flying around for the past week over the probation mess of Fry and Royal, the crying of the two SWC members has almost drowned out the sobs coming from Houston and the Cougar Den.

Every person I have seen in print has fallen in line behind Cougar Hi and said what a nasty deal the U of H had received from Pitzer and crew at Rice. Therefore I cannot resist the temptation to be different. And I believe that there are many other people on this campus that feel the same as I do.

I guess I have just lived in Houston too long and can remember too well the cries from that great bastion of learning in years past as they heaped belittling remarks on the eight schools of the SWC and stated that they had rather lose to the giants in the East.

Now that the money is right and after emerging from a 2-8 season the Cougars come demanding, not asking, admittance. I guess I feel that they just haven't earned it.

No, I just can't find any tears for Cougar Hi. I have heard POOOOOOOR AGGGGGGGGES too many times. In short, Gig 'em, Rice.

At the risk of turning this column into something resembling "The Perils of Pearl Pure-Heart," I can't resist informing my readers, if indeed there are any, of the latest innovation to immerge from the Reynolds mind. Ever since I came to A&M I have engaged in a letter-writing campaign that has been second only to the John Birchers' assulds on the capitol of our nation.

With all the flak that has been It doesn't matter who I write to; = girls, parents, old friends, new friends and people that I don't even know. I have often sat down and just written to sweet young things whose name I find in school's directory.

I have taken much kidding on this subject from many of my friends on the Batt staff this year, but it pays off in one major way. I get letters and they don't. In fact, some times I get too many of them back and I feel obliged to answer them one and all

This is where the problem comes in. What with all the answers I have to make, I often don't have time to start any new acquaintances. I have just finished plans on a solution to my problems.

It is known as the Reynolds News Letter. It is memeographed and by crossing out various portions I can send one to just about anyone I want and still have it personal enough to hit home. It starts off this way:

Dear (Mom and Dad, insert girl's name, buddy, to whom it may concern), Just thought I would drop you a line to let you know (every thing is fine, I miss you, I hate your guts, I need money). I arose (this morning, this evening, heaven-knows-when) and took (gas on) my quiz. Made a (A. B, C, D, F). Because of this I will be in (Denton, Austin, Huntsville, Houston) this weekend and would ( rather not, like to) see you and let you help me (celebrate, drown my sorrows, solve my financial troubles). Your (son, buddy, lover, ex-

Viet Nam Air Force Receives New Aircraft For Guerrillia War

PEARL HARBOR (AP) - Defense Secretary Robert S. Mc-Namara said Wednesday the strength and firepower of the Vietnamese air force were being increased for the war against Communist guerillas.

Winding up his fifth visit to South Viet Nam, he told newsmen in Saigon that preparations were being made to receive 75 new AD6 fighter-bombers, propeller-driven craft built by Douglas.

Even while McNamara was flying to Pearl Harbor en route to Washington, the Air Force said the first of 75 rugged Navy Skyraiders were headed for Viet Nam to replace older U. S. planes that have been called obsolete.

The defense secretary predict-effort, but warned again that it will be a long-drawn-out affair and "we should not delude ourselves on this score." He said on arrival at Pearl Harbor, however, that he had never estimated the possible length of the Viet Nam war. Some eariler reports from Saigon — not by The Associated Press — quoted him as saying the war would last from five to 10 years.

'I was misquoted in Saigon," said the secretary. "There are tapes available of the press conference for you to hear.

"The Viet Nam war will be a long and hard war. But at no time have I ever indicated how long I think it may last.'

"Under a new regulation, the big gate at the main entrance and the gate at the north end of the campus will be locked every evening at 6:45 and will remain locked locked until morning. This was made necessary because so many times the two main gates have been left open and herds of neighboring cattle come into the grounds and have been grazing on flowers and shrubs, and preventing any progress in the work of beautifying the campus."

Editor, The Battalion:

Congratulations to William R. Buckelew '65, David P. Manion '65, Michael Blackwell '65, Michael I. Wier '65, and Robert L. Gibson '65 for their letter in the May 12th edition of The Houston Chronicle, which corrected the false concept of "Maggies" presented in an article May 3, by Mary Rice Brogan.

The opinions expressed in their letter are the exact feelings shared by the large majority of us in the Cadet Corps and the many people I have talked with in my hometown of Fort Worth. The people of Texas should know that we have not accepted the brand of being just another "Coed U." without bitter resentment.

This is not "stirring up the ashes." The resentment is as strong as ever. The label of "standing in the way of progress" to those opposed to coeducation has kept many silent. Yet the ones opposed to coeducation are ones who love A&M the most and are the proudest to be known as an AGGIE.

Editor,

The Battalion: This letter is addressed to the sophomores in the College of Arts and Sciences. Or more specifically, to those in this category who want a voice in the Student Senate next year. If you feel that the College of Arts and Sciences should play a greater role in the A&M scheme of things, if you believe that regular attendance of the Senate

Editor. The Battalion: When you go to the polls this Thursday, you will find my name, Ron Pate, listed as a candidate for the Election Commission from the Junior Class. Certain election reforms are mandatory for the student body to effectively participate in our student government. The election process can easily be sped up by embossing the identification card each time a student votes. The embossed I. D. cards would cancel the necessity of the present roll books to determine qualified voters. The moving of the voting machines is another reform needed in our voting process. The two reforms would enable the election to be handled quickly and systematically without the necessity of long Remember, Ron Pate needs
