

Aggs Put Game On Line With Tech

JOE WELLBORN
... Aggie linebackers aim

The Aggies put everything on the line when they host the Texas Tech Red Raiders in Kyle Field Saturday in the first home game of the season, and the line—A&M's offensive, that is—is where Coach Hank Foldberg will be resting his hopes.

Game time for the two schools who were pre-season favorites as Southwest Conference darkhorses is 8 p.m.

Due to the Aggies marking only a puny six points in two ball outings, indicating an offensive drag, Foldberg shuffled his lineup this week like a card shark before a big game where stakes were high, and came up with new faces on the cards.

Because the Raiders suffered a beating in their 23-0 loss by the Texas Longhorns last week, Coach J. T. King, by necessity, moved players around on his black and red checkerboard for the Aggie encounter.

So, A&M's first offensive lineup should read like this at the kickoff:

The Aggie defensive will read: Ed Breeding and Rickey Whately at ends; Don West and Lindy Endsley at tackles; Jerry Pizzitola and Don Koehn at guards; Joe Wellborn and Jerry Kachtik at middle linebackers; Mike Pitman and Jerry Nichols at halfbacks; and Jim Willenborg at safety.

Westerfield, Breeding, West and Koehn are all new faces in the Aggie first lineup resulting from Foldberg's alterations.

King's Raiders had to make some adjustments this week, especially on the defensive unit where end Terry McWhortee, guard Ronnie Pack and tackle Bill Adams will be missing.

Tech's defensive unit should start Saturday with Tommy Doyle and Sam Cornelius at ends; Ronnie Reeger and John Carrell at tackles; Doug Young and James Henkel at guards; C. C. Willis and Butch Thompson at middle linebackers; Jimmy Edwards and Billy Weise at halfbacks; and Teddy Roberts at safety.

son at quarterback; Johnny Agan and Donny Anderson at halfbacks; and Jim Zanios at fullback.

Coming with the Red Raiders will be one of the most heralded backfields in the league, with All-American candidate Anderson providing the punch and spice, and Zanios adding the power and drive.

Zanios, a 210-pound senior, gave Tech the initiative in a 21-7 upset over Mississippi State for its lone win of the season. Anderson has been one of the overall team leaders all season.

Tech's aerial game rests on the arm of Wilson who has notched 156 yards with 11 completions in 20 attempts for a .550 average.

The contest will be the 23rd meeting of the schools with A&M leading the series, 15-6-1. A&M's widest margin of victory was 47-6 in 1927, while Tech's biggest win was in 1954 by 41-9.

However, in the past two seasons scores have been rather slim. The Aggies won in 1962, 7-3, thanks to a 103-yard kickoff return by McIlhany in the final 19 seconds.

Tech won in 1963 on a 10-0 decision with All-America end David Parks snagging a 46-yard pass in the end zone, and a field goal by H. L. Daniels.

Foe Tacklers Fall When Lloyd Runs

Lloyd Curington isn't the type to try to run over tacklers when he's logging the football for A&M. At a lot of would-be tacklers trip over their own feet trying to halt him.

"He makes the defense create their own mistakes more than any other we have had since I've been here," Coach Hank Foldberg says about the little sophomore swift.

Curington stands 5-11 but carries only 157 pounds on that frame. At high school (Houston Austin) he was timed at 9.8 for the 100. He was third-team all-stater there and led the A&M freshmen in rushing, but returns, kickoff returns and scoring.

Currently, after two varsity games, he leads the 1964 Aggies in rushing with 76 yards on 17 runs for a 4.5 average.

Texas wanted the little Houston dash and told him he could be another Saxton." Curington picked A&M instead. He had an older brother in school at Aggieland and, besides, he "didn't want to go somewhere to try to fill someone else's shoes."

Despite his lack of heft, Curington runs with surprising power. He broke for a 20-yard run against LSU and was dragging two Tiger tacklers when he finally was tackled. Asked if he was scared of those big guys who chase him in varsity competition, he says, "Heck no, I just try to keep away from them."

Houston's Cougars, fully aware of Curington's breakaway speed, contained him well last Friday night. He never did break for a big gain but still gained 17 yards on 7 runs and wasn't thrown for a loss all night. Most of the time he was hitting inside.

Curington observed his 20th birthday anniversary Monday (Sept. 28).

The Aggies think it would be fitting, indeed, for him to start off his 20th year with a big night against Texas Tech when the Red Raiders invade Kyle Field for a SWC contest Saturday night.

SWC Weekend

TCU-Arkansas

Expect over 25,000 for this conference opener for both teams. Game will be regionally telecast over NBC-TV. TCU's top passer, Kent Nix, may see some action after being sidelined last Saturday. Arkansas end Jim Balch is doubtful because of bruises. TCU will be seeking to break Razorback string of five straight victories over the Purple. Arkansas is undefeated after two non-conference games with Tulsa and Oklahoma State but both clashes were close. Frogs hope to end fumble troubles which have plagued them in their two earlier contests, both losses. Game matches Southwest Conference's leading rushers, Jim Fauver of TCU with 213 yards, and Razorback Jim Lindsey with 165 yards. TCU's dual offense has failed to produce a touchdown in the first two Frog encounters. TCU Coach Abe Martin has vowed that scoring drought will be ended Saturday. Hog defense which allowed Tulsa 22 first downs will be on trial.

back Jim Hudson and Defensive End Knox Nunnally. Cadet QB Rollie Stichweh is the team's offensive gun in Army's opener with Citadel. Stichweh covered over 200 yards in three plays. Texas will bring the conference's No. 1 defense into the clash. The Longhorns are still unscored upon this season, having blanked Tulane and Texas Tech. Texas Coach Darrel Royal will be seeking his 14th straight victory.

Rice-West Va.

About 30,000 expected for 8 p.m. kickoff in Houston's Rice Stadium. First meeting of the two clubs. Mountaineers are coached by Gene Corum. bring a 2-0 record into contest. SWC fans eyeing game closely to see if Owl offense resurges from disappointing night against LSU. Rice only gained 73 yards running and passing against LSU. West Virginia expected to display a typical coal mining country squad: big, strong, and rugged. Owls count heavily on linebackers Malcolm Walker and Russell Wayt, who stood out in last week's 3-0 loss to LSU. Rice soph Chuck Latourette is SWC punting leader, averaging 43.8 yards a boot. Mountaineers expected to use wing T formation with flip-flop system. Rice utilizes a multiple offense, employing the basic T with flankers, some Wing T and some I formation. Owl Coach Jess Ne-ly hopes to get his 25th anniversary season on right track.

SMU-Arl. State

The Cotton Bowl will be scene of Saturday night contest. Mustangs are overwhelming favorites. Rebels bring a 1-1 record into game, having stopped Arizona State last Saturday after a 3-0 loss in their opener against New Mexico State. SMU is 0-2 but has played two of the nation's top elevens, Florida and Ohio State. 5,000 ASC students plan to attend. Defense, quickness, and punting have been Mustang strong points thus far.

Baylor-Ore. State

Game will mark Baylor home debut. Bears were blitzed 35-14 in their opener last week by Washington. Beavers are fresh from a 14-6 verdict over Colorado. Baylor Coach John Bridgers will choose his starting quarterback from a pair of talented sophomores, Mike Marshall and Terry Southall. Bears have leading SWC offensive statistics, although netting a minus 11 yards rushing against the Huskies.

Army-Texas Clash Tops Grid Line-up

(AP)—Army tests top-rated Texas and Navy clashes with Michigan in a showdown of nationally ranked powers in feature attractions on this weekend's college football program.

The action opens Friday night with three games — Cincinnati at Detroit, New Mexico at Brigham Young and Furman at George Washington.

Army invades Texas for the first football meeting between the Cadets and Longhorns, Saturday night, with star quarterback Rolie Stichweh reportedly a question mark with an ailing ankle.

Navy's celebrated Roger Staubach also may be hampered by a sore ankle in the game at Michigan. The eighth-ranked Wolverines have a potent ground attack to throw at the sixth-ranked Middles.

Still another ace quarterback, Jimmy Sidle of Auburn, is hurting — with an injured shoulder — as the seventh-ranked Tigers prepare to take on the early-season upset king, Kentucky, at Lexington.

Even with Sidle sub-par, Auburn presents a tough problem for the Wildcats with its defense. Kentucky toppled then top-ranked Mississippi last week.

Alabama, No. 4 nationally, is at home to Vanderbilt in what should be another easy one for the Crimson Tide. 'Bama crushed Tulane last week.

The Midwest has a flock of good ones to go with Navy-Michigan. Notre Dame, back in the circle of success under Ara Parseghian, entertains a traditionally tough foe, Purdue. Southern California's slick Trojans, runner-up in this week's rankings, are at Michigan State.

Yanks Lose Double To Detroit, 4-2, 5-2

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, needing only two wins to clinch their 29th American League pennant, lost their first doubleheader of the season Thursday, bowing to Detroit 4-2 and 5-2. Denny McLain, a 20-year-old right-hander went all the way in the second with a six-hitter.

The double defeat cut the Yanks' lead over the idle Chicago White Sox to 2½ games. New York has three to play and Chicago four. The White Sox resume play Friday with a two-night doubleheader against Kansas City. The Yanks play Cleveland in one game Friday night.
