

Squadron 17 Takes First In Austin Turkey Day Parade

The Austin Turkey Day parade resulted in a victory for three Force units of the Corps of Cadets. In a graded pass-by which culminated in front of the Capitol Building, Air Force Cadets secured top three positions.

Squadron 17 was first with a score of 74 out of a possible 100 points.

Four A&M delegates to the 10th Annual Student Forum in Washington, D. C. heard Secretary of the Interior Stewart Hall speak on the needed advances in architecture.

The Aggies, Howard B. Lathrop, Patrick J. Hollern, Edward S. Werth and James M. Carpenter, were among the more than 200 architecture students from 56 schools of architecture who attended the forum.

New Program Begins Drive
The People-to-People program will begin its fall membership drive with a 7:30 p.m. meeting Wednesday in the YMCA. The program will be explained by Don Dietz, chapter chairman, and new memberships will be accepted.

Dues are $2.50 a year, which entitle members to all People-to-People publications and make them eligible to participate in the Student Abroad program sponsored by the organization each summer.

The program, recently established here, is one of more than 100 chapters throughout the country organized to give assistance to foreign students attending American colleges.

It is composed of four committees: the education and information committee, which arranges tours for foreign students; the individual assistance committee, which provides counseling, the student ambassador program, which promotes international travel, and the cultural experience committee, which plans home visits, open houses and other cultural exchanges.

18 Chemists To Participate In Louisiana

Eighteen chemistry faculty members and students, including one senior, will participate in the American Chemical Society Southwest Regional Meeting Thursday through Saturday in Shreveport, La. The A&M chemists will present seven papers.

Dr. Raymond Reiser, professor of biochemistry and nutrition, will be honored Friday with presentation of the Southwest Regional Award in recognition of his contributions to chemistry throughout his career.

The regional organization of the American Chemical Society lists membership throughout Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, plus parts of Mississippi and New Mexico.

The A&M senior who will present a paper to an undergraduate sectional meeting is Rex Lynn Bunkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Bunkley of Orange. The Little Cypress High School graduate's paper concerning nuclear magnetic resonance studies of hydrocarbons was completed under the direction of Associate Professor Alfred Danti.

Graduate student Norman D. Heitkamp, and Dr. Danti are authors of a technical paper.

Associate Professor Edward A. Meyers and three graduate students will present a total of three papers. The students are Richard F. Copeland Jr., William G. McPherson and Bobby K. Robertson.

Also to be presented is a paper by Richard M. Hedges and Owen C. Hofer. Hofer has completed requirements at A&M for a master's degree and now is attending Purdue University.

Another technical paper will be presented by Dr. R. A. Zingaro, who is on leave from the chemistry faculty for work at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Agriculturist Wins Honor In Chicago

The Texas A&M Agriculturist was presented the first place "Cover Award" Friday evening at the fiftieth annual convention of the Agricultural College Magazines Associated in Chicago, said Leroy Shafer, the Agriculturist's delegate to the convention.

The "Cover Award" Plaque, which was furnished by the "Successful Farming" magazine, was presented at the special awards banquet in the Banquet Room of the La Salle Hotel, Shafer disclosed.

In the closing session of the convention, Shafer was chosen to serve as executive assistant of ACMA for 1965. He will be in charge of the magazine contests and the awards presentation at the next banquet.

Jim Frake, University of Oregon, will moderate a panel on press-bar relations.
