Congressional Debate Looms On Viet Nam Situation

threshold of renewed congressional debate over South Viet Nam, many senators share a sense of frustration and uncertainty over the course of the U. S.-backed war on communism in Southeast Asia.

Indonesia Promotes Red Feud

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) -Red China and the Soviet Union made Indonesia a diplomatic battleground Wednesday. The Chinese backed Indonesia's decision to withdraw from the United Nations and the Soviets opposed it.

Communist Chinese Ambassador Yao Chung-ming called twice on Foreign Minister Subandrie to communicate Peking's backing.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said Yao obviously informed Subandrio about Communist China's solid support to Indonesia's stand, made earlier in Peking.

WASHINGTON (AP) - On the long, hard look at the situation in South Viet Nam, beset by Communist guerillas and internal government woes. Only a scattering advocated expansion of the war into Communist North Viet Nam.

> "The problem is tragically difficult," said Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., "but I believe we must continue to do everything possible under the present policy-increasing the emphasis on a stable and responsible Vietnamese government." Thirty-one of the senators ready to prescribe a course voiced generally similar views, many of them suggesting negotiations later, when the anti-Communist forces are in a better bargaining position.

"It's a mistake to negotiate when losing," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

"We should do what we are doing," advised Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., "but do it even better."

Ten favored moving for negotiations now, some suggesting United Nations guidance toward a settlement based on neutrality.

'Twas the season to be jolly. Now it is the season for some last minute cramming, grade point grabbing and after hours brown-nosing. But we must not dispense entirely with the jolliness.

The rattling of dominoes, shuffling of cards, watching teevee and flicks, and raising hell will certainly continue, but perhaps at a slower pace. This is the time for worrying about the grade point one isn't going to get, drinking gallons of coffee in preparing for the all-night study sessions, pacing the floor | while waiting for papers to be graded, cursing profs for not giving the desired grades, and explaining to mom and dad why "little precious" didn't fare so well.

Church attendance increases as students converge upon the sanctuaries for their semi-annual final exam prayers, perhaps depositing a dime in the collection plate as payment in advance.

In all seriousness — these are the times that try men's souls. That's a good line; maybe it will become famous some day.

It is a time of reckoning: students reckon they will get A's or B's; profs reckon they won't. It is a time of decision: deciding whether to play cards tonight and study tomorrow or study tonight and play cards tomorrow or just forget about studying and have a good time. It is a time of meditation: meditating on what one is going to do with his time during the mid-term break or what his girl is doing or why she didn't write today of 43,682 other things. As Shakespeare didn't say: beware of the ides of January.

Michigan Says Freshmen Doing Better In English

By Intercollegiate Press Ann Arbor, Mich. - The University of Michigan is finding its freshmen better prepared in English than ever before. So pronounced has been this improvement that the University's College of Literature, Science and Arts recently announced reduction of the requirement of freshman English for its students from six hours to three.

This decision to require only one term of freshman English instead of two was made after long study, notes Dean William Haber. "Factors determining this decision included the continued and substantial improvements in programs of high school instruction, the increasing stringency of admission standards in the college, the improved performance of entering freshmen on scholastic aptitude and other tests, the rising ulation, the decrease in freshman out that their concentrators dropouts, and the rising level of it difficult to fit a deman series of prerequisites into a si competence demonstrated by students in freshman English coursedule crowded with distribut es."

Dean Haber also reveals that the literary college's curriculum committee has released a report evaluating the present distribution system and posing possible alternatives. He points out that the committee's report was intended simply as the first of many such reports to be heard over a period of years.

Curriculum report excerpts: "The committee was confronted with a series of questions highly revelant to a review of the distribution system. Our present intention is simply to make the faculty aware of these problems and to explore opinion. "First, the chairman of three plain why Yao met twice with Subandrio — once in the morning and again in the evening.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai A. Mikahilov got to Subandrio first. He called Tuesday night and urged Indonesia to remain in the United Nations, reliable diplomatic sources said.

Diplomatic quarters have expressed fear that Indonesia's withdrawal would further cement relations between Peking and Jakarta. They said the Soviet Union seems to share this view.

It was a day of intense diplomatic activity for Subandrio. U. S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones, and the diplomats of Pakistan, Czechoslovakia and Poland called on him. Jones was said to have sought reasons why Indonesia was quitting the United Nations.
