A series of services is scheduled at the A&M Church of Christ Feb. 15-19, featuring the Rev. Wyatt Sawyer, minister of the Wynne-wood Church of Christ in Dallas, as guest speaker.

Rev. Mr. Sawyer is the author of three books: "Must the Young Die Too," "Panoramic Views of the Bible," and "Youth Bible Study Course." He is also a writer for several magazines including "Power for Today," "Twentieth Century Christian," "Minister's Monthly" and "Teenage Christian."

"Basis of Faith for Our Belief in Christ" is the theme for the services, which begin at 7:30 each evening.

An informal study group of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church will discuss the "Theology of the Creeds" at 7:15 p.m. Sunday.

The Faith United Church of Christ is having its annual congregational meeting following the Sunday morning worship service which begins at 10:30.

Four members of the A&M Wesley Foundation will report on their trip to the Eighth Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Student Movement at the 7 p.m. service Sunday at the A&M Methodist Church.

The Wesley Foundation Building, the Baptist Student Union and the Presbyterian Student Center will be open for study and discussion each night of final exam week. Coffee will be available at each location.

There will be a short prayer service at 9 p.m. each night of final week at the Baptist Student Union.

St. John's Lutheran Brotherhood of Waller will host the East Central Conference of Brotherhoods of The American Lutheran Church on Monday at 8 p.m.

The buildings will be open for those students desiring to study, and the buses will run at the regular time. All books, school property, fines and fees due must be paid to the school prior to taking the exams, a school spokesman said. Students with an average grade of 90 or above may be considered for exemption from the exam.

On January 20 all students must meet periods one and two. The schedule is as follows:

Indians Sponsor Painting Contest

A painting competition for junior and senior high school students in the Bryan-College Station area is being sponsored by the Indian Students Association of A&M.

Paintings should deal with views of India or of Indian life. Prizes will be awarded for the four best entries.

"The contest is to encourage students to learn more about India and its people. Entrants have until Jan. 20 to submit their paintings to their teachers," said Pramod D. Desai, chairman for the contest.

Entries will be exhibited at a Republic Day Celebration in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom Feb. 12.

India became a republic on Jan. 26, 1950, but this year's observance will be late since this date falls during the mid-term break.

Meeting Of The Minds Gov. John Connally signs an agreement between the Governors Committee on Aging and A&M's Agricultural Extension Service through which subcommittees will be started in counties where no such organization already exists. Mrs. Carter Clopton of Austin, committee coordinator, President Earl Rudder and Senator Walter H. Richter look on.

Noted Lecturer To Speak At C of C Fete

Dr. John Furbay, considered one of the 10 outstanding speakers in the country, will speak at the annual Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce banquet at 7 a.m., Jan. 26, in the Ramada Inn Ballroom.

Master of ceremonies will be Gene Sutphen, owner of Aggeland Studio and president of the chamber in 1962. Dignitaries from across the state will attend.

"Tickets will be on a first come, first serve basis. The ballroom seats only around 600 and last year 1,000 tickets were sold," said L. H. Westmoreland, executive director of the chamber.

"This will be third year that we have had outstanding men to speak to us." In 1963 and 1964 Paul Harvey and Kenneth McFarland were the guest speakers," he said.

Furbay heads the Trans-World Airline Air World Education program. He has a succession of achievements as educator, diplomat, explorer, writer and military leader. He speaks authoritatively on subjects of geography, history, politics, art and anthropology.

Tickets for the affair are available at the commerce building for $4 each.

MSC Art Exhibit Features Works Of A&M Lecturer

A collection of art on exhibit in the Memorial Student Center was via the Ford Foundation, but was illustrated by an A&M faculty member.

Actually, most of the exhibit belongs to the illustrator, Jesse Donaldson Jr., a lecturer in the School of Architecture for the past nine years. Eleven of the illustrations were done for the Times, monthly publication of the Ford Foundation, which has wide distribution. Seventeen other illustrations were added by Donaldson at the request of the art committee.

The exhibit will remain in the MSC through January and possibly longer.

Many of the scenes depict life in the Cajun Country of Louisiana.

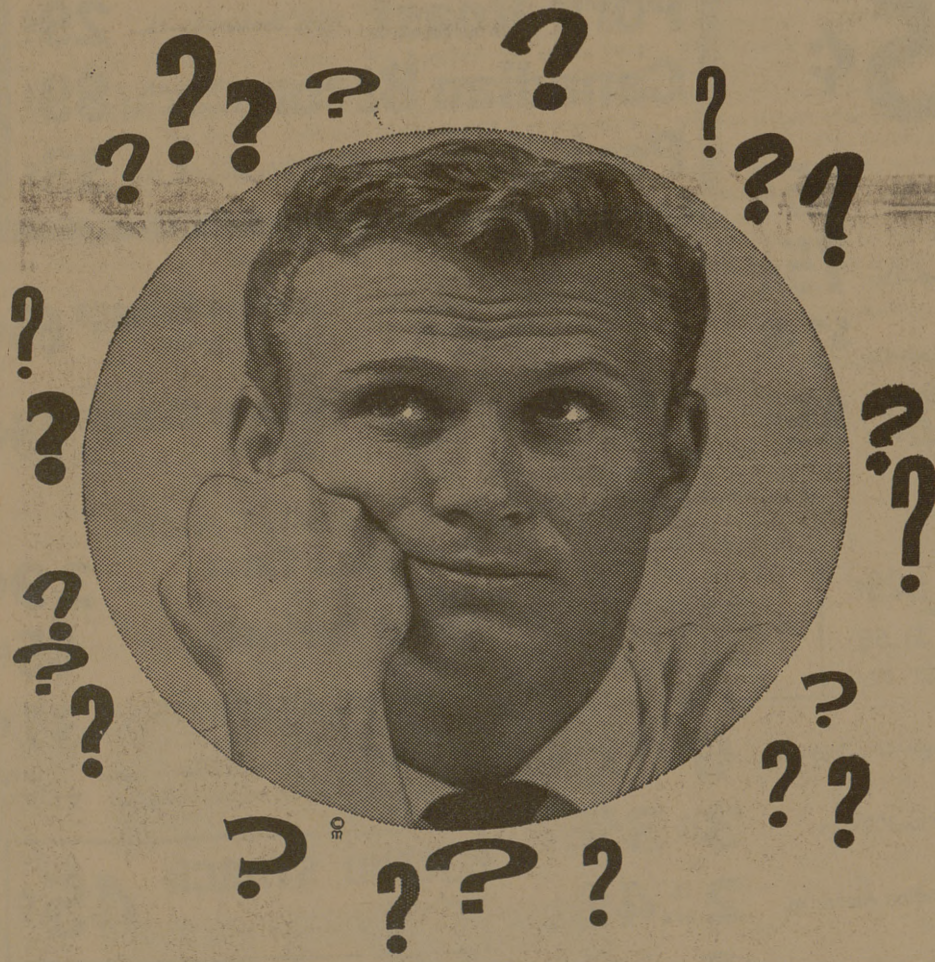

Prior to coming to A&M, Donaldson lived five years at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, where he started an art center, taught art, painted murals and wrote reviews of Caribbean art magazines.

While at St. Thomas, Donaldson painted a series of panels for a mural for the Trade Winds Hotel depicting in decor a sense of life in the islands.

The 48-year old painter earlier taught for six years at Tulane University in New Orleans, where he was an associate professor of architecture. He taught drawing, painting, graphic arts and design.
