Ag Sees Victory

"I believe we will beat them," predicts Ronney Moore. The ace Aggie guard was referring to A&M's next opponent, SMU, that got a spark into its offense last week by hitting 13 of 22 passes.

"By stopping their passing and gains up the middle we should contain their offense," commented the 213 pound senior.

So while his roommate, Mike Pitman, foresees more pass interceptions, Ronney is looking forward to holding up a sticky defense and dropping in on the passer come Saturday afternoon. Without a running game to sustain their passing, SMU could have offensive problems.

There is no doubt that Moore is the best man to do the job. It is from similar assignments that the Aggie defensive lineman has earned praise and fame in his football career.

Cadet Soccer Club Ties Saengerbund

The A&M Soccer Club played Saengerbund Soccer Club of Houston to a 1-1 tie in Houston's Memorial Park Sunday.

All the scoring occurred in the first half. At halftime the captain of the Aggie squad, Jason Gryzgoriosis, threatened to withdraw his team from the field if something was not done about the officiating.

The league president was in attendance and he changed officials for the second half of play.

The next Ag contest will be here Sunday against the Mexico Soccer Club at 2 p.m.

"We sort of discovered Moore against Arkansas last year," says Coach Hank Foldberg. "Arkansas has a tendency to slam that fullback in between the guards, to keep you honest inside. All of a sudden they weren't getting anywhere. Then we realized that Moore was stalemating them."

"I doubt that anyone in the stands even saw him," he added. He's that kind of kid. He isn't spectacular, but he's always in the middle of it."

His best game last season was against Rice. He contributed 10 tackles to the 13-6 Aggie upset. After the game Rice Coach Jess Neely shook his hand. During the game Lou Rymkus, former Houston Oilers coach referred to him as "the best lineman on the field."

He ended the season as one of the finest linemen in the conference and made the Houston Post's All-SWC first team.

"The last three games of the season there wasn't a finer guard in the conference," said Foldberg.

Ronney started offensively in the first five games this season; after that he was changed back to defense. He prefers to play defensively.

Moore's first start as defensive guard this season was against TCU, where he made 11 tackles and recovered a fumble. From his outstanding performance on defense came two of the nine points scored by the Aggies. He was one of the two linemen that trapped TCU's Jim Fauver behind his own goal line for a safety. He received honorable mention lineman-of-the-week after that game.

The Aggie senior guard saw action against Arkansas last week and is now all set for the SMU game.

Irish Edge Bucks For No. 1 Ranking

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame campus rang Tuesday with jubilant shouts: "We're No. 1, we're No. 1." Word spread quickly that the amazing Fighting Irish, unbeaten in six games, surged into the top position in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Students swarmed in front of Rockne Hall, athletic office headquarters, and noisily chanted "No. 1, all the way." Coach Ara Parseghian's Irish, after crushing Navy 40-0 Saturday, moved into the No. 1 spot by a narrow margin over Ohio State, leader the previous two weeks.

Parseghian received the news with cautious appreciation. "Twice at Northwestern," he recalled, "we started out 6-0, jumped into a poll lead and then had trouble. There are no paties on a modern schedule.

Top Ten teams with first place votes in parentheses, won-lost records and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:
