

Pair Gain Emeritus Status

C. W. CRAWFORD

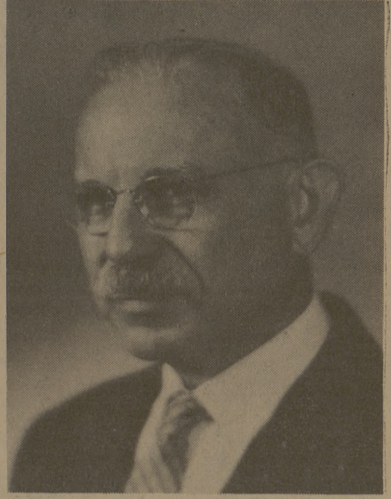

Two retiring faculty members have been awarded Professor Emeritus ranking by President Earl Rudder.

They are Dr. J. D. Lindsay, head of the Department of Chemical Engineering and C. W. Crawford, professor of mechanical engineering. They will be listed in future issues of the university catalog as Professor Emeritus of their departments.

Lindsay has been a professor at A&M for 26 years and head of the Department of Chemical Engineering since 1944. He was recently given an automobile by 1,200 of his former students. A scholarship has also been endowed in his name.

Crawford has been a member of the A&M faculty for 47 years and has served as head of the Department of Mechanical Engineering and associate dean of engineering. He was honored earlier this year at a surprise dinner during which he received a plaque for 50 years of service to A&M. A $35,000 engineering faculty improvement fund was established in his name at that time.

Lindsay holds three degrees from the University of Michigan. Crawford earned two degrees at A&M. Both have been highly active in learned societies and published numerous scholarly papers.

Will Speak Here

The free, public Summer Science Lecture Monday at Texas A&M will feature Dr. Ernest L. Martin Jr., of Shell Development Co., Houston. He speaks at 8 p.m. in Room 113, Biological Sciences Building.

"Radiation Age Measurements" is the subject for the illustrated lecture.

Dr. Martin's areas of scientific interest include direction of radiocarbon age measurement laboratory, neutron activation analyses and general methods in analytic chemistry.

The National Science Foundation sponsors the summer lectures planned especially for participants in the several programs underway at A&M with NSF support.

A GRASSY PROBLEM

A Texas Highway Department crew applies a mixture of sodium TCA on a highway shoulder covered by Bermuda Grass. The solution was recommended by the Range and Forestry Department of Texas A&M following extensive research. Two applications each summer usually keeps the grass in check.

Theater Workshop Slates 4 Shows; First One Tonight

A last-week flurry of activity for this season's Fallout Theater Workshop begins tonight at 7:30 p.m. as the workshop presents an Aggie's translation and adaptation of a German short story, a suspense-melodrama, and a play which the director described as having "a setting and situation never used before at Guion Hall."

"Die Lieblingsspeise Der Hyänen" (The Favorite Food of the Hyenas), by Siegfried Lenz, was translated, adapted for the stage, and is being directed by Steve Thurman. "The Monkey's Paw," by W. W. Jacobs, is directed by Norman Godwin, local television cameraman. B. L. Lenoir of "The Fisherman," by Jonathan Tree, declined to comment on his stage setting except to insist that it has never been done here before.

The cast of "Hyenas" includes Virginia Gilcrease of Bryan, Becky Meeker, Kirkland Stewart, and Gunter Hofmann. Godwin's nearly-all-local cast for "Monkey's Paw" includes Rick Landman (College Station), Duke Miller (College Station), Patty Bailey (Bryan), John Montgomery (Bryan), and Aggie Bill Koock.

Joe Blackman, Debbie Zengerle, David Maddox, Kipp Blair, Francis Flynn, Leon Grier, and Ed and Jean Reyna will appear in "The Fisherman."

Saturday night at 7:30 the

DENNIS GOEHRING

2 United Chest Leaders Named

Dennis Goehring and Robert L. Smith Jr. have been named to key posts in the United Chest drive in College Station, which starts this fall.

Goehring, vice-president of Community Savings and Loan Association in College Station, will head the off-campus division of the 1965 fund-raising campaign here.

"This is an assignment of high responsibility to a young man with plenty of leadership ability," Clark C. Munroe, drive chief said.

An All-Southwest Conference guard in 1955 and '56 at Texas A&M, Goehring was graduated in 1958 with a major in geology and a minor in business administration.

A native of San Marcos, he and his wife live in the Normandy Square Apartments in College Station.
