TWU Names Carol Cater Redbud Queen

DENTON — Miss Carol Lynne Cater, pretty blonde occupational therapy major from Waller, was named Queen of the Redbud Festival at the Texas Woman's University Saturday night as the final event in a series of activities held during the annual Self-Development Week on the campus.

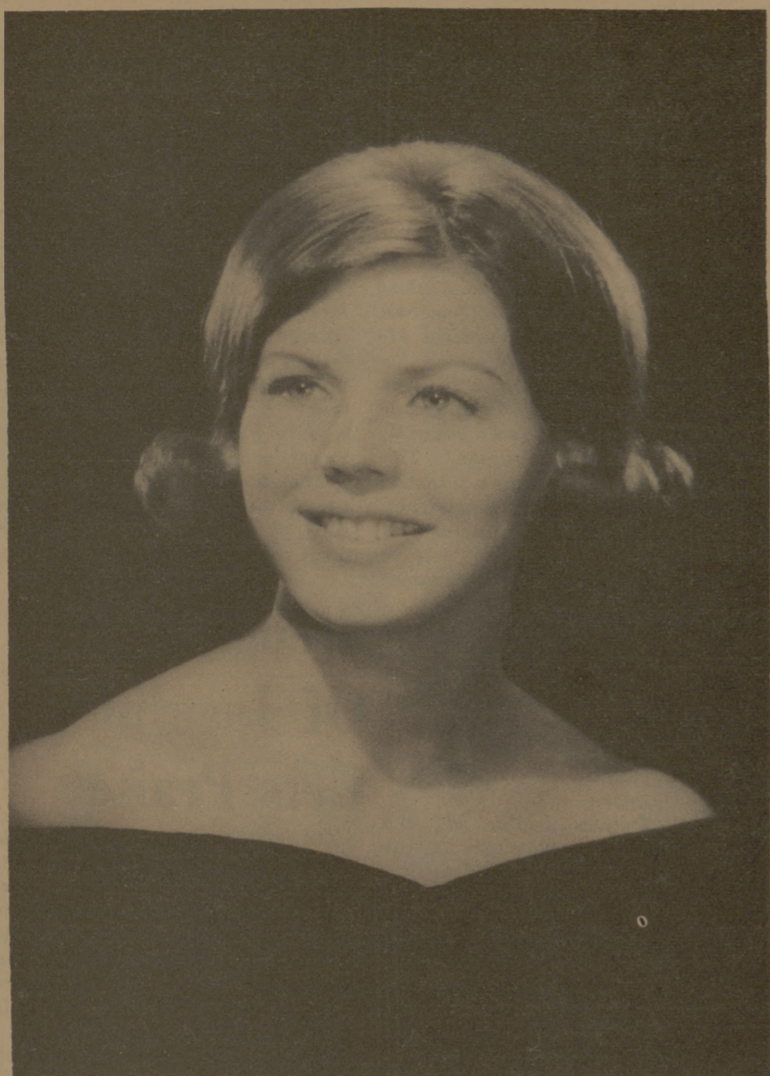

Miss Cater, a junior, was crowned by Dr. John A. Guinn, TWU president. She was elected from a group of sixty princesses who were presented in the traditional pageant that climaxes the Redbud Festival.

Miss Cater also was a Redbud Princess both her freshman and sophomore years, and an Aggie Sweetheart finalist her sophomore year.

She is president of her dormitory at TWU this year and was president of her senior class at Waller High School.

The annual Self-Development Week at TWU is devoted to programs emphasizing self-improvement, grooming, and personality analysis.

The week's activities were concluded with a Coronation Ball in the Student Union Building, over which the new Queen reigned. Music for dancing was furnished by Joe Reichman and his Orchestra.

Carol Cater . . . will reign as Rosebud Festival Queen.

Late Summer Construction Set For Biology Building

Construction of a $2½ million addition to the Biological Sciences Building is expected to start late this summer.

The addition, to be located at the junction of Coke and Hubbard Streets, will contain 95,337 square feet housing graduate level classrooms and laboratories for the College of Arts and Sciences.

The facility will house parts of the Zoology and Microbiology divisions of the Department of Biology, part of the Department of Biochemistry and Nutrition, the Departments of Wildlife Sciences and Electron Microscopy and the office of Dr. Frank W. R. Hubert, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Hubert said the four story addition plus a basement area will be built with university and federal funds.

"The College of Arts and Sciences has outgrown the present Biological Sciences Building," he said. "Without this four-story addition, we would be forced to place a quota on the number of graduate students and to limit research programs by faculty members."

The building will provide specially equipped and environmentally controlled research and laboratory training space; photo processing laboratories, an Electron Microscopy Laboratory, specimen handling areas and other related equipment.

"This building is designed with an eye toward the future," Hubert said. "It contains provisions for closed circuit television from the Electron Microscopy Laboratory to a classroom located elsewhere in the building."

"The closed circuit television setup will not be installed when the building is constructed but provisions have been made for future installations as they are needed," he noted.

Workment presently are moving a greenhouse located on the west side of the Biological Sciences Building so the area will be ready for construction when the contract is let later this year.

Nance Distributing Application Forms For Foreign Study

Applications are now being taken by the Committee on International Exchange of Persons for U. S. Government grants under the Fulbright-Hays Act for University Lecturing and Advanced Research. These grants cover study in Australia, New Zealand and Latin America during 1966-67.

Information concerning the Fulbright grants may be obtained from Dr. J. M. Nance, campus Fulbright advisor. The application forms are available from the Committee on International Exchange of Persons, Conference Board of Associated Research Councils, 2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington, D. C. 20418.

These grants are limited to U. S. citizens.

For appointments as lecturers, a teacher must have at least one year of college or university teaching experience at the level for which application is made.

For research appointments, the applicant must have a doctoral degree at the time of application, or recognized professional standing.

Library Study Shows Shelves Tally 8 Miles

A&M librarians unable to find a cross between a bookworm and a tapeworm finally gave up and did their own measuring.

The aim was to learn how many miles of bookshelving are in the Cushing Memorial Library and other libraries. This information has proven vital as librarians and architects develop plans for the projected new library building.

"We measured enough miles of bookshelves to cover a goodly share of the distance between Dallas and Fort Worth. Or vice versa, if you are a Fort Worth resident," Library Director Robert A. Houze reported.

The final tally was 46,000 feet or more than eight miles of shelves. And within three years this total should be more than 11 miles, Houze said. He noted the figures include neither the architecture nor veterinary medicine libraries.

The library collection contains nearly 500,000 volumes and circulation or usage exceeds 250,000 volumes annually.

Much of one day and the efforts of 20 library assistants armed with tape measures and such went into the bookshelving survey. Associate Library Director Rupert C. Woodward tallied the measurements.

The summary is arranged so as to show the number of feet of shelving devoted to each of nine broad subject fields or types of publications.

"We have," Houze, "more than two miles of shelving of the applied sciences and almost that amount of shelving for books and publications in the pure sciences."
