UF Campaign Hits $11,275; Closes Friday

The College Station United Chest fund campaign spurred into its final week by reaching $11,275.69 Monday.

The record first-of-the-week climb assured 59 per cent of the $19,000 goal. The campaign will close Friday.

Several A&M University departments have turned in more contributions this year than ever before, Pieter Groot, Chest treasurer, pointed out.

The Counseling and Testing Center was added to the growing list of 100 per cent participation departments.

The volunteer workers received the thanks of campaign leaders who forecast a possible early attainment of the goal.

"The attitude of both the workers and contributors has been remarkable this year," R. L. Hunt, Jr., campaign director, declared. "We are indebted to all of the workers and all who have contributed for the successful progress of the drive."

Anyone wishing to make a contribution and has not been contacted may call Hunt's office, VI 6-5776.

10 Colleges Represented At Journalism Workshop

Victoria Group Takes Top Prize

By BRUCE SPINKS
Special Writer

Select journalists from 10 junior colleges across the state attended annual newspaper and workshop sessions during the Texas Junior College Press Association Conference held on campus Monday and Tuesday.

Monday's session was highlighted by the Awards Banquet at which Victoria College was presented the 1964 Sweepstakes Award for capturing 10 individual merit certificates and 26 points. Dr. David R. Bowers, TJCPA Conference Director made the presentations.

The conference was kicked-off Monday morning in the Assembly Room of the Memorial Student Center with an address by Dr. Warren Agee, professor of journalism and Dean of the Evening School at Texas Christian University. Agee was introduced by Bob Felling, TJCPA president.

Agee, co-author of a best-selling textbook, "Introduction to Mass Communications," spoke to the junior writers on the changes in the world of journalism during the past five years in connection with a revision of his textbook.

Also speaking was Mrs. Edith King of San Antonio College who explained the virtues and defects of editorial writing.

Proper techniques of sports writing was the theme of a discussion by Britt Martin of the A&M Information office. Mrs. Maxine Wells of San Angelo College discussed news writing and Herchel Stephens talked on good feature material. Robert Knight of A&M, spoke on photography.

D'Eon Priest of the Taylor Publishing Company and Dr. Max Haddick, Director of Journalism of the Interscholastic League, led the yearbook sessions. Haddick presented critiques to the various junior colleges who had submitted annuals in competition.

Guest speaker for the evening was Hermis Nye, a Dallas attorney and folk singer.

Nye entertained the group by singing several selections of humorous folksongs including "Summer is Coming In," "Skewbald," an old Irish racing ballad, and "Roger the Miller."

Nye was born in Chicago but was reared in Kansas and holds BA and LLB degrees from the University of Kansas. He has authored a novel, "Fortune Is a Woman" and has worked as a book reviewer for many years with both the Dallas Morning News and the Dallas-Times Herald.

Colleges attending the conference were San Antonio, San Angelo, South Texas, Odessa, Howard County, Wharton, Navarro, Amarillo, Texarkana and Victoria. These schools sent 49 students and sponsors to the conference.

Soviets Hold 4 Military Attaches

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON—Three American and British military attaches were held for hours in their hotel rooms while Soviet "officials" searched their effects and confiscated some of their personal belongings — including a wrist watch—the State Department reported Monday.

This incident, which occurred in a Russian city on the Chinese border, was the latest in a series indicating stepped up Russian cloak and-dagger activity. The State Department and the British Foreign Office both delivered strong protest to Moscow. The United States called it a "flagrant violation" of diplomatic immunity.

The attaches were on their way through Siberia to Tokyo and Hong Kong. The incident began at midnight, local time, Sept. 28 in Khabarovsk, an important city in far east Siberia on the River Amur, on the Manchurian border. This is an area which the Red Chinese reportedly claim from Russia, a claim rejected by Moscow.

State Department press officer Robert McCloskey gave the following account:

A group of 15 Soviet officials "forcibly entered" the hotel room occupied by Lt. Col. Karl R. Liewer, assistant Army attache at the Moscow Embassy, and by assistant British naval attache Nigel N. Laville.

The Russians "forcibly searched" the room and the personal effects of the attaches.

