Prof To Receive Chemical Award

Dr. Raymond Reiser, professor of biochemistry and nutrition at A&M, will receive the 1964 American Chemical Society Southwest Regional Award Dec. 4 in Shreveport, La.

Reiser will be presented a plaque and honorarium at the awards banquet of the society during the 20th annual meeting. He also will be the featured speaker for the banquet.

His selection for the regional award was based on contributions to chemistry throughout his career.

A committee from each section of the Southwest region made nominations, including a biography of each nominee. In turn the regional is chosen from sectional winners. The Southwest Section of the ACS includes Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Its membership totals approximately 5,800.

Reiser is the author or co-author of more than 80 papers in scientific journals and is associate editor of the Journal of the American Oil Chemists' Society.

He earned the Faculty Distinguished Achievement Award in Research in 1963 from the Association of Former Students. Other honors include the Research Career Award from the National Institutes of Health, the Glycerine Producers Award, and the Canadian Award of the American Oil Chemists' Society.

Rudder Given Certificate Of Friendship

The father of three former students of A&M presented a certificate of friendship to President Earl Rudder Thursday from the faculty of the University of Bolivia.

Dr. Eudoro Galindo paid a special visit to President Rudder while on a tour of American universities and colleges as a guest of the State Department.

Galindo is a member of the board of regents of the university at San Simon, Bolivia. He is also executive secretary of the SIDU-MSS, a professors' union at the university. In professional life, he is a consultant in civil engineering.

The certificate of friendship, inscribed in Spanish, expressed the hope that education, science and culture will be fountains that will cement friendships of the free world.

With Galindo was his second oldest son, Chris, a 1962 A&M graduate with a masters degree in business administration. Chris, who commented that he and his brothers are "proud to be Aggies," works for Shell Oil Company in New Orleans.

Acting as interpreter for Galindo was Raul Lamar, a representative of the State Department.

President Rudder also received a Bolivian flag and a pennant from the University of Bolivia.

Galindo said his son Ramiro, a 1960 graduate of A&M with a degree in civil engineering, is working for an industrial management firm in Bolivia. Eudoro, a 1964 business administration graduate of A&M, works for the same firm.

Pinkie Announces Campus Visitors

A total of 4,080 visitors were on the campus during October, according to P. L. Downs Jr., official greeter for the university.

Downs said the visitors were attending short courses, conferences, class reunions and other scheduled meetings. Twenty different groups made up the total.

A&M had 942,549 visitors on campus during the past 15 years and five months, Downs said.

An estimate by Downs indicates the visitors spent $19,793,529 in the community during that period.

Graduation was only the beginning of Jim Brown's education

Because he joined Western Electric

Jim Brown, Northwestern University, '62, came with Western Electric because he had heard about the Company's concern for the continued development of its engineers after college graduation. Jim has his degree in industrial engineering and is continuing to learn and grow in professional stature through Western Electric's Graduate Engineering Training Program. The objectives and educational philosophy of this Program are in the best of academic traditions, designed for both experienced and new engineers. Like other Western Electric engineers, Jim started out in this Program with a six-week course to help in the transition from the classroom to industry. Since then, Jim Brown has continued to take courses that will help him keep up with the newest engineering techniques in communications.
