

Polls Remain Open Until 6 For 3 Senate Seats

Polls will remain open until 6 tonight for elections to fill three vacancies on the Student Senate, reported Charles E. Wallace, election chairman.

The three positions opened are recording secretary, senior representative from the School of Engineering and sophomore representative from the School of Agriculture.

Only one student filed for the recording secretary position. This portion of the election is opened for all students to vote, including graduate students. The filing was accepted from Daniel H. Fischer.

The two other positions have two candidates filing for each opening.

Filing for the position of senior representative from the School of Engineering were Michael Wier and Richard Moore, while Eugene Riser and Eddie Joe Davis filed for the opening for sophomore representative from the School of Agriculture.

Only students in senior level in the School of Engineering will be eligible to vote for the two candidates in that field, while only sophomores in the School of Agriculture can vote for that position.

Voting polls are placed in the hall in front of the Gift Shop in the Memorial Student Center.

"Before students will be allowed to cast their vote, they will have to present their identification cards," said Wallace.

Breakfast Starts UF Toward Goal

The 10-day College Station United Fund Campaign was off to a running start Tuesday.

Half of the 90 workers attending a kickoff breakfast in Memorial Student Center pledged one day's pay to the drive.

Total pledges at the breakfast hit $1,945 or more than 10 per cent of the $19,000 goal, Pieter Groot, treasurer, reported.

Who's Who Deadline Set

Forms for the nomination of students to be listed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities" must be filed not later than Thursday, Dean of Students James P. Hannigan announced.

Thirty-seven will be chosen as the nominees from A&M.

Nomination blanks are available at these offices or from deans and other members of the University Executive Committee.

"All that is needed to make the nomination is to fill in the name of the nominees," Dean Hannigan said.

The Who's Who Selection Committee composed of nine students, faculty and staff members will screen the nominees and late in October submit a list from A&M.

Soviet Expert To Speak

Predicted A-Ban, Sino-Soviet Rift

A commentator and speaker on relations with the Soviet Union and Red China, will address students and faculty as the first speaker for the 1964-65 Great Issues Series.

Leon Volkov, top level expert on Soviet affairs, will speak at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom.

As Soviet Affairs editor for Newsweek magazine, Volkov follows Soviet dignitaries on tours of the United States. He was the first observer in the first stages of the Sino-Soviet rift in 1958. Volkov accurately predicted Premier Khrushchev would seek a partial test-ban agreement.

In addition to covering regular meetings with diplomatic officials dealing with Soviet affairs, he also covers all U. S. - USSR cultural exchange events, meeting performing artists, writers and scientists traveling under the program.

A playwright of note, Volkov has had three plays produced off Broadway with subsequent productions at Harvard, in England and Denmark.

Two of his plays were produced on Moscow's professional stage before World War II.

The Russian-born writer served in the Red Air Force during World War II, ending the war as a lieutenant colonel. In August, 1945, while on a Soviet military mission in Germany, Volkov parachuted to safety in the French zone from a plane that crashed and left few survivors.

First French reports said all occupants of the plane were killed.

Volkov's escape served as a basis for William L. White's "Land of Milk and Honey." Later, under a pseudonym, Volkov wrote a series of articles for the Saturday Evening Post entitled "Stalin thinks I'm Dead." His latest article for the Post is called "The Intellectual Ferment Behind the Iron Curtain."

His articles also have been published in the Reader's Digest, Look, Pageant, Commentary and the British literary magazine, Encounter.

A&M students will be admitted to the address with student activity books. Other admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for public school students and Aggie wives.

Noted Army General To See Corps Review

The Commanding General of the Continental Army of the United States will review the Corps of Cadets Saturday.

General Hugh P. Harris will watch the march of the Corps at 10 a. m., following a briefing by Dean of Students James P. Hannigan and the Department of Military Science. Following the review, General Harris will brunch with cadet leaders before attending a luncheon at Briarcrest Country Club honoring J. B. Hervey, former executive secretary of the Association of Former Students.

A briefing for General Harris is scheduled Saturday afternoon by Tom Cherry, director of business affairs, and Dr. W. J. Graff, dean of instruction.

