GRANT FOR INSTITUTE
The Texas A&M Institute for Human Resources has received a $1,000 grant from the United States Steel Foundation. The grant was presented to Dr. John E. Pearson, center, and A&M President Earl Rudder, right, by John L. Mortimer, district public relations director for U. S. Steel.

Students Awed By Indians During Summer Experiment

Two Texas A&M students were amazed at the bustle of activity and westernization of India during a summer visit with the Experiment in International Living. Jerry Knight, a junior from Winnsboro, and Paul Bleau, a senior from Lynn, Mass., toured different parts of the country. They left only days before the India-Pakistan dispute erupted into open warfare. Bleau was on a train enroute to New Delhi from Trichi when it was announced that Pakistan had attacked India with 70 American tanks. "The whole train was taken over by Indian troops going to Kashmir," he said. "Luckily, they did not put us off. The career Army men were taking the outbreak casually. I talked with generals and colonels on the train. They commented that Indian officials had warned the United States of the possibility of Pakistan using U. S. weapons against India.

Ag Chemists Get $1,000 From Gulf

The Department of Chemistry of Texas A&M Tuesday received a $1,000 unrestricted Departmental Assistance grant from Gulf Oil Corporation.

The grant is one of 70 that Gulf is distributing this year to selected departments in as many universities or colleges under the Company's Aid to Education Program. Together with other sections of the Gulf program, this will result in the distribution of approximately $2,000,000 to students and institutions of higher education for scholarships and other education purposes in 1965.

Departmental assistance grants, such as the one received by A&M, are intended to contribute to the support of departments of particular interest to the Company. Any department in an accredited college or university within the United States and its territories may be considered for these awards.

The check was presented to Bruno J. Zwolinski, professor of chemistry, by Dr. Norman D. Coggeshall, Division Director, Physical Sciences, Gulf Research and Development Company.

Travel Committee To Meet Tuesday

The Memorial Student Center Travel Committee at Texas A&M University will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the MSC to organize plans for the school year.

George Long, vice chairman of the travel committee, said all interested persons are urged to attend.

The travel committee sponsors the Experiment in International Living, Operations Crossroads, Europe on $3 a Day, and Charter Flight programs.

Long said charter flights are being planned for Washington, D. C., — New York during the Christmas holidays and to Europe next summer.

New Scholarships Given To Students

Two new scholarships for Texas A&M undergraduate students have been established by Mrs. Minnette W. McFarland of Houston.

One is $1,000 for an outstanding physics student, the other $650 to provide the first scholarship in the 59-year history of the Singing Cadets, official glee club of the university.

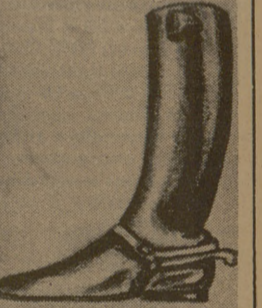

Winners of the scholarships will be named by Dr. James Potter, head of the Department of Physics, and Robert L. (Bob) Boone, director of the Singing Cadets and music coordinator for A&M.

THERE IS ALSO A BAND ON THE PROGRAM
Out in front of the Kilgore College Ranger Band for 1965-66 will be pretty Rosemary Smith, a graduate of Union Grove, Tex., High School and holder of 18 medals for twirling and clarinet solos. The 90-member band makes appearances all over the U. S. with the famed Kilgore Rangerettes. In addition to serving as drum major, Rosemary will be featured vocalist for the Kilgore College Stage Band. (AP Wirephoto)

This is one of Arrow's 449 different button-down sport shirts. Be choosy.

Of course, you might very well want this one. An Arrow Cum Laude American-made madras of 100% cotton. (Colors bleed after first washing.) Has a full button-down collar and a back collar button. Shoulder to waist taper and neat box pleat. Handy hanger loop, too. "Sanforized", of course. $5.95. Plenty more where this came from. Plenty.

India-Pakistan dispute erupted into open warfare. Bleau was on a train enroute to New Delhi from Trichi when it was announced that Pakistan had attacked India with 70 American tanks. "The whole train was taken over by Indian troops going to Kashmir," he said. "Luckily, they did not put us off. The career Army men were taking the outbreak casually. I talked with generals and colonels on the train. They commented that Indian officials had warned the United States of the possibility of Pakistan using U. S. weapons against India.

"The officers were not antagonistic toward the U. S.," Bleau continued. Bleau spent several earlier days visiting in Pakistan as a tourist, but did not see trouble brewing in Ranapindi and Karachi.

"After landing back in India I read in a newspaper that Pakistani infiltrators had been going into Indian Kashmir while I was there," he related.

Knight visited in Southern India and saw no hint of military action in the making.

"I was amazed at the hospitality of the people," Knight remarked. "Anytime we visited a home the people stopped what they were doing, made hot tea and offered us something to eat.

Knight was awed by snake charmers.

"They put on a good show," he grinned. "One charmer was bitten by a cobra. He looked scared for a minute, then rubbed the bite with some sort of root and continued his act."

Bleau was impressed by the late President Kennedy's popularity in India.

"No matter how remote the villages," he remarked, "the people had President Kennedy's picture in a place of honor in their homes. They have adopted as their slogan his saying "Ask not what your country can do for you; instead, ask what you can do for your country."
