

CADET SLOUCH by Jim Earle

"I've found that by systematically straightening my room no more than three minutes a day, I haven't had to give it a major cleaning since final review!"

Superman Seeks Batt

Everyone wants to read The Battalion — even Superman.

A Student Publications secretary was puzzled Monday on why the post office returned a copy of the paper. Stamped beside the address was "returned for better address."

The secretary searched for the town in an index and not finding it, turned to look for the student who registered for the paper. No such person existed. She finally gave up.

The person is C. Kent, 612 Krypton Dr., Metropolis, Texas.

The real Superman can obtain his copy of The Battalion in Room 4 of the YMCA basement.

More than 300 persons, many of them novices and professionals, will attend the second annual Texas Greenhouse Vegetable Growers Conference Monday and Tuesday at Texas A&M.

Although the session is called a vegetable growers conference, most of the activities are focused on tomato production.

Civil Rights

And College Fraternities

The pledge of a Negro student by a Stanford University fraternity has produced a highly disturbing statement from U. S. Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel.

According to Mr. Keppel, the federal government now has the authority, under civil rights legislation, to cut off federal grants to colleges allowing segregated fraternities to exist on their campuses.

The issue arose when the national fraternity suspended the Stanford chapter because of its actions. Montana Senator Lee Metcalf, a Stanford graduate, then asked Keppel to define the role the federal government could play in the matter of policing racial discrimination in college fraternities.

Keppel replied that colleges would be required to either compel fraternities to end discriminatory policies or else remove their sanction from the chapters. If the college refused to comply they would suffer the loss of future federal funds.

The application of this doctrine could indeed set a dangerous precedent. If private, self-supporting social clubs can now be dictated to in regard to the selection of their members, what comes next?