General Harris will fly to Eastwood Airport Friday morning and be the honoree at a luncheon with the executive committee and special guests at the Memorial Student Center on campus.

Mrs. Harris will receive information about the University from Mrs. Earl Rudder, wife of the president, and the wives of the deans Friday afternoon.

General Harris assumed command of the U. S. Continental Army last March 1 after serving as commanding general of the Seventh U. S. Army since November, 1962. Prior to that time, he commanded the I Corps in Korea from Aug. 15, 1961, following an assignment as commanding general of the U. S. Army Infantry Center and the U. S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

The general holds the Distinguished Service Medal, Silver Star, Legion of Merit with two Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Commendation Medal with Metal Pendant with one Oak Leaf Cluster.

A native of Anderson, Ala., Harris was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1931. He advanced through various assignments and became Assistant G3 of the Airborne Command at Fort Bragg, N. C., during combat preparations of the 82nd, 101st, 11th and 17th Airborne Divisions and of eight separate airborne combat teams.

He was Army maneuver director for the joint Army-Air Force exercises held by these troops prior to their departure overseas. Later he spent three months as War Department observer during Allied operations in North Africa and served on several official boards which developed and determined combat doctrine to be used by airborne forces.

2 Arrested On Bribery Charge

A&M Student, Staffer Apprehended

By GLENN DROMGOOLE

An A&M foreign student was released from custody of the Brazos County Sheriff's Office early Tuesday after posting $1,000 bail on the charge of bribing a state official.

Suphachai Weoprasit, 22, of Thailand, was named Friday by Campus Security in the alleged bribery of Lynn Ray Carter, an assistant registrar.

Carter, 25, has been charged with accepting a bribe while an employee of a state agency. He was released Monday after posting $1,000 bond with Justice of the Peace Jess McGee.

The arrests followed a two-week investigation by Campus Security officers and Texas Ranger O. L. Luther of Bryan.

Carter allegedly took advantage of his position with the Data Processing Center to make changes on Weoprasit's grade record. Carter, at the time of the alleged offense, was a tabulating equipment operator in the center. He was moved to the assistant registrar's post Sept. 1.

Registrar H. L. Heaton suspended Carter Thursday. The incident supposedly occurred following the 1964 spring semester. Carter is alleged to have accepted $100 from the Thailand student in exchange for changing a failing grade to a passing grade.

Two checks for $50 each from Weoprasit were deposited in Carter's bank account on June 22 and July 15 respectively, investigating officers said.

The charges were filed by County Atty. Brooks Cofer Jr. with McGee after investigating officers discovered the checks from Weoprasit to Carter.

Dr. John M. Nance, head of the Department of History and Government, discovered the grade discrepancy when he compared his department's records with the registrar's records.

Both men are awaiting 85th District Court grand jury action. Carter will be represented by former district judge W. S. Barron of Bryan. Weoprasit's attorney had not been named Tuesday.

Penalties upon conviction could be from 30 days to 10 years in prison for Carter and 30 days to five years for Weoprasit. Fines could range from $500 to $5,000.

Muller Gets Invite To Dine With LBJ

Student Senate President Frank M. Muller Jr. has been invited by President Lyndon B. Johnson to a White House reception and buffet dinner at 5 p. m. Saturday, President Earl Rudder announced Monday.

Muller, a senior majoring in English, has earned honors as a scholar, cadet and student leader.

Muller is among "a group of student leaders from representative colleges and universities throughout the country" to attend the reception.

"I was flabbergasted," Muller said of his invitation. "Elated" and "chance of a lifetime" were other immediate reactions.

President Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz and Ambassador Adlai Stevenson will speak to the students.

President and Mrs. Johnson will host the reception and their daughter, Lynda, will be hostess for the buffet dinner and entertainment.

"I have a great interest in the young leaders who are emerging in our colleges and would like to get to know them and their thinking as much as I can," the President wrote in a letter to A&M.

Muller plans to leave here about 6:15 a. m. Friday and will fly to Washington to visit his family.
