Distinguished Cadet

Senior Larry A. Maddox was among 30 seniors to receive Distinguished Cadet Badges in recent AFROTC ceremonies. Col. R. C. Lee, professor of air science, pins the badge on Maddox's uniform.

Orr Discusses Political Ethics At Apollo Club

By CLOVIS McALLISTER
Night News Editor

Members of the newly formed Apollo Club heard Dr. John B. Orr say Thursday night that man will inevitably use power for his own good.

Orr told the group that western religion says man is both saint and sinner. This, he said, should not be taken for granted, but as an ever present factor.

The new professor of philosophy opened the first in a series of discussions speaking on "Political Ethics."

The speaker introduced the topic as both timely and controversial. Orr related a story from Plato about the Shepherd who found a ring which made him disappear at will. The shepherd used the ring to take over an empire.

From the story, Orr posed the questions, will the man who has power use it for his own good, and will he always strive for high ideals?

Orr said we must be prepared for the fact that every man is a sinner. He added that if the man is human, he will seek his own end.

He said the ideals politicians pursue do not always fit neatly together and sometimes they must compromise one ideal for another. The choice should be made by weighing the prerogatives, he said.

The speaker said the moral politician should be sensitive to competing claims, know how to balance the interest for the common good, know how to use power creatively for the common good and have standards for defining the common good.

Astronauts Say Thanks

Robert L. Smith Jr., head of the Data Processing Center, shows a picture given him by the current 14 astronauts, to whom he taught basic computer science. The inscription reads "To Bob Smith. The knowledge of computers and their operation that you shared with us will be one of the most useful tools in the exploration of the moon."

Football Game, Reunions On Tap

By TOMMY DeFRANK
Staff Writer

Selection of the 1964-65 Aggie Sweetheart will spotlight a weekend filled with reunions, banquets, Midnight Yell Practice, Town Hall and a Saturday invasion by the TCU Horned Frogs.

The new sweetheart will be announced by the 14-man Executive Selection Committee at 9 a. m. Sunday in the Memorial Student Center. The 13 finalists from Texas Woman's University arrived on campus today to take part in weekend activities.

Finalists include Judi Mahaney, Judy Jones, Melanie McCoy, Romelia Quintanilla, Johanna Leister, Sallie Magruder, Whitney Vickers, Olivia Payne, Carol Ann Schuster, Suzanne Hunt, Dianna Lynn Kenny, Belinda Davis and Cecilia Ruiz.

The first A&M Sports Hall of Fame Dinner kicks off the weekend at 6:30 p. m. Friday in the MSC Ballroom. Five Aggie athletic immortals will be inducted into the Hall of Fame at the dinner. Morris Frank, Houston Chronicle columnist, will be master of ceremonies.

Those to be inducted are John Kimbrough, Frank G. Anderson, Joe Routt, Bill (Jitterbug) Henderson and Joel Hunt. Henderson and Routt will be inducted posthumously.

National Champs Return

The 1939 national champion football team returns for its Silver Anniversary reunion Saturday. Members of the team and their families will be guests at a luncheon given by Coach Hank Foldberg before the game, and they will be honored in halftime ceremonies. They will also attend a buffet banquet Saturday night at Briarcrest Country Club.

Approximately 150 Aggie exes are expected to be on hand for the 30th reunion of the Class of 1934. Reunion activities will include an 11:30 a. m. luncheon Saturday in the MSC, the Aggie-TCU game, a 6:30 p. m. party Saturday and an 8 a. m. breakfast Sunday at the Ramada Inn.

Town Hall presents its second attraction of the year Friday with an 8 p. m. concert by the Clebanoff Strings, a widely-acclaimed string orchestra. The group has made appearances on national television programs, made two concert tours and recorded 16 instrumental albums.

Tickets for the performance are $2.50 and date tickets are $1. Student activity cards will be honored.

Following Town Hall the traditional Midnight Yell Practice will be held in Kyle Field. Highlight of the yell practice will be the presentation of the Aggie Sweetheart finalists.

Winless Teams Meet

Weekend activities center about the 1:30 p. m. Saturday clash between the Aggies and the Horned Frogs. Both teams come into the contest seeking their first victory of the campaign. TCU has lost to Kansas, Florida State, Arkansas and Texas Tech while the Aggies have dropped decisions to LSU, the University of Houston, Texas Tech and Southern California. The visitors have been installed as slight favorites in the 60th meeting between the two teams. A&M leads the series, 29-23, and there have been seven ties.

Seating arrangements for the game have been changed to give more room to graduate students, seniors and juniors. Band and graduate students should enter through Ramp Q; seniors through Ramp P; juniors through Ramp O; sophomores through Ramp N and freshmen through Ramp M.

Five busloads of TCU students are expected for the game, and TCU student leaders have urged as many others as possible to attend. The Horned Frog backers will hold an impromptu "yell practice" upon their arrival on campus.

Senate To Initiate Government Study

A motion calling for the appointment of a committee to study student government on the campus was passed by the Student Senate Thursday night.

The motion was proposed by Student Welfare Chairman Bill Altman and called for the President of the Senate, Frank Muller, to appoint the committee.

