COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1964

Number 107

New Dialing System Seen Local Game Telecast Out

The most modern system of telephone numbers in use today will be introduced in the Bryan-College Station area when new telephone directories are delivered in February, 1965. The directories will include listings for College Station, Bryan, and Steele Store.

Known as All Number Calling — or ANC — the system substitutes numerals for the two letters now being used, making a total of seven numerals rather than two letters and five numerals.

G. M. Brennan, division manager for Southwestern States Telephone, explained that although many other advantages have been realized from the use of ANC the system was developed as the result of a need for providing more workable telephone numbers.

"Just as all previous steps in our telephone numbering plan have been taken as the result of a 'need' our latest step is being made to insure the availability of a supply of numbers to meet the growth and demand for telephone numbers," Brennan stated.

Changing to ANC will result in no actual change in the dialing of College Station telephone numbers Brennan pointed out. For example, the number Victor 6-7704 would be changed to 846-7704. An examination of the telephone dial will reveal that the "8" corresponds with the "V" on the dial, the "4" corresponds with the "I". Actually the method of dialing remains unchanged.

Other telephone number in this area will be changed in the same manner. New telephone directories to be delivered in February, 1965, will list all telephone numbers under the ANC system. The numbers will appear as the following examples: College Station, 846-7704 (VI 6-7704); Bryan, 822-1336 (TA 2-1336), and Steele Store, 537-5656 (KE 7-5656).

Through the actual use of ANC telephone companies have discovered other advantages. Brennan cited some of them.

ANC eliminates the confusion between the figure zero and the letter "O"; between the figure one and the letter "I".

ANC eliminates wrong numbers caused by misspelling central office names, such as HI instead of HY for HYacinth.

ANC eliminates dialing errors caused by sound-alike central office names such as Mitchell and Mutual.

ANC promotes improved legibility on dials, as it will permit elimination of letters entirely from telephone dials, making the numbers larger.

SCONA X Hosts Latin Economists

Ten third-year economics students from the University of Mexico in Mexico City will be special guests for the 10th Student Conference on National Affairs Dec. 9-12 at A&M.

The students will be accompanied by an adult leader, Alejandro Velasco, a 31-year old Mexico City attorney. All will be guests of SCONA X and the Memorial Student Center Travel Committee.

... "And what did you do to support your team?"

Aggies going home Wednesday with the thought of possibly watching the Turkey Day game on TV, and those in the College Station area not on the cable who wish to view the game might be disappointed.

Under NCAA ruling, Houston is the Aggie home town. This ruling says that a game may be televised in the home city of the schools if the game is a sell out.

Several years ago, an agreement was made that Houston would be considered the home for the Aggies, and although A&M is located 90 miles from Houston, KPRC-TV (Channel 2) of Houston will carry the game.

For those in the area who subscribe to the cable, they may view the game via Channel 2, or Channel 7, KBTC-TV (Austin).

It was announced last year that the Alabama-Auburn game would replace the Texas-A&M tilt nationally.

For those attending the game, an All-Aggie Party will be sponsored by the Austin A&M Mothers Club. The party will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Municipal Auditorium with music furnished by the Gentlemen.

The Corps of Cadets will assemble at 8:45 a.m. Thursday on 2nd Street between Congress and Red River Avenues. The Corps will move out at 9:45, will turn right onto Congress and move to the reviewing stand in front of the Stephen F. Austin Hotel.

They will continue on Congress to the dismissed area at West 11th Street in front of the Capitol.

All students must have I.D. cards. Aggies that have dates with girls from TU will not have to buy date tickets since the coeds may use their student tickets and will be admitted to the A&M section.

A&M students will enter the stadium through gates 1, 2 and the Band gate. The gates will open at 12:35 p.m. except for the band which will open at 12:15.

TU students will be seated on both sides and in back of the Aggie Section. Bleachers will also be placed on the track in front of the A&M section as well as in front of the rest of the stands.

Neither university will have signs of any nature.

No students tickets will be available in Austin.

17 Fish Scholars To Receive Aid

Seventeen additional A&M freshmen have been announced as winners of Opportunity Awards Scholarships renewable for four years of study, R. M. Logan, director of student aid, said.
