Crowning of the homecoming queen Friday night will climax homecoming activities at A&M Consolidated High School this weekend.

Nine girls were chosen as finalists for the honor by the student body, with the final selection to be announced at halftime of the Consolidated-Brenham football game here Friday night.

The candidates include: seniors — Daisy Sloan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Sloan, and Sylvia Mansfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mansfield; juniors — Susie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Brown, and Debbie Cooper, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Cooper.

Sophomores — Kati Prater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Prater, and Kathy Litterst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Litterst; freshmen — Celia Goode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip B. Goode, and Mary Hooper, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Hooper; candidate-at-large — Georgia Heritage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Heritage.

The finalists will be escorted in the ceremonies by their fathers, except for Daisy Sloan. Dr. Nolan Williamson will substitute for Miss Sloan's father, who is on a foreign assignment for A&M University.

Homecoming activities at the local high school begin at 5 p.m. Thursday with a snake dance, pep rally and bonfire. The junior class play, football game and post-game party are other events scheduled for the weekend.

A glass baking dish usually gives a thicker crust than does a metal pan.

Dr. Igo Announces Cyclotron Program

Dr. G. J. Igo, director of the Cyclotron Institute, has announced the time schedule for the cyclotron to be built here.

The cyclotron is still in the drawing stage with five contractors now bidding for the project. Igo will have these bids to give the Board of Directors Nov. 25.

The project schedule calls for construction to begin in January, 1966. Upon completion of the foundation, the large magnet which composes the cyclotron nucleus will be placed.

Construction will be completed in September, 1966.

Computers Aid Agriculture

Computer science has come to the aid of Texas Agricultural Extension Service Conference planners.

The program for the Extension Service State Conference here Oct. 26-30 was developed with the assistance of computers at the Data Processing Center.

Conference Chairman W. A. (Bill) Smith, Extension forestry specialist, said questionnaires were sent to all Extension personnel several months ago to obtain suggestions for speakers and conference objectives. Completed questionnaires were fed into computers to help plan the conference.

The conference theme is "New Horizons in Adult Education." The conference will commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Cooperative Extension Service, being served this year.
