"Where Aggies Trade"

SPIRITED SPRING SESSION

A&M's Football Future Finer

BY MAYNARD ROGERS
With 24 returning lettermen, including 15 seniors, generating some spirit this spring, Coach Hank Foldberg and his staff will point to the 1964 Aggie football campaign with "guarded optimism."

That catch-all phrase has been the outlook for Aggie football teams in many passed seasons, but after Foldberg's most enthusiastic spring session since his arrival to the Brazos Bottom the Aggie taskmaster feels things may be looking better.

Foldberg and his staff, moving into their third A&M season, contend they had the finest spring training since they've been here, primarily because of the squad's attitude, spirit and dedication. Those three words — attitude, spirit and dedication — have become as much of a way of life in the A&M Athletic Dept. lately as wind sprints after practice, and they did a lot in bringing Southwest Conference basketball and baseball championships to Aggieland.

After a disappointing season in 1963 that produced a 2-7-1 record, the Maroon can't help but want something more in '64, and Foldberg and the squad believe they can get it.

For the second straight season, the Aggie eleven will open with four tough opponents that could kill some teams for the rest of the year. Marked in order are LSU, University of Houston, Texas Tech and Southern California.

But the Aggies will be drawing from a fine McLHANEY freshman team of last fall for the needed depth in the early season games. Shuffling of positions during the spring for balance and smoother attack was made by some players, and with little or no trouble in the transitions.

Budgie Ford switched from halfback to fullback, and should run tough inside or in daylight. Guard Melvin Simmons moved to tackle for added strength in a formerly weak position, and Ken McLean jumped back to his old playing slot at end from fullback. The quarterback slot is in the best situation since Hank's arrival. Pasadena senior Danny McIlhane is number one boy, with size, speed, strength and savvy. His poise keeps him ahead of challengers Jim Willenborg, Charles LaGrange, Eddie McKaughan and Harry Ledbetter.

Maroon Judo Aces Set For AAU Meet

The A&M University Judo Club journeys to Bastrop Saturday to compete in the state AAU judo meet.

Last Saturday, the club met James Connally Air Force Base in Waco in a series of informal matches. Prior to the matches in Waco, a pair of local black belt instructors held a clinic for the Aggies.

The Ags are paced by Lee Taylor and Larry Stephens, the club's black belt player-coach.

Lettermen's Group Fetes Inductees

The A&M University "T" Association banquet was held Thursday night to honor the forty-three new members recently selected for the group.

Officers for next year have been chosen by the Aggie letterman's group. They include: Jim Willenborg, President; Paul Timmins, Vice-President; John Collins, Secretary-Treasurer; David Glover, Publicity Chairman; and Ronney Moore, Sergeant-at-Arms. Next year's new members include letterman from five sports.

Future Aggies Star In Track

They say it's the little things in life that count, but some of the big things can't exactly be sneezed at. Like for instance a pair of high school seniors who are on their way to Aggieland—Rotan's Howard Van Loon and Greenville's Max Mainord.

The final state track marks show both to be at the top or near the top in their specialty. Yet neither will own a cinderman scholarship.

Van Loon is a football future but holds the best mark in Texas and the nation in the shot put—64-5½. Mainord is a product of basketball coach Shelby Metcalf's efforts. The 6-4 jumping jack also has high jumped 6-5, good enough for second ranking in state records.

Track coach Charley Thomas should be smiling.

Mainord was an all-state cager for two years in Class AAA, all-district three years and the most valuable player in the East Texas basketball tourney. The Greenville star, who was sought by more than 40 colleges, averaged 17 points per game in three years of competition.

Mays Held Hitless As Colts Win 4-3; Take Giant Series

HOUSTON (AP)—Willie Mays was held hitless for the first time in 21 games as the Houston Colts edged the National League leading San Francisco Giants 4-3 Thursday night on Al Spangler's tie-breaking single in the eighth inning.

Mays was handcuffed in four trips to the plate by Bob Bruce as his average plummeted 19 points to .449. It was the first time Mays had been held hitless since April 16, when he was stopped by St. Louis' Curt Simmons in the third game of the season.

Bruce struck out 10 and brought his record to 4-1 with Hal Woodeshick's relief help in the ninth.

The Colts scored the winning run in the eighth when John Bate-man led off with a walk against Bob Shaw. Billy Pierce then took over for the Giants. Pete Runnels batted for Bruce and hit into a force play. Eddie Kasko then singled to right and Runnels raced to third when Matty Alou fumbled the ball. One out later, Spangler singled.

Swimming Classes Open Registration

Registration begins Monday for the first six week session of the summer swimming program of the College Station Recreational Council.

The registration time period is from 4:00 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. lasting Monday through Friday at P. L. Downs Natatorium. Classes begin June 1.

Beginning swimmers must be six years of age. It is also required that they be 51 inches tall or able to swim 30 feet. Anyone possessing a certain amount of swimming ability should come prepared to swim for Coach Art Adamson so that they may be placed in the proper class.

Competitive level classes will also be held this year.

Jacky Cupit, winner of the 1964 Tucson Open, is the youngest of five golfing brothers.

Toney Penna, a native of Italy, is regarded as one of the nation's foremost designers of golf clubs.

We'd like to say some nice things about America's young adult drivers

And we think we've got good reason! Last January, we selected twenty 18- and 19-year-old young men and women through the Junior Achievement program to drive our team of Chevrolets in the Mobil Economy Run, April 3-9. It was the first time any company had relied entirely on drivers with limited experience in this exacting competition.

We brought these young adults—most of them college students, some from the business world—to Arcadia, California, in late February. For six weeks, our expert teachers trained them in the skills of economy driving.

Then, on April 3, they set off on the Run, 3,243 miles from Los Angeles to New York.

We were going against the grain. It takes high proficiency to win the Mobil Economy Run. Competition is tough. Why did we rely on drivers with such limited experience?

Chevrolet wanted to give the Chevy Teen Team a chance to prove in front of the nation that they and the 6.5 million licensed drivers in their age bracket are safe, sane people behind the wheel. We felt the Run offered a splendid chance.

The Corvair, Chevy IIs, Chevelles and Chevrolets driven by the Chevy Teen

Team in the Mobil Economy Run did remarkably well compared with the class winners in overall miles-per-gallon figures. The final results are a tribute to the high degree of driving skill displayed by the Chevy Teen Team representing the youth of America.

No wonder we're proud of America's young adult drivers. We couldn't have a better reason.
