Nance Readies Fannin Part Of 'Heroes Of Texas' Book

Among the contributing authors to the newly-published "Heroes of Texas" is Dr. J. M. Nance, head of the Department of History and Government. He prepared the biographical sketch on James W. Fannin, one of nine heroes honored in the attractive book. The book published by the Texian Press at Waco combines the talents of nine outstanding Texas historians and the noted Norwegian-born artist, Charles B. Normann. The artist's portraits in oil of nine leaders of the Texas revolutionary era are reproduced in color. These paintings now on permanent exhibit in the new State Archives and Library Building in Austin were done between 1954 and 1959.

Each portrait is accompanied by a concise, informative and scholarly "sketch in words" of the hero by a historian. "Heroes of Texas" is dedicated to the late J. Frank Dobie, Texas literary figure whose last bit of writing was the article on Jim Bowie.

Among the highlights of the Oklahoma City meeting was a visit to the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center being constructed on the outskirts of Oklahoma City with support from 14 state governments and the assistance of a number of professional organizations.

Dr. H. O. Hartley is in Washington, D. C. for the tenth annual conference on the design of experiments in army research, development and testing. He will present a paper co-authored by Dr. A. W. Wortham, also of A&M, on "The Assessment and Correction of Deficiencies in PERT (program evaluation and review techniques)." The conference opened Wednesday and ends Friday. Dr. Hartley is an internationally-known statistician and directs A&M's Graduate Institute of Statistics.

Dr. Haskell M. Monroe, assistant professor in history, presented a paper to the American Society of Archivists at their annual meeting in Austin. His paper was "A Review of the 'National Union Catalogue of Manuscript Collections' After Five Years." Professor Monroe's paper, along with that of Dr. William C. Brinkley, retiring editor of "Journal of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association," attempt to show the advantages of a union catalogue of manuscript holdings throughout the United States and Canada.

Three members of the history faculty attended the recent annual meeting of the Western History Association in Oklahoma City. Attending from here were Professors Herbert H. Lang, A. Ray Stephens and J. M. Nance, who heads the Department of History and Government.

A&M is among the sponsoring institutions of the association formerly organized in 1962 and now reporting a membership of more than 1,400.

Director John E. Hutchinson made the presentations at the State Extension Service Conference underway this week at A&M.

He said that the Knapp-Porter Award "honors men who have projected the visionary aims of Dr. Seaman A. Knapp of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Walter C. Porter, a pioneer farm demonstrator. A highly selective award, it will be made only when an outstanding nominee is eligible to receive it.

Purpose of the award is to provide recognition to individuals who have made truly significant contributions to Texas agriculture and family living through support of informal educational programs for both adults and youth."

Scouts Honor Their Leaders With Dinner

Adult scouts and parents of Scouters of this area will hear Val Jean McCoy of Houston as principal speaker at the annual appreciation dinner of the Arrow-moon District, Boy Scouts of America. Bryan School Superintendent announced Alton O. Bowen as district chairman.

The dinner planned to provide parents of scouts an opportunity to honor volunteer leaders is set for Monday night, at the Lamar Junior High School cafeteria.

McCoy is a longtime Houston resident who retired this year as public relations manager for Shell Oil Co. operations in Houston. Now he is with the Nahas-Blumberg Corp. McCoy long has been active in varied civic and community activities and has held various posts in the Sam Houston Area Council of the Boy Scouts.

A supply of tickets has been sent to unit chairmen so that all scouting parents may have an opportunity to attend the dinner, Bowen said. Tickets are priced at $1.50 each. Chairman of ticket sales is Robert A. Houze, A&M library director. Assisting is A. T. Powell of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The principal speaker for the dinner, McCoy, is a native of California who taught in the public schools of that state and at the University of Houston before entering industry during World War II. He returned to Houston in 1947 after serving in Shell's New York offices and was training representative until his promotion to public relations manager in 1952.

Honor Vets Initiate 12 Into Chapter

Twelve new members have been initiated into the chapter of the National Honor Society of Phi Zeta, the honor society of veterinary medicine.

Travis McGuire of Wellington, one of the new members, said the aim of Phi Zeta is constant advancement of the veterinary profession through higher educational requirements and scholarship. Its object is to recognize and promote scholarship and research in the welfare and diseases of animals. A&M's Eta Chapter was organized in 1950.

McGuire said Phi Zeta candidates must have completed two and one-half years of instruction and possess high ideals respecting professional service and conduct.

"If elected in his junior year, the candidate must rank in the upper 10 percent of his class in scholarship," McGuire said. "If elected in his senior year, he must rank in the upper 25 percent of those in his class who are not already members of the society."

A graduate veterinarian may be eligible if he has been in the profession of his degree for at least two years and is a member of the faculty or scientific staff of the institution where a chapter is located.

McGuire said any graduate veterinarian is eligible who is enrolled as a graduate student in an institution where a chapter is located and who has displayed ability of an order in dealing with one or more phases of veterinary medicine.

New members initiated into the society in addition to McGuire were Dr. J. N. Beasley, Dr. R. S. Titus, Dr. T. L. Bullard, Dr. Stanley Brantley, Lionel Garcia of San Diego, Texas, Wayne Herrmann of Barnhart, and Howard Head of Richardson.

Newly elected officers of Phi Zeta are Dr. D. L. Pierrmatte, president; Garcia, vice president; McGuire, secretary-treasurer; Dr. K. R. Pierce and Dr. E. D. McMurry, executive councilmen.

Olin Teague Feted For Good Ag Work

Congressman Olin E. Teague of the Sixth District Monday was presented the first of Extension's newly established Knapp-Porter Awards "for distinguished service to Texas agriculture."

Special recognition awards also were made to grandchildren of the two men credited with founding the Extension method of teaching more than a half century ago.

Director John E. Hutchinson made the presentations at the State Extension Service Conference underway this week at A&M.

He said that the Knapp-Porter Award "honors men who have projected the visionary aims of Dr. Seaman A. Knapp of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Walter C. Porter, a pioneer farm demonstrator. A highly selective award, it will be made only when an outstanding nominee is eligible to receive it.