"We have organizations on this campus such as the Civilian Student Council and the Dormitory Presidents' Council that serve the same purpose and often we end up bumping heads on issues," said Don Warren representative from the YMCA.

A motion proposing that the appointments to the committee include a member from all major campus organizations was killed by a large majority.

"In proposing this committee, we (the welfare committee) intended for it to be a deep study and I feel that this proposal to include all major organizations would saddle the president with an unwanted burden in the appointments to the committee," said Altman.

The committee's function will be to study student organizations in depth and recommend where eliminations, consolidations or improvements may be made.

Bill Millikin was recognized and seated as the junior representative from the College of Arts and Sciences. Millikin won his seat earlier in the day in a runoff election against John R. Stropp.

A report was given concerning the ribbons and pins or recognition to be given the student senators. The Corps ribbons have already been chosen. It will resemble the Ross Volunteer ribbon but will have maroon tips instead of yellow.

Charles Shook reported that designs were being drafted for the civilian pin. Frank Muller expressed the desire that the pin might eventually be accepted as part of the military uniform and no distinction would have to be made between corps and civilian awards.

ALONG THE CAMPAIGN TRAILS

Johnson, Kennedy Team Up In New York Campaigning

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK — President Johnson and Robert F. Kennedy campaigned side-by-side in New York State Thursday, proclaiming a mutual admiration society.

Johnson, who was hoarse of throat and sometimes listless in manner Wednesday, seemed to regain much of his ebullience as he stumped the Empire State with his former attorney general.

The Democratic President said nothing, and his demeanor revealed nothing, about his reaction to the resignation Wednesday night of his old friend and key aid, Walter W. Jenkins, who had been arrested in Washington on a morals charge. Goldwater forces stepped up their "scandal" accusations against the Johnson Administration Thursday and asserted that the Jenkins morals case raises grave issues of national security.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced that President Johnson has directed him to make "a full and complete investigation of the matter without delay."

Jenkins, long-time confidant and top aide to Johnson, resigned suddenly Wednesday. It was disclosed that he was arrested five years ago on a charge of disorderly conduct pervert and on Oct. 7 this year on a charge of "disorderly indecent gestures." He forfeited collateral in both cases.

Political leaders sought to gauge the effect on the Nov. 3 presidential election. Surmises ranged from "terrific impact" to a suggestion that it would have little effect because voters would consider Jenkins a sick man and have compassion for him.

Goldwater flew into Texas for a fourth time Thursday and set a meeting to map strategy for the last days of his campaign.

2 Slightly Injured In Campus Accident

Two Corps seniors escaped serious injury Thursday afternoon about 5 p. m. after being struck by an automobile, according to Campus Security officials.

William R. Hancock of Waco and Michael Higgins of New Braunfels were taken to University Hospital where there were treated for lacerations and bruises. The car was driven by Richard R. Manning, also an A&M student, according to a Campus Security official.

24 SCONA Posts Vacant; Filing To Open Monday

Interested students may begin filing Monday for application as delegates to the Tenth annual Student Conference on National Affairs.

Filing may be made in the director's office in the Memorial Student Center.

After applications are submitted, the candidates will be contacted and interviews set up, Oct. 26-30. Interviews will be conducted by three faculty members and one student.

A&M allows 24 representatives — 16 U. S. students and eight foreign students to its own meeting.

Applicants must be juniors or seniors, must have a 1.5 GPR both overall and for last semester and must not be on any type of probation.

This year's SCONA topic is "Challenges to the Americas: Pan American Trends, Promise or Threat?" The conference is scheduled Dec. 9-12.

Six SCONA members obtained approximately $1,200 during their promotional finance drive in Mexico City and Monterrey, Mexico, Aug. 22-30.

J. T. Rose, finance chairman,

Mike Laughlin, chairman of the secretariat committee and Jerome Rektorik, publicity chairman, promoted the drive in Mexico City. The group was hosted by Rick Tessada and David Saloma.

At the same time, Bob Bell, Craig Buck, vice chairman of SCONA, and Jim Roberts, program chairman, were having a drive in Monterrey. The Monterrey group was the guests of Mr and Mrs. Paul Williams and John Arnold. Williams is president of the Monterrey A&M Club.

"The two drives were the most successful Mexico drives in the history of SCONA," said Rose, who organized the trips into Mexico.

"One purpose of the Mexican drive, other than to raise funds, is to show the Mexican delegates to SCONA that it is truly an international conference and their own people and industries believe enough in SCONA's goal to contribute," he said.

The trip to Mexico was not all work. The group in Monterrey had an interview with Eduardo Livas, Governor of the state of Nuevo Leon.

Presently, SCONA has raised about $15,400 of their $19,100 goal.

SCUSA Delegates Named

Donald E. Allen of Fred and Roy Louis May of Sherman have been appointed A&M delegates to the 16th Student Conference On United States Affairs at the U. S. Military Academy Dec. 2-5.

A&M delegates will join students from more than 95 American and Canadian universities and colleges in focusing on problems of developing nations. Subject for the conference is "The National Security Policy of the United States."

Participants are chosen for their interest and capabilities in international relations and collateral courses in the social sciences field. They will join in round table discussions of Latin America, Africa South of the Sahara, Middle East-North Africa, Southeast Asia and South Asia.

Allen and May are juniors here.
