

Aggies Invade Dallas To Meet SMU

The embattled elevens of A&M and SMU meet in the Cotton Bowl Saturday afternoon in a clash which will plunge the loser deeper into the SWC cellar.

The two sophomore-studded clubs have claimed the scoreboard only once in 13 outings between them this fall. The lone triumph was SMU's 14-0 decision over Arlington State.

The game will highlight the Aggie Corps Trip to Big D. The Cadets will parade in downtown Dallas Saturday morning. The Aggie Band will be on hand to perform at halftime.

This contest marks the third meeting of rival coaches Hank Foldberg and Hayden Fry. They split the first two games, with field goals being the decisive factor in each.

Last year's encounter saw the Ags score the first time they had possession of the ball and hold the lead for 59 minutes. The Ponies pulled the game out of the fire in the last 36 seconds on a 17-yard field goal by Dan Richey.

Field goals are unlikely to play such a large role in this tilt, however. SMU has yet to boot one this season while the Cadets have only been successful a single time, in the Baylor clash.

SMU's misfortunes started before the season even began. In May, the conference slapped the Ponies with a probation rap for recruiting violations.

The chain of ill fortune continued. Ace flanker John Roderick, SWC sprint king, was declared scholastically ineligible. Starting quarterback Mac White slipped a disc and hasn't suited up for a game this year. Two other performers tabbed for starting duty, tackle Buddy Miller and tailback Larry Jernigan, have also disappeared from the picture.

The Pony bright spots this fall have been their stingy defense and superior punting. The Dal-lasites rank close behind Texas and Arkansas in total defense. They have allowed fewer first downs than anyone in the league.

The two leading punters in the circuit both wear SMU red. Veteran Danny Thomas leads with a 40.6 average. Newcomer Corky Terry is less than half a yard behind.

SMU's inability to move the ball consistently has plagued them all season. They have only tallied six points in their three conference games to date.

They appeared to find a possible spark against the Texas Longhorns last Saturday. They garnered more first downs than the Steers and Thomas completed 13 of 22 passes from his quarterback spot.

Seven sophs log time on the Pony offensive unit. Three are in the backfield with Thomas.

On defense, two other sophomores have been drawing raves. Nose guard John LaGrone is a likely choice for SWC rookie-lineman-of-the-year honors. Line-backer Billy Bob Stewart has also provided yeoman service.

Foldberg calls the Ponies, "a good team, despite their record. They have been in a lot of close ones like we have. They are a sound defensive club and have real fine speed. It's hard to prepare a crew for them because they use such a variety of formations."

On the other side of the ledger, Fry says, "Ever since I've been at SMU, A&M has hit us as hard as any team we've played."

The Cadets will try to rebound from a 17-0 setback inflicted on them last week by the high-flying Arkansas Razorbacks.

Foldberg will likely start the same gridmen he did against the Hogs. The playing status of quarterback Dan McIlhany and end John Brotherton is indefinite.

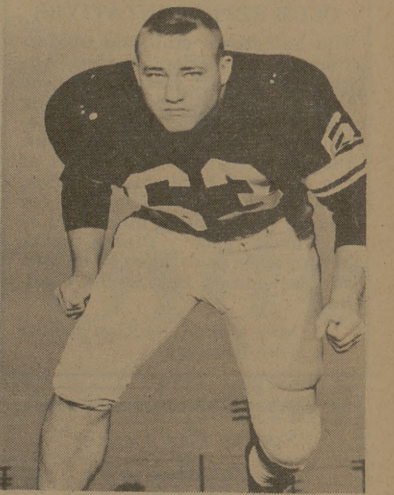

Eddie McKaughan will be the starting signal-caller and will team with six other sophomores on offense. One of the six is swift Lloyd Curington, who carried the ball 18 times against Arkansas.

The Aggies will be playing before another Homecoming crowd Saturday. Around 35,000 are expected for the 2 p.m. kickoff.

NCAA Drops Axe

NEW YORK (AP)—Four member schools were penalized by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 18-man policy making council Wednesday for "excessive financial aid and recruiting violations."

The four were Michigan State, Miami, Fla., Navy and Western State of Colorado. The first three were placed on probation. Western State was reprimanded and censured.

Michigan State was placed on probation for three years and faced additional sanctions which were suspended because the school corrected the violations involved after the 1958-59 college year.

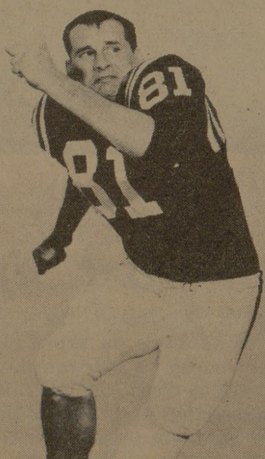

Miami was placed on probation for one year and barred from participation in the NCAA basketball tournament and other Major tournaments cooperating with the NCAA.

Navy received a one-year probation with no additional penalties. The NCAA found that a representative outside the Naval Academy had paid for the transportation of four players from the Norfolk, Va., area to the 1964 Cotton Bowl game at Dallas. The individual reportedly had asked a Navy assistant coach if the trip was permissible and the assistant, after checking with higher academy sources, had incorrectly given the go-ahead.

Western State was reprimanded and censured because it gave a wrestler a grant of tuition and fees after he already had a job. The combination of income gave the athlete more than was considered normal educational expenses at the school.

The NCAA restored full rights and privileges to Dayton University which has completed two years on probation for a basketball recruiting violation.

Ponies Injury-Free

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Southern Methodist worked out in the rain and mud Wednesday and found that all hands would be in top shape for Saturday's clash.

There's not an injury in the bunch.