Club Aid Meeting Scheduled Today

A meeting of representatives from departmental clubs eligible for club aid funds will be held at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Social Room of the Memorial Student Center.

Request sheets for aid will be distributed at the meeting, and these must be returned to the Student Finance Center in the MSC before Saturday. Club aid advisors will review all requests and will submit them to the Exchange Store Advisory Committee for final approval.

General Calls Corps 'Fine Group'

The Corps of Cadets "passed" the year's first review Saturday in front of a General.

General Hugh P. Harris watched the review of the Corps and marveled at its performance after only three weeks of preparation.

Briefings by top staff and faculty members caused the commanding general of the Continental Army of the United States to commend the University on "its good progress in the pursuit of excellence in education."

The much-decorated general from Fort Monroe, Va., visited with student leaders after the review. He told them that the Corps of Cadets is "one of the finest groups that has come to my attention."

Harris attended a luncheon after the review honoring J. B. (Dick) Hervey, who resigned recently after 17 years as executive secretary of the Association of Former Students.

Others attending the luncheon at the Briarcrest County Club were Chancellor M. T. Harrington, President Earl Rudder, L. F.

Peterson, members of the Board of Directors; Harold Dunn of Amarillo and John Lindsey of Houston. Lindsey heads the Former Student Association and Dunn is a former association president.

Harris was briefed on A&M's transition to meet the Space Age challenges by Dr. W. J. Graff, dean of instruction; Tom Cherry, director of business affairs; Dean of Students James P. Hannigan, and the Department of Military Science.

ALONG THE CAMPAIGN TRAILS Catholics Rap Humphrey; Hubert Criticizes Barry

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey went from a campus of northern California to the old Republican fortress of Nebraska Monday night and declared it was only myth that this midwestern state was in Barry Goldwater's corner.

"The Goldwater party," he said, offers a choice "between the unquestionable disaster of the candidate's initial statements, or the probable catastrophe of his later clarifications."

The St. Louis Roman Catholic archdiocese and more than 160 telegrams have criticized Sen. Hubert Humphrey's appearance Tuesday before the National Conference of Catholic Charities in St. Louis.

Sen. Barry Goldwater said Monday that if elected president he "will ask former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to head up a group of qualified experts to go to South Viet Nam and report back to me on the situation in Southeast Asia."

In a statement released by Republican National Committee Headquarters here, the GOP candidate said: "I am convinced that only through a careful study by the best qualified experts this country has to offer can we meet the situation in South Viet Nam.

Republican running mates Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller conferred privately Monday at the midway point in their campaign for the presidency and vice presidency.

The Arizona senator and the New York congressman, taking a brief campaign breather, sat down together at Republican National Headquarters to take stock and look ahead in their battle against President Johnson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Trotter, a physicist, has served since 1962 as chairman of the board, General Telephone and Electronics Laboratories, Inc. In June, 1963, he was elected a national vice president of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association.

Trotter, who lectured here in May, is a graduate of Hampton-Sydney College and received a Ph. D. degree in physics from the University of Virginia. From 1936 to 1941 he was associate professor of physics at Washington and Lee University and then became a development physicist at The Johns Hopkins University's Applied Physics Laboratory.

In 1942 Trotter joined Sylvania Electric Products, Inc. and served for three years as manager of engineering and development of the company's V-T or proximity fuse program. For this work he received a United States Presidential Certificate of Merit.

Trotter is a member of the American Physical Society, the Institute of Radio Engineers and Sigma Xi.

Council Adds 4 Engineers

Four Bryan-College Station men have been named to the Student Engineers' Council at A&M University.

The new council members include Preston A. Scott, Robert H. Boyd and Roland O. Davis of Bryan, and Larry Allen Maddox of College Station.

Maddox is senior representative to the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He is the son of L. H. Maddox, Jr., 1002 Munson Drive, College Station.

Scott is president of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers. Boyd is junior representative to the same organization. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Scott, 1511 Burt, and Boyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Boyd, Route 3.

Davis is senior representative to the American Institute of Industrial Engineers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Davis, 311 Trant Street.

The council works to improve relations between students and faculty and coordinates the annual high school Career Day for the College of Engineering.
