Latest Schoolboy Poll Out

DALLAS (AP)—All the top teams held their places but there were some changes made down the line in the Dallas News poll of Texas schoolboy football this week.

Amarillo Tascosa rolled on as No. 1 in Class AAAA where Corsicana plunged from the list and Texarkana moved into the 10th spot.

Dumas remained No. 1 in Class AAA but Wichita Falls Hirsch, which had held No. 10, fell out and was replaced by San Marcos, while two teams moved in in place of McKinney, which also made the descent. Lake Highlands and Jacksonville tied for 10th.

While Phillips remained No. 1 in Class AA, No. 2 Rockwall was knocked out along with Gladewater, No. 8, and Atlanta and Dublin at No. 2, moving up from No. 3.

Coahoma and Midlothian replaced James Bowie and Cedar Hill respectively in Class A where Hull-Daisetta held firmly onto the No. 1 spot.

Cage Match Held

The A&M varsity basketballers subdued the freshmen, 78-73, in an inter-squad pre-season game Saturday morning in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

It was the third of five scheduled matches between the two squads. The Fish get their next chance for revenge Wednesday night at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Cadet Cricketers Finish Fall Season

The A&M Cricket Club has put away its gear until spring after posting a 2-1 record.

The A&M club hosted the Dallas County Cricket Club here Sunday in a rematch won by the visitors with a 22-run margin. Earlier the Aggies defeated Dallas. The Aggies also defeated the University of Houston.

"They put on a very good show and deserved the win," A&M Club President John F. Griffiths said of the Dallas match Sunday.

Rice Aerial Attack Clips Ag

By LANI PRESSWOOD
Sports Editor

The Rice Owls took flight Saturday and used the airways for a 19-8 decision over the Aggies in Rice Stadium.

The head bomber's name was Walter McReynolds, who fired 16 times and connected on nine of them. Two of his completions produced touchdowns.

In between his aerials, McReynolds sent his infantry banging down the middle for 191 yards.

The difference in the ball game was to be found in the trench fight. The Owl forward wall was a rugged and aggressive unit, both on offense and defense.

A&M's lone consolation came from being the first team to put six points on the scoreboard at one time in Rice Stadium this year. The Aggie touchdown was something that neither Texas Tech, West Virginia, LSU, or Texas had been able to do this season.

The Ag touchdown concluded one of the finest examples of ball-control football seen on any field this year. The drive covered 80 yards, required 19 plays, and consumed some eight minutes of the third quarter.

Two key plays in the march were pass plays from the arm of senior Dan McIlhany. One was a 14-yard shot to reliable John Brotherton, the other a 15-yarder to halfback Lloyd Curington.

The TD play was an end sweep by Jim Stabler. He headed left from the two, cut to the outside, and outraced the Owl defender into the end zone. His dive inside the red flag ruined the Owls' unblemished goal line record.

It was Stabler's fourth touchdown of the season. The conversion was a two-point pass from Glynn Lindsey to Dan Westfield.

The six-pointer cut the 13-point Rice lead to only five points and Cadet enthusiasm reached its game peak. The Owls responded by cranking up a 67-yard TD drive of their own, though, to ice the game for the Houstonians.

Sophomore Chuck Latourette sliced eight yards for the tally on the first play of the final stanza. Latourette's run capped the day's scoring. The Owls racked up two six-pointers in the first half.

The first was a 20-yard acrobatic act by end Dale Callihan after receiving a McReynolds aerial. Three Aggies had shots at Callihan but were unable to corral him.

Minutes later Rice ground out 56 yards in nine plays for their second score. The payoff play was a pass from 13 yards out to Gene Fleming, who cut to his right and scored untouched.

A crowd of 40,000 watched the contest unfold beneath threatening skies. The sun broke out after the Cadet touchdown but it proved to be a false prophet.

The robust and rugged Owls looked like a far better team than their unimpressive record would indicate. The Rice continued their dominance series. The Aggies have this tilt only three times since World War II.

Several Aggies continue consistently stand out. Nie Moore was in on the defensive back Mike Fleming credited with six unassisted interceptions. Curington and Brotherton shined on offense.

The absence of quarterback die McKaughan hampered attack, but he is expected to return to workouts this week. He'll need to be at full strength for the last Aggie contest season. It's against the ranked Texas in Austin, Texas at the Aggie Stadium.

Romo Paces Texas To Victory In SWC Cross Country Meet

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas, paced by Richard Romo and Ken Sunderland, defeated Arkansas and Texas A&M Monday for the Southwest Conference cross country team championship.

They were the only teams entered in the meet.

For the Longhorns, also last year's champions, it was the 23rd SWC cross country title.

Texas finished with 20 points in the meet where the team with the lowest number of points is the winner. Arkansas had 41 and A&M 63.

Romo was the top individual runner, completing the three-mile course in 14:35, while Sunderland finished in 14:43.

George Stroup of Rice broke the Longhorns' domination of the top five places, grabbing the third spot in 14:48. Two Longhorns, Ronny Yates 14:53, and Mike Hennen, 15:03, finished fourth and fifth.

The top runner for A&M was Don Smith, who came in sixth, and for Arkansas, Robert Tennant, who was eighth.

Baylor's Rex Garvin, running just for individual points, was high for the Bears with a seventh-place finish. The other runners in the top 10 were Curtis May, Arkansas, ninth, and Ronald Davis, Texas Tech, 10th.

Thirty runners finished the race.

Texas Tech Eyes Bluebonnet Berth

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas News says it has learned that Texas Tech will play in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston if it beats Arkansas Saturday.

The News said a loss by Tech would cancel the Bluebonnet Bowl's commitment to the Red Raiders, who still might make it to the Sun Bowl.

If Tech does beat Arkansas its opponent in the Bluebonnet will be either Georgia Tech or Mississippi, the News declared.

"If Arkansas beats Tech, as it is favored to do, then the Bluebonnet Bowl will go for Tulsa," the paper added.

I love a man in Van Heusen "417!"

This fall I've fallen for the "V-Taper" fit that accents his slim and limber good looks. Van Heusen did it! Their authentic traditional styling, softly rolled button-downs and trim Snap-Tabs make his the face I can't forget. The new-season patterns, fabrics and colors are only enhanced by his smile!
