TCU Lecturer

The "Faith and Life Series" will feature a talk by Dr. Gustave Ferre at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the All Faiths' Chapel.

The series is sponsored cooperatively by most of the campus religious groups.

Ferre is the chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Texas Christian University. He is also known as a theologian, author, speaker, churchman, as well as a philosopher.

He has spoken on campus on several occasions in recent years. He is frequently a guest speaker on colleges and university campuses; and he has authored two books, "A Layman Examines His Faith" and "Basis Philosophical Issues."

Ferre's topic will be "Biblical Faith and Philosophical Truth." The presentation will be followed by a brief question and answer period.

All students, their wives, faculty and staff, and people of the general public are invited to attend.

Injuries Hit Aggie Band

Football teams aren't the only organizations with injury troubles.

The Texas Aggie Band, preparing its halftime drill for the A&M - Southern Methodist game here Nov. 6, has similar problems, reports Lt. Col. E. V. Adams. He is in his 21st year as band director.

The band is installing formations for the game that will be the highlight of the first reunion of former band members. The organization marches 240 men - 12 across the front and 20 ranks deep - and is operating with just 11 alternates.

That can be a thin margin. The colonel said one musician recently returned from an appendectomy just before the first band appearance of the season, All-College Night. To offset the member gained, a freshman marching in the Fort Worth Corps trip planted his foot to make a turn, slipped on brick paving and fell to his knees. He suffered a torn ligament and is out for the year. Another frosh is out with a sprained ankle, injured in a fall.

The band will field 240, however. That's been its marching size since 1954.
