By Churches

The A&M Church of Christ will hold its annual speech contest Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The contest, sponsored by Ed Montgomery, a Houston dentist, is open to students of any Church of Christ. First place winner will receive $25, second place $15, and third and fourth place winners will receive $10 and $5 respectively.

The speeches will be on a Bible topic and must be eight to 10 minutes long. They will be judged on organization, presentation and content.

The A&M Church of Christ invites all interested students to attend a Youth Meeting at 7:30 p.m., May 9, where Wyatt Sawyer, author of "Most the Younger Die Too," will be the speaker. Sawyer will come from Dallas where he is minister of Wynnewood Church of Christ.
