

Firemen's Training School Set To Blaze During July

An estimated 1,950 participants from the United States and several foreign countries will fight with fire at the 36th annual Texas Firemen's Training School here July 25-30 and Aug. 1-6.

The first week of training is designed for municipal fire department personnel. The second is for those engaged in industrial protection.

Chief Henry D. Smith of the Firemen's Training School expects firemen from 465 cities and 20 states in the United States, plus men from Japan, Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela and Saudi Arabia. These include men who work in fire prevention, control and for municipalities, industries and armed services.

The State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association will sponsor the school to be conducted by A&M's Engineering Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency.

Classes will be taught six hours a day at Brayton Training Field and on the main campus.

Chief Smith said many courses will be updated and modified this year. Eleven separate courses offering 30 hours of instruction each will be taught simultaneously during the first week.

The instructional staff will include volunteer and paid fire chiefs from larger Texas cities and highly qualified technical people from manufacturing and industry. More than $280,000 in equipment and supplies is being provided by manufacturers, distributors, industries, federal and state agencies, and many Texas cities.

"All classes will be practical in nature," Smith said "Firemen will learn by doing. They will fight all types of fires which may be encountered within their cities."

"Nearly every fire marshal or assistant fire marshal in Texas will be at A&M to learn new accepted techniques in fire prevention, building inspection and fire investigation," Smith said.

Leadership Meet Names Speakers

Dr. S. S. Southerland, chairman of the School of Agriculture for the University of California, will be a principal speaker at Texas A&M's 13th Annual Leadership Conference Sept. 10-12 at Palestine.

Wesley Leftwich, chairman of the conference, said the keynote address will be made Sept. 10 by Dr. George Beto, director of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Other speakers and their topics include Major Tom Deen, USMC ROTC instructor, Tulane University, "Dynamic Leadership"; Dr. Bardin Nelson, assistant professor, Department of Sociology, Texas A&M, "Leadership Sensitivity"; and W. B. Mansfield, chief instructor for Supervisory Personnel Training, A&M Engineering Extension Service, "Communication."

Reagan Brown, extension sociologist for the A&M Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, will discuss "Leaders That Lead" and Dr. H. O. Kunkel, assistant director of the Texas A&M Agricultural Extension Service, will give the conference "wrap-up" Sunday morning.

Dr. Robert S. Randall, assistant professor of education and psychology at A&M, is another scheduled speaker.

"A Visit With the Administration" is the topic of a panel discussion. Dorsey McCrory, director of the Development Office, will serve as moderator. Panel members include A&M President Earl Rudder, Dean of Students James P. Hannigan, and Personnel Director Clark Munroe.

Another panel, "If I Were in College Again" will be moderated by Richard L. (Buck) Weirus, executive secretary of the Association of Former Students. Panel members will include Dr. Nelson Duller of the Department of Physics, Dr. Lamar McNew, a Bryan physician, and J. R. Latimer, a former student from Dallas.

Leftwich estimated 150 participants from Region 12 of the Association of College Unions and from other universities and colleges. He said all recognized student organizations at A&M have been invited to send delegates.

The conference will be held at the Lakeview Methodist Assembly Camp near Palestine.

New Elementary Teacher Workshop Termed Successful; Another Set

A Reading Workshop for Elementary Teachers has proven so successful a second session is planned here next term.

The current, three-week session, attended by 26 school people, ends Friday.

Plans for the workshop to be offered July 20-Aug. 6 were announced by Dr. William H. Graves. He directs the elementary education program in the Department of Education and Psychology.

Mrs. Betty Coody, a visiting professor from Lamar State College of Technology, is conducting the workshop this term and will return for the second session. She is a consultant on children's literature.

The Reading Workshop beginning July 20 will include an examination of pupil reading material and a study of techniques for creative teaching and reading.

One Nation Indivisible

"... That this Nation, under God . . ." words that bind a Nation's wounds — healing hearts that have affliction known. We pause, this day, to remember and to forget: Yet, not to forget the battles lost or victories won, or soldiers' silent sleep, Who, by their death, gave life; life that throbs and pulsates in this Nation's womb. We pause to remember our gifts from God, from whom our blessings in abundance flow. We find our God, at home in church, in hearts that this day sing out in joy. We thank Thee, Dearest Lord. Now, bless us, and this Thy land and all therein . . . our own, our native land!
