

Dodgers, Twins Meet In Series

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS ST. PAUL—Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, the best one-two pitching punch in baseball, make the Los Angeles Dodgers the 18-10 favorite over Minnesota's first pennant winners in the World Series opening Wednesday at Metropolitan Stadium.

Drysdale, a 23-game winner, gets the starting call for the opener because Wednesday is Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement and Koufax always has observed this most solemn day. Drysdale's opponent will be Jim Grant, a 21-game winner for the Twins.

The weatherman predicts conditions will be favorable for the gala opener before some 46,000 fans in the recently enlarged stadium. If it should rain, Koufax might move ahead of Drysdale in the Dodgers' starting rotation.

Game time is noon (College Station time) with radio and television coverage by the National Broadcasting Co.

The fence busting Twins, boasting six sluggers who have hit 16 or more home runs, have been riding free and easy for a week after clinching the American League pennant last Sunday. Sam Mele, the suddenly aggressive manager, has been able to rest some regulars and maneuver his pitching for the Series.

After the two right-handers work the opener, both managers probably will shift to southpaws for Thursday's second game when it will be Koufax, winner of 26, against Jim Kaat.

Claude Osteen, another lefty, probably will face right-handed Camilo Pascual in the third game when they resume the best-of-seven Series in Dodger Stadium at Los Angeles Saturday following an off day Friday for travel.

If neither team has won four of the first five, they will return to Minnesota for a sixth and possibly a seventh game following another open date for travel after the fifth game.

While the Twins studied the National League scouting reports, the Dodgers were involved in a day-by-day battle with the San Francisco Giants. It finally ended Saturday when the Dodgers clinched it by beating Milwaukee 3-1 behind Koufax.

The Dodgers are last in the majors with home runs and way down in all the power departments. A typical rally by Los Angeles is a walk to Maury Wills, a stolen base, wild throw and a sacrifice fly. Wills, stealing bases like mad, has been the big man and often the only threat to rival pitchers.

The story of the Dodger attack is best told by noting that Drysdale, the pitcher, is their top batter. They won the clincher from Milwaukee on two hits with the help of a walk, stolen base, error and wild pitch and got two runs on walks with the bases full.

The Dodgers are 2-0 in Series competition since they moved to Los Angeles but were only 1-8 at Brooklyn for an over-all record of 3-8.

This is Minnesota's first pennant but the old franchise did win three times before it was moved from Washington in 1961.

The old club won only one Series, beating the old New York Giants in 1924 under Buckeye Harris, then the boy manager.

Mele's lead-footed sluggers and sloppy fielders jelled into an alert hit and run team with an improved defense this season.

Despite crippling injuries that cost him the services of key men like Harmon Killebrew and Pascual for prolonged periods, Mele deftly made do with what he had. He platooned at first base, third base, left field and center during the tough days.

Don Mincher, who was platooned for weeks, will stay at first base all the way with Killebrew at third, Frank Quilici at second, Zoilo Versalles at short, Tony Oliva in right field and Earl Battey will do the catching.

Versalles is regarded as the sparkplug of the Minnesota team and a top candidate for most valuable player honors in the American League because of his timely hitting, superb defensive play and alert base running.

Walter Alston, managing in his fifth Series, probably will stick with a set line-up of Wes Parker on first, Jim Lefebvre at second, Wills at short and Jim Gilliam at third. All four infielders as switch hitters. The outfield includes Lou Johnson in left, Willie Davis in center and Ron Fairly in right, with John Roseboro catching.
